344 To Solicit Sunday

Heart Fund Canvass Set

Volunteer workers, 344 strong, will make a house-to-house canvass of East Liverpool area homes on Heart Sunday to seek contributions for the annual Heart Fund campaign.

The solicitations will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. tomorrow with Mrs. Austen Moore, chairman, and Mrs. Robert Bourne and Mrs. Robert Brooks, co-chairmen, in charge.

East Liverpool's goal in the campaign which ends Thursday is $5,000, Mrs. Moore pointed out.

As a means of identification, the volunteer workers will wear official tags and heart-shaped lapel pins.

Dorothy Buckley of the Calcutta Horizon Club, who with Linda Yost of the Beaver Local Bells 4-H Club, will handle the solicitation in the suburb, is shown receiving one of the badges from Mrs. Moore. Mrs. Bourne, right, and Mrs. Brooks look on.

Twenty-two women will head the neighborhood drive on a school district basis.

The captains and their districts are:

Mrs. Harry Aivalotis and Mrs. Earl Fitzgerald, Lincoln; Mrs. James Popp and Mrs. Richard Lamborn, McKinley; Mrs. Kenneth Carr, Garfield.

Mrs. Allen Smith, LaCroft; Mrs. Frank Butler, Pleasant Heights; Mrs. Kenneth Davis and Mrs. Richard Wolfe, Glenmoor; Mrs. Elizabeth Widger, Mrs. Donald Wolfe, Mrs. Dale Kidd, Mrs. Donna Briggs and Mrs. Robert Calhoun, Westgate.

Mrs. Harriet Adamson and Mrs. Harris Hill, Taft; Mrs. Dorothy Golba and Mrs. Helen Sell, Horace Mann; Mrs. Betty Hager, Klondyke; Mrs. Mary Irene Scott, Neville, and Mrs. Donald Thompson and Mrs. Kenneth Myers, Calcutta.

U.S. Snubs New Soviet Arms Threat Over Cuba

Red Warns Of Attack On Castro

Washington Calls It 'Blood-Thunder' Morale Builders

WASHINGTON (AP)—Apparently unimpressed, official Washington has shrugged off the new Soviet missile flexing over Cuba as "blast and bluster" propaganda.

The threats from Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky were regarded as blood-and-thunder morale builders—both for at home and for Fidel Castro's regime.

In a Moscow speech Friday, marking the eve of the 45th anniversary of the Soviet armed forces, the Red marshal warned that if Americans attack Cuba, it will mean a third world war and nuclear devastation for the United States.

The usual type of oratory "you expect on the 45th anniversary of the Soviet armed forces," said Secretary of State Dean Rusk. But speechmaking, he added, isn't going to change "the combination of forces in the world."

Behind the closed doors of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara outlined U.S. methods for carrying out American policy toward Cuba.

Afterward committee Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said McNamara had "made it very clear that we are pursuing a policy that will result in the elimination of Castroism and communism from Cuba." But Russell declined to go into details on the grounds they are classified.

McNamara also assured the committee, Russell said, that U.S. planes will shoot down any Cuban-based MIGs that attack American ships or installations.

Soviet Declines Offer, Breaks Talks

U.S. Aide Plans New Bid For A-Test Ban Accord

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. disarmament chief William C. Foster leaves for Geneva tonight and an apparently forlorn attempt to bring about an East-West treaty to outlaw nuclear testing.

Although the United States offered another concession on its stand, the Soviet Union refused Friday to increase its offer of two or three on-site inspections, and broke off the three-nation talks. The United States had banked most of its hopes for progress on these three-way discussions.

Thus the stage was set for an expected propaganda battle in the full 17-nation Geneva Disarmament Conference. Foster planned to present the U.S. case there.

Friday night, the United States disclosed it had told the Soviets it might agree to only seven on-the-spot inspections a year provided the Russians agree to "meaningful" inspection procedures.

In the test talks which have been running on and off since 1958, the United States originally sought around 20 inspections a year. Supporters of the push for a treaty say scientific detection advanced have allowed the West to lower its proposed figures—first to eight to ten and now to seven—without actually lessening the safeguards against cheating.

The new U.S. figure was contained in a statement approved by President Kennedy and issued by the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency following the day's developments at Geneva.

Even if the Reds do an about face and agree to the latest U.S. demands, a test ban treaty could face rough going in the U.S. Senate. A two-thirds Senate majority is required to ratify American adherence to a treaty.

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, chairman of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee, has served notice that any pact providing fewer than eight inside-Russia inspections a year could face difficulty winning Senate approval. A number of senators say the figure should be higher than that.

Hit-Skip Car Bumps Pupil

Girl Uninjured In Mishap At Central

A 15-year-old high school student escaped injury when bumped by a hit-skip West Virginia motorist early Friday afternoon and three cars were damaged in a crash last night at Anderson Blvd. and Park Way, police reported.

Virginia Hasala, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hasala, 812 Cadmus St., told officers she was crossing E. 4th St. from Carnegie Library to Central School at 12:40 p. m. when bumped by a blue compact with West Virginia plates.

The girl told her parents the impact knocked her backward but she retained her balance. The driver halted momentarily, glanced back and then drove off, she said.

The crash at 8:20 p. m. damaged a 1963 eastbound sedan leased by Bloor's Pharmacy, a northbound station wagon driven by Marjorie Ann Stefl, 22, of the Y. & O. Rd. and a parked convertible owned by Jack Curran of 8 Manor Ln., police said.

Robert Hoffman, 24, of 812 Northside Ave., driver of the drug firm's car, said he was headed east on Anderson Blvd. and crossing Park Way on a green light when the woman crashed the light and struck his car.

She told officers the light was changing as she passed under it. She saw the other vehicle approaching but was unable to avoid the collision.

The impact threw her auto into Curran's car parked in a lot at the intersection.

The entire front and left rear of the leased car, the front and right rear of the Stefl car and the front end of the Curran car were damaged.

Kennedy Tax Cut Plan Eyed By Congress

Being Diagnosed; One Critical Item Set For 'Surgery'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's tax program is still undergoing congressional diagnosis and is yet to be wheeled into the operating room. But already one critical item has been marked for major surgery.

And with it may go some of the proposed tax reductions.

This item is the proposal to put a floor under personal deductions like interest, local taxes and charitable contributions. It would allow deductions only to the extent their total exceeds 5 per cent of income.

No member of the House Ways and Means Committee, now considering the tax package, has publicly spoken up for this provision, advanced by the administration to recoup some of the revenue that would be lost by cutting tax rates. On the contrary, several members have predicted this will be among the first to go when the committee starts writing a bill in a month or so.

The tax-writing group begins taking public testimony on this proposal Monday. The witness list reflects the opposition of philanthropic groups, who already have been writing members that the provision would dry up contributions. Real estate and building interests, concerned with the effect of a change that would diminish present tax incentives to home-owning, are another potent source of opposition.

Yet the deductions floor is a big item in the over-all administration tax plan, which envisages reducing rates enough to cut the government income tax take $13.6 billion a year eventually, but recouping $3.3 billion through structural tax changes that would tax some income more heavily than now.

Of the $3.3 billion recovery, a full $2.3 billion would be provided by the 5 per cent deduction floor.

Hurls Charge At U.S.

Attack On Boat Denied By Fidel

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro today denied that his forces had attacked an American shrimp boat. He charged instead that the United States was creating artificial tensions and making the seas off Cuba unsafe for navigation.

As thousands cheered, Castro read extracts from Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky's Moscow speech Friday in which the Soviet arms chief warned that a U.S. attack on Cuba would touch off World War III.

"Fidel, Khrushchev, we are with you both!" roared the crowd at the midnight rally—first meeting of the United Party of Socialist Revolution.

This is a Soviet-style monolithic organization Castro has created to supplant old political parties and to rule Cuba.

Denying responsibility for the shrimp boat incident, Castro nevertheless vowed to defend himself "by all possible means against any attack."

The American boat Ala "didn't even fly a flag," Castro said. "Of course, this was a consequence of the state of chaos which imperialism has created in our waters."

He repeated Cuban claims that his air force was looking for two boats "which pirates had taken."

Castro denied U.S. charges that subversion and indirect attack are the main Communist threats in Latin America.

Man, 49, Dies Under Train At Wellsville

Funeral Set Monday For John Hoffman, Crucible Employe

A 49-year-old Wellsville man was killed instantly Friday about 3:05 p. m. when struck by a train while walking along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks off Riverside Ave., Wellsville, between 3rd and 4th Sts.

The victim was John Francis Hoffman, 223 Highland Ave. Wellsville police said they received a call at 3:10 that a man had been hit by the east-bound train. It was a work train extra from Columbus headed for Conway with camp cars and repair equipment.

Police said Mr. Hoffman was walking along the tracks and for some reason apparently crossed over into the path of the engine. The body was badly mangled.

It took authorities about an hour to identify him. He was traced through a mill badge from the Crucible Steel Co. at Midland, and from his personal effects.

Police Chief John Hephner and Patrolmen Ed James and Robert Wellington investigated. Authorities said Dr. R. C. Costello, deputy Columbiana County coroner, is investigating.

Mr. Hoffman had been employed at Crucible for 27 years. For many years he was a "material chaser." He had worked on Wednesday.

Mr. Hoffman was born July 31,

Dawn Brings Full Horror Of Earthquake In Libya

AL MARJ, LIBYA (Delayed) (AP)—Dawn broke Friday to reveal the full horror of the earthquake which struck this Eastern Libyan city of 11,000 Thursday night.

Huddled together, dazed and injured, residents of the city saw in the early light the full extent of the damage done by the quake which struck suddenly at 7:15 p.m. Thursday.

Nearly 70 per cent of the city was in rubble. Stone and mud houses collapsed instantly. Concrete buildings were left twisted by the first quake, which was followed by tremors.

In 15 seconds, the city, located in a fertile valley 50 miles northeast of Benghazi, was in ruins.

More than 250 dead and 500 injured were counted by Friday morning. The toll was expected to mount as rescuers continued the grim search for victims.

Throughout the night U.S. Air Force rescue teams from Wheelus Air Base, Tripoli, British Army units from Benghazi, and Libyan Army and civilian medical teams worked in darkness to help as many of the stricken as they could find.

Paramedics of the 58th U.S. Air Rescue Squadron based at Wheelus, the first Air Force emergency help to get here, found families clinging together in the rubble of their homes or beginning to dig out what possessions they could find in the ruins.

Some of the victims, searching the streets for members of their families, walked aimlessly, wailing in anguish. Some wandered in shock, waving their arms and moaning, oblivious to help offered them.

Work had already begun Friday morning to dig graves for the dead south of the city, which is bordered by flooded fields and mired by rain-drenched red clay streets.

Paramedics of the 58th Squadron were followed by more medics and the 7272nd Air Base Unit at Wheelus.

Led by Capt. Barry N. Shaklin, of Hillside, N.J., the men of the 58th administered first aid and drugs to the injured, searched the ruins for victims and helped in the evacuation of injured to a nearby Libyan Army hospital.

U.S. Mission Sets Quake Toll At 600

ROME (AP) — The American diplomatic mission in Benghazi said today that the toll in the earthquake at Al Marj, Libya, was estimated at between 500 and 700.

The mission said more than 200 bodies had been recovered through this morning, with between 300 and 500 persons believed buried under the debris of ruined buildings.

Clues Sought For Missing Businessmen

TROY, Pa. (AP)—Two businessmen have vanished from this northeastern Pennsylvania town of 1,500 and police are admittedly hard pressed for clues.

The two—Loron Leonard, 38, manager of the Troy Equipment Co., and Jerome Blaine, 45, partner in a leather goods firm and father of ten—disappeared earlier in the week within 24 hours of each other.

Police, however, said Friday night they do not believe the disappearances are connected.

Leonard managed the equipment company, a farm machinery outlet, where he was one of three employes. He was last seen Monday afternoon when he left work for his home in Athens, about 35 miles north of Troy.

Blaine, a partner in the Penn-L Leather Goods Co., disappeared Tuesday afternoon.

Police said he left his office saying he was going to Elmira, N.Y., just over the state line. His wife later received an air insurance receipt from the Elmira Airport.

Officer Ted York of the Troy police said he had been told Blaine's brother, who he described only as living somewhere in New York State, had heard from the missing man.

Trapped In 1-Story Home

10, All In One Family, Perish In Missouri Fire

SIKESTON, Mo. (AP)—Ten persons, all members of the same family, burned to death today in their home about 7 miles west of Sikeston, the highway patrol reported.

Firemen from Sikeston found the home in flames at 3 a.m. and were unable to locate any survivors.

The children were Paul David Jr., Glenda Sue, Hester, Everett, Alvin, Henderson, Michael and Zelda Mae.

Chief of Police J. T. Kindred said it appeared that the family was trapped in the one story frame dwelling at Moorehouse, Mo. The bodies were found in two beds, Kindred said.

Police said Saville was disabled. He had been supporting his family on a government pension.

Kindred said the cause of the fire has not been determined. The only apparent source of heat in the home was a coal stove.

Betancourt Confers With Labor Leaders

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and members of the federation's Executive Council arranged the session.

13 East Germans Make Escape To West

DUDERSTADT, Germany (AP) —Thirteen East Germans, including a border patrolman, escaped across the mined and barricaded Iron Curtain border into West Germany near here today, police reported.

They said 12 were members of two families from the East German border of Boeseckendorf. A year and a half ago, 50 residents of this village joined forces to escape to the West.

Temperature Rises But Light Snow's Due

Winter just doesn't want to go away. Temperatures were rising today after a zero cold wave but the net result is more snow on the way.

The mercury may climb to a range of 16 to 22 today after Friday's biting cold which saw the thermometer reach only 9 degrees in the afternoon after the early-morning low of 3 below zero. It was 8 above at 6 this morning.

Tonight's low will be 9 to 14 with occasional light snow after midnight. Sunday will see more light snow changing to flurries in the afternoon with little temperature change.

Police said Saville was disabled. He had been supporting his family on a government pension.

Kindred said the cause of the fire has not been determined. The only apparent source of heat in the home was a coal stove.

Betancourt Confers With Labor Leaders

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and members of the federation's Executive Council arranged the session.

13 East Germans Make Escape To West

DUDERSTADT, Germany (AP) —Thirteen East Germans, including a border patrolman, escaped across the mined and barricaded Iron Curtain border into West Germany near here today, police reported.

They said 12 were members of two families from the East German border of Boeseckendorf. A year and a half ago, 50 residents of this village joined forces to escape to the West.

Temperature Rises But Light Snow's Due

Winter just doesn't want to go away. Temperatures were rising today after a zero cold wave but the net result is more snow on the way.

The mercury may climb to a range of 16 to 22 today after Friday's biting cold which saw the thermometer reach only 9 degrees in the afternoon after the early-morning low of 3 below zero. It was 8 above at 6 this morning.

Tonight's low will be 9 to 14 with occasional light snow after midnight. Sunday will see more light snow changing to flurries in the afternoon with little temperature change.

County Welfare Cost $675,875

LISBON — Columbiana County's seven divisions under the direction of the Department of Public Welfare spent $675,875.97 during 1962, according to the report of Robert Bycroft, county welfare director. A breakdown and divisions include:

Aid for blind, $43,324.72; aid to dependent children, $221,573.35; aid for disabled, $154,876.09; general relief, $125,855.02; child welfare service, $88,199.32; retarded children, $34,222.99, and crippled children's service, $7,824.47.

AID FOR blind — this program varies very little throughout any one year. There were 51 active cases Jan. 1, 1962. During the year nine applications were received, seven were approved and four were denied, but eight cases were closed, leaving 50 as of Jan. 1.

Medical costs of this program increased about 50 per cent over the previous year but expenditures rose only about 10 per cent.

Aid to dependent children continues to be one of the biggest services. Desertion and incapacitation are the major factors for eligiblity, and it makes up about two-thirds of the entire caseload.

Jan. 1, 1962, there were 178 active ADC cases with 174 caretakers and 532 children. During the year 145 applications were accepted, 113 were approved for assistance, 31 denied, five cases still pending and 118 cases were closed during the year, leaving 173 active cases, 187 caretakers and 477 children as of last Jan. 1.

THERE WERE a slight increase in applications for ADC assistance over the previous year but expenditures decreased by about 14 per cent.

Aid for the permanently and totally disabled showed a decline of about 20 per cent as many persons who would have been potential applicants are receiving benefits under disability Social Security.

On Jan. 1, 1962, there were 182 active cases and 95 new applications were received. Of this total, 58 were approved, 33 denied and 11 still pending, leaving 184 active cases Jan. 1.

Most persons receiving this type of assistance are in need of varied and extensive medical care and caseworkers must spend a tremendous amount of time authorizing the necessary care and assisting many individuals with their medical problems, Bycroft said.

Assistance payments increased 3 per cent over the previous year but medical payments were comparable.

GENERAL relief was rather constant the first four months, reaching its peak in March and then began dropping with an increase in applications noticed in December. At the beginning of the year there were 140 cases representing 504 persons. During the year 233 cases were approved for assistance and 277 cases were closed, leaving 93 cases with 292 persons on the active rolls Jan. 1.

During the year, $43,243.34 of work relief was issued for 37,169 hours worked. Of this amount 8,808 hours went to county, 14,953 to Townships, 6,939 went to state and 6,469 to villages.

Child welfare service is a very important and delicate part of the operation of the County Welfare Department, Bycroft said, broken homes and irresponsible parents are basic in the majority of cases where custody of children are received.

Columbiana County is one with very limited facilities in regard to further study of children and most services have to be obtained in larger cities, which is time-consuming even if proper contacts are made.

JAN. 1, 1962, the department had 150 children in care. During the year 169 more were accepted and 162 terminated, leaving 157 children in care Jan. 1. Thirty-three children were placed for adoption, showing 11 less than 1962, with the welfare department completing 98 investigations for Probate Court.

The Kyes Memorial children's receiving home was closed during all of 1962 but it has been reopened.

During September 1962, a fourth class was started at the Retarded Children's School in Elkton, which has four teachers.

Clerk was employed to co-ordinate the work between the school and welfare office. Four new buses were purchased with the total enrollment of 43 pupils. A two-tenths mill levy was passed in 1962, which will bring in about $40,000 for operating the school.

With the broadening of services and new methods in medicine in the past four years, service can be given to many more children. There were 61 referrals during the year either as new cases or re-evaluation of cases previously serviced.

Of the total expense of $26,963, $7,824.47 was paid by the county.

At present, the staff of welfare workers includes 15 besides the director — two case worker supervisors, seven case workers, five clerks and one work relief supervisor.

The Thames and Humber are the two principal rivers of England which empty into the North Sea.

Winter and Your Septic Tank

Unlike humans, who heat their homes in winter, or even animals, who have hairy bodies to keep them warm the poor little bacteria in septic tanks and waste disposal systems have no protection against those harsh winter months ahead.

Since a temperature drop of only a few degrees will kill billions of these hard working microbes, the reduced bacterial population becomes incapable of disposing of the waste which enters such systems, resulting in clogged and unsanitary conditions.

These bacteria, mainly the colon-type, are produced in the human body at a temperature of 98.6° F., and lose their ability to produce their own enzymes for solids liquification as the temperature drops literally starving to death. Quoting from SEWERAGE and SEWAGE TREATMENT: (1)

"Temperature of sludge digestion — the most practical optimum temperature of sludge digestion, known as the Mesophlic Range, is between 80° F. and 90° F., preferably about 85°. As the temperature drops, bacterial action diminishes almost in proportion until at about 50° F. It practically ceases."

Naturally(since the temperatures in unheated sewage systems average between 50° F. and 60° F. in winter, it may readily be seen that trouble can be expected.

HOW SEA-CAL ENZYMES HELP

Enzymes are not as susceptible to low temperatures as are bacteria, and it has been proven that their liquifying ability continues as slow as 35° F. Therefore, SEA-CAL takes over the reduction of the solids, producing food in AVAILABLE form for the reduced bacteria population, enabling them to continue their valuable work, and to produce clear effluents for transmission to drainfields and cesspools. Since SEA-CAL also contains strains of virile bacteria by the million per gram, fresh populations are added each time a treatment is made.

For only a few pennies per treatment, for the average home system, SEA-CAL insures year-round protection from costly service problems, and unsanitary conditions.

USE SEA-CAL ENZYMES REGULARLY ALL YEAR, INCREASING DOSES IN WINTER.

Deaths and Funerals

Former Clerk Deputy Dies

John W. (Jack) Peterson, 71, a native of East Liverpool and former deputy in the clerk of courts office at Lisbon, died at noon Friday at his home at 404 W. North Ave., East Palestine, after suffering a heart attack.

Mr. Peterson served as chief deputy in the office for 18 years. He also filled the unexpired term of the late John Coleman as clerk of courts. He also served as a Fourth Ward councilman at East Palestine. He retired in 1958.

Mr. Peterson was born Aug. 11, 1891, in East Liverpool, a son of Alfred and Mary Robinson Peterson. He moved to East Palestine in 1919 and operated a shoe repair shop for several years. He was a member of the Covenant United Presbyterian Church at East Palestine. He was married to the former Nellie DeLong Aug. 16, 1915.

Survivors include his widow at home; two sons, David Peterson of East Palestine and Capt. Daniel Peterson with the 12th Air Force at Waco, Tex.; two sisters, Mrs. E. L. Owen and Miss Ethel Peterson, both of Glendale, Calif., and seven grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the Van Dyke Funeral Home in East Palestine by the Rev. William Robb. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery there.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Mrs. Melvin Smith

Mrs. Edna Leota Smith, 60, of Alliance, wife of Melvin Smith, and a former resident of Wellsville, died Friday at 9 p.m. at her home after an illness of several months.

Mrs. Smith was born in Hammondsville Dec. 4, 1902, daughter of the late Nettie Grafton. She resided in Wellsville for many years before moving to Alliance six years ago. While in Wellsville she lived at 1512 Chester Ave.

She was a member of the Union Ave. Methodist Church in Alliance, its Hively Sunday School Class and its Laura Schleman Circle of the WSCS, the Queen of Ohio Council of the Daughters of America at Wellsville, the Rebekah Lodge and the Council of United Church Women, both of Alliance.

In addition to her husband, she leaves several close relatives.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville by the Rev. Floyd Wycoff, pastor of the Shadyside (Pa.) Church of the Nazarene. Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery, Wellsville.

Friends may call Sunday afternoon and evening at the funeral home, where Tirzah Rebekah Lodge of Wellsville will hold services Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Colin C. Harrison

Colin Charles Harrison, 54, formerly of 1208 Springhill Rd., Wellsville, died at 9:30 a. m. today in Massillon State Hospital.

Mr. Harrison was born in England June 13, 1908, to Charles Harrison and Mary Vaughn Harrison. He had been a warehouseman in area potteries.

He is survived by three daughters, Miss Laura Harrison and Miss Mary Harrison at home, and Miss Phyllis Harrison of Wellsville; a son, Charles Anthony Harrison at home; a sister, Mrs. Lillian Anderson of East Liverpool, and two brothers, Donald Harrison of East Liverpool and William Harrison of Lisbon.

The Haugh Funeral Home in Wellsville is arranging services.

Infant Conkle

Services for Richard Eric Conkle, infant son of Robert Lee Conkle and Elva Jean Finley Conkle of Chester R.D. 1, were to be held this afternoon at 2:30 at the Dawson Funeral Home.

The Rev. William Claghorn, pastor of the Westminster United Presbyterian Church of Chester, officiated and burial was to be in Locust Hill Cemetery, Chester.

The infant was born Friday at 11:30 a.m. at City Hospital and died at 4:30 p.m.

In addition to his parents, he leaves a brother, Lee Conkle at home; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Finley, and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Maxine Conkle, all of Chester; the paternal great-grandmothers, Mrs. Linda Allison of Lawrenceville, and Mrs. Ann Conkle of Chester, and the maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Roy McGaffic of Chester.

Paul Rinestine

Services for Paul C. Rinestine, 1378 Oakwood Ave., who died Friday morning at the Oakland Veterans Hospital in Pittsburgh, will be held Monday at 10:30 a.m. at Martin Funeral Home.

The Rev. Charles W. Kampmeyer, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will officiate and burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight and Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Evelyn Leavell

Mrs. Evelyn Leavell of Homestead, sister of Walter Leavell of Ohio Ave., Midland, and a former resident of Midland, died Friday morning at home after a brief illness.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the First Baptist Church in Midland by the Rev. J. M. Marbrey. Burial will be in Oak Grove Cemetery, Industry.

County Fair Board Will Receive $8,829

The Columbiana County Fair is slated to receive $8,829.23 as its share of the annual distribution of Ohio fairs fund, totaling $698,437.10, according to State Auditor Roger W. Tracey at Columbus. The funds are derived from the tax of one - half of one per cent on the parimutuel wager at Ohio race tracks during 1962.

All local fairs receive a minimum of $2,500 for general operations, while fairs conducting horse racing receive an additional $3,000 of which $2,500 is for purse money and $500 for track maintenance. Fairs holding four stake races for 2-year-old and 3-year-old colts and fillies receive an additional $3,329.23 for purses.

Columbiana County receives the total.

Cold Weather Slows Legion Home Project

The remodeling of American Legion Post 70 home at Wellsville is progressing, but the work is being slowed by the cold weather, officers said today.

The post home was destroyed by fire last year. The entire top section of the building was torn down, leaving only the walls of the first floor.

A new steel roof has been erected and temporary heat installed. William Bratt of Wellsville is doing the work.

A new entrance has been purchased and plans are being made for decorating the interior.

Officers hope to have the post ready for occupation by Memorial Day.

Weirton Chest Drive Wins State Award

WEIRTON — This steel community's 1962 Community Chest drive has won recognition as the outstanding campaign in West Virginia last year.

Harry Hoffman, editor of the Charleston Sunday Gazette-Mail newspaper, sponsor of the contest advised James C. Flannigen, fund secretary, Friday that Weirton had won the award in a contest with 10 other cities. Its rating of 108.9 per cent exceeded Logan's, 1961 winner, and Morgantown, 1960 winner.

Mike Starvaggi was general chairman of the drive which totaled $123,326 in pledges against the goal of $112,000.

Sliding Auto Causes Crash

One car was demolished and another car and a tractor-trailer rig damaged in a crash on ice-slickened Route 66 near the Newell Bridge Thursday afternoon, Hancock County sheriff's deputies said today in a belated report.

Deputies said the mishap occurred when the driver of the rig swerved to avoid striking a skidding sedan, operated by an identified woman who continued south on Route 66.

The wreck involved a 1962 Chevrolet tractor-trailer rig owned by Grief Bros. Cartage, Inc., of Canonsburg, operated by William W. Gamble, 34, of Houston, Pa., a 1955 Ford sedan driven by Charles Strosnider, 51, of 524 2nd St., Chester, and a 1956 Buick sedan driven by Richard Lee Bailey, 27, of Chester R.D. 1.

Deputies said Gamble, driving south, attempted to avoid striking the skidding sedan of the unidentified woman by swerving into the north-bound lane.

As the rig headed back into its own lane, it was hit by Strosnider's car approaching from around a curve. Strosnider applied his brakes but was unable to avoid the collision, deputies said. The following sedan driven by Bailey crashed into the rear of Strosnider's car, forcing it into the rig for the second time.

Deputies said the roads were slick with ice and no charges were filed. They estimated $400 damage to the rig, $300 to Bailey's car, and added Strosnider's car was demolished. No one was hurt in the mishap 500 feet south of the bridge entrance.

Flu Outbreak Hits In Texas

By The Associated Press

Influenza has reached near epidemic proportions in several Texas cities.

The outbreaks, once confined largely to the Atlantic Seaboard, continue to sweep westward. Areas in Missouri and Michigan are hard hit.

Austin, the Texas capital, had 467 flu-type cases reported in the last six days. More than 100 teachers have been sidelined by the disease.

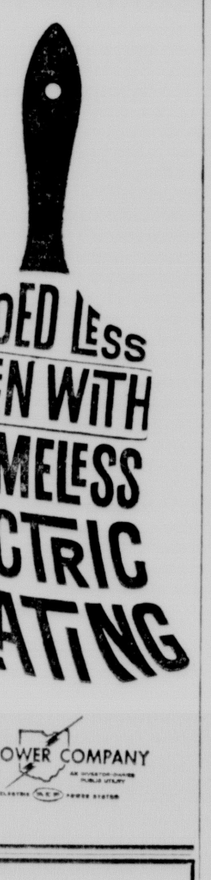

School absenteeism in Dallas skyrocketed to 20 per cent Friday, twice that of the previous day. Dallas hospitals report a heavy run of flu cases and have stopped visitors, except for the critcally ill.

Two medical experts said the severe outbreak of respiratory infections in the St. Louis area is predominantly Asian flu. School officials are hopeful that the three-day vacation this weekend will halt the spread of the disease and reduce the mounting teacher and pupil absenteeism.

Dr. Charles Anderson, Detroit health commissioner, estimated that 30,000 Detroiters are suffering from viruses attacking the upper respiratory system.

Hancock Man Fined

NEW CUMBERLAND — Holmes Law, 56, of Weirton was fined $10 and costs Friday by Municipal Judge John D. Herron on a charge of hazardous driving. He was cited earlier by Police Chief William Webster on Ridge Ave.

Burial will be in St. Elizabeth Cemetery, Wellsville.

Rusk Sees Cold War Struggle Of Ideas

CINCINNATI (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk does not consider the cold war a struggle between countries as much as a struggle between ideas.

Speaking to more than 1,500 persons attending a dinner sponsored by the Cincinnati Council on World Affairs Friday night, Rusk said:

"I would underline two points. The first is that by victory in the cold war we do not mean the victory of one nation or one people over another, but a victory for freedom.

"The second—closely related to the first—is that by 'we' we mean not just 185 million citizens of the United States but all men and women throughout the world."

Canton Man Cited

Colors Seen As Reducing Damage In Nuclear Blast

Colors employed can be significant in reducing heat damage from nuclear explosions, the Lions Club was told Friday afternoon by a chemist who participated in an atomic test at Yucca Flats in Nevada.

S. K. Coburn, research chemist at the U.S. Steel Corp.'s applied research laboratory, in addressing the club at the Travelers Hotel said light colors showed less effect from the tremendous heat generated by the blast than did dark-colored objects.

Coburn participated in "Operation Cue" in 1955 to conduct a test of wooden poles for the American Association of Railroads with which he then was associated.

The color test was conceived, Coburn said, after he saw a photo of a victim of the Hiroshima blast in which the pattern of her dark dress was burned into her skin.

Basically, the idea is the same as the reason for wearing light-colored clothing in warm weather — the sun's rays are reflected rather than absorbed, he explained.

The wooden poles painted black and located 4,700 feet from Ground Zero were scorched while those painted white showed no effect, he said.

The same conclusion generally was noted in clothing worn by mannikins. Dark clothing and garments with patterns were burned or scorched while those with light colors were relatively free of damage, he explained.

In some other general observations of the results, Coburn said woolens and cottons withstood the effect of the heat better than synthetic materials which burned or melted.

Loose-fitting garments provided better insulation against the heat than tight-fitting clothing with a layer of air acting as an insulator. Lower temperatures were measured on under - garments when mannikins wore several layers of clothing than on those with a single garment, he pointed out.

Windows with whitening on them and covered with a fine mesh screen measured up best in a window test since the whitening stopped some of the radiation and the screen prevented damage from flying glass.

Foods containing a quantity of salt, such as dairy products and cured and processed meats, retained radiation longer than other types, he said, since the salt became radioactive.

Coburn was introduced by Dr. J. Fraser Jackson, program chairman. James Johnston, president, presided.

Don Duke, chairman, reminded members of the Charter Night banquet tonight at Deramo's in Midland and Fred Kane, co-chairman, discussed the minstrel show March 23 at Westgate School.

John W. (Jack) Peterson, 71, a native of East Liverpool and former deputy in the clerk of courts office at Lisbon, died at noon Friday at his home at 404 W. North Ave., East Palestine, after suffering a heart attack.

Mr. Peterson served as chief deputy in the office for 18 years. He also filled the unexpired term of the late John Coleman as clerk of courts. He also served as a Fourth Ward councilman at East Palestine. He retired in 1958.

Mr. Peterson was born Aug. 11, 1891, in East Liverpool, a son of Alfred and Mary Robinson Peterson. He moved to East Palestine in 1919 and operated a shoe repair shop for several years. He was a member of the Covenant United Presbyterian Church at East Palestine. He was married to the former Nellie DeLong Aug. 16, 1915.

Survivors include his widow at home; two sons, David Peterson of East Palestine and Capt. Daniel Peterson with the 12th Air Force at Waco, Tex.; two sisters, Mrs. E. L. Owen and Miss Ethel Peterson, both of Glendale, Calif., and seven grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the Van Dyke Funeral Home in East Palestine by the Rev. William Robb. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery there.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Mrs. Melvin Smith

Mrs. Edna Leota Smith, 60, of Alliance, wife of Melvin Smith, and a former resident of Wellsville, died Friday at 9 p.m. at her home after an illness of several months.

Mrs. Smith was born in Hammondsville Dec. 4, 1902, daughter of the late Nettie Grafton. She resided in Wellsville for many years before moving to Alliance six years ago. While in Wellsville she lived at 1512 Chester Ave.

She was a member of the Union Ave. Methodist Church in Alliance, its Hively Sunday School Class and its Laura Schleman Circle of the WSCS, the Queen of Ohio Council of the Daughters of America at Wellsville, the Rebekah Lodge and the Council of United Church Women, both of Alliance.

In addition to her husband, she leaves several close relatives.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville by the Rev. Floyd Wycoff, pastor of the Shadyside (Pa.) Church of the Nazarene. Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery, Wellsville.

Friends may call Sunday afternoon and evening at the funeral home, where Tirzah Rebekah Lodge of Wellsville will hold services Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Colin C. Harrison

Colin Charles Harrison, 54, formerly of 1208 Springhill Rd., Wellsville, died at 9:30 a. m. today in Massillon State Hospital.

Mr. Harrison was born in England June 13, 1908, to Charles Harrison and Mary Vaughn Harrison. He had been a warehouseman in area potteries.

He is survived by three daughters, Miss Laura Harrison and Miss Mary Harrison at home, and Miss Phyllis Harrison of Wellsville; a son, Charles Anthony Harrison at home; a sister, Mrs. Lillian Anderson of East Liverpool, and two brothers, Donald Harrison of East Liverpool and William Harrison of Lisbon.

The Haugh Funeral Home in Wellsville is arranging services.

Infant Conkle

Services for Richard Eric Conkle, infant son of Robert Lee Conkle and Elva Jean Finley Conkle of Chester R.D. 1, were to be held this afternoon at 2:30 at the Dawson Funeral Home.

The Rev. Charles W. Kampmeyer, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will officiate and burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight and Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Evelyn Leavell

Mrs. Evelyn Leavell of Homestead, sister of Walter Leavell of Ohio Ave., Midland, and a former resident of Midland, died Friday morning at home after a brief illness.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the First Baptist Church in Midland by the Rev. J. M. Marbrey. Burial will be in Oak Grove Cemetery, Industry.

County Fair Board Will Receive $8,829

The Columbiana County Fair is slated to receive $8,829.23 as its share of the annual distribution of Ohio fairs fund, totaling $698,437.10, according to State Auditor Roger W. Tracey at Columbus. The funds are derived from the tax of one - half of one per cent on the parimutuel wager at Ohio race tracks during 1962.

All local fairs receive a minimum of $2,500 for general operations, while fairs conducting horse racing receive an additional $3,000 of which $2,500 is for purse money and $500 for track maintenance. Fairs holding four stake races for 2-year-old and 3-year-old colts and fillies receive an additional $3,329.23 for purses.

Columbiana County receives the total.

Cold Weather Slows Legion Home Project

The remodeling of American Legion Post 70 home at Wellsville is progressing, but the work is being slowed by the cold weather, officers said today.

The post home was destroyed by fire last year. The entire top section of the building was torn down, leaving only the walls of the first floor.

A new steel roof has been erected and temporary heat installed. William Bratt of Wellsville is doing the work.

A new entrance has been purchased and plans are being made for decorating the interior.

Officers hope to have the post ready for occupation by Memorial Day.

Weirton Chest Drive Wins State Award

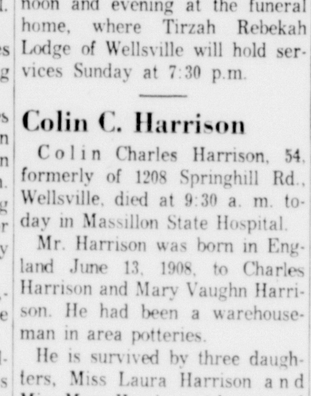

WEIRTON — This steel community's 1962 Community Chest drive has won recognition as the outstanding campaign in West Virginia last year.

Harry Hoffman, editor of the Charleston Sunday Gazette-Mail newspaper, sponsor of the contest advised James C. Flannigen, fund secretary, Friday that Weirton had won the award in a contest with 10 other cities. Its rating of 108.9 per cent exceeded Logan's, 1961 winner, and Morgantown, 1960 winner.

Mike Starvaggi was general chairman of the drive which totaled $123,326 in pledges against the goal of $112,000.

Sliding Auto Causes Crash

One car was demolished and another car and a tractor-trailer rig damaged in a crash on ice-slickened Route 66 near the Newell Bridge Thursday afternoon, Hancock County sheriff's deputies said today in a belated report.

Deputies said the mishap occurred when the driver of the rig swerved to avoid striking a skidding sedan, operated by an identified woman who continued south on Route 66.

The wreck involved a 1962 Chevrolet tractor-trailer rig owned by Grief Bros. Cartage, Inc., of Canonsburg, operated by William W. Gamble, 34, of Houston, Pa., a 1955 Ford sedan driven by Charles Strosnider, 51, of 524 2nd St., Chester, and a 1956 Buick sedan driven by Richard Lee Bailey, 27, of Chester R.D. 1.

Deputies said Gamble, driving south, attempted to avoid striking the skidding sedan of the unidentified woman by swerving into the north-bound lane.

As the rig headed back into its own lane, it was hit by Strosnider's car approaching from around a curve. Strosnider applied his brakes but was unable to avoid the collision, deputies said. The following sedan driven by Bailey crashed into the rear of Strosnider's car, forcing it into the rig for the second time.

Deputies said the roads were slick with ice and no charges were filed. They estimated $400 damage to the rig, $300 to Bailey's car, and added Strosnider's car was demolished. No one was hurt in the mishap 500 feet south of the bridge entrance.

Flu Outbreak Hits In Texas

By The Associated Press

Influenza has reached near epidemic proportions in several Texas cities.

The outbreaks, once confined largely to the Atlantic Seaboard, continue to sweep westward. Areas in Missouri and Michigan are hard hit.

Austin, the Texas capital, had 467 flu-type cases reported in the last six days. More than 100 teachers have been sidelined by the disease.

School absenteeism in Dallas skyrocketed to 20 per cent Friday, twice that of the previous day. Dallas hospitals report a heavy run of flu cases and have stopped visitors, except for the critcally ill.

Two medical experts said the severe outbreak of respiratory infections in the St. Louis area is predominantly Asian flu. School officials are hopeful that the three-day vacation this weekend will halt the spread of the disease and reduce the mounting teacher and pupil absenteeism.

Dr. Charles Anderson, Detroit health commissioner, estimated that 30,000 Detroiters are suffering from viruses attacking the upper respiratory system.

Hancock Man Fined

NEW CUMBERLAND — Holmes Law, 56, of Weirton was fined $10 and costs Friday by Municipal Judge John D. Herron on a charge of hazardous driving. He was cited earlier by Police Chief William Webster on Ridge Ave.

Rusk Sees Cold War Struggle Of Ideas

CINCINNATI (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk does not consider the cold war a struggle between countries as much as a struggle between ideas.

Speaking to more than 1,500 persons attending a dinner sponsored by the Cincinnati Council on World Affairs Friday night, Rusk said:

"I would underline two points. The first is that by victory in the cold war we do not mean the victory of one nation or one people over another, but a victory for freedom.

"The second—closely related to the first—is that by 'we' we mean not just 185 million citizens of the United States but all men and women throughout the world."

Canton Man Cited

Colors Seen As Reducing Damage In Nuclear Blast

Colors employed can be significant in reducing heat damage from nuclear explosions, the Lions Club was told Friday afternoon by a chemist who participated in an atomic test at Yucca Flats in Nevada.

S. K. Coburn, research chemist at the U.S. Steel Corp.'s applied research laboratory, in addressing the club at the Travelers Hotel said light colors showed less effect from the tremendous heat generated by the blast than did dark-colored objects.

Coburn participated in "Operation Cue" in 1955 to conduct a test of wooden poles for the American Association of Railroads with which he then was associated.

The color test was conceived, Coburn said, after he saw a photo of a victim of the Hiroshima blast in which the pattern of her dark dress was burned into her skin.

Basically, the idea is the same as the reason for wearing light-colored clothing in warm weather — the sun's rays are reflected rather than absorbed, he explained.

The wooden poles painted black and located 4,700 feet from Ground Zero were scorched while those painted white showed no effect, he said.

The same conclusion generally was noted in clothing worn by mannikins. Dark clothing and garments with patterns were burned or scorched while those with light colors were relatively free of damage, he explained.

In some other general observations of the results, Coburn said woolens and cottons withstood the effect of the heat better than synthetic materials which burned or melted.

Loose-fitting garments provided better insulation against the heat than tight-fitting clothing with a layer of air acting as an insulator. Lower temperatures were measured on under - garments when mannikins wore several layers of clothing than on those with a single garment, he pointed out.

Windows with whitening on them and covered with a fine mesh screen measured up best in a window test since the whitening stopped some of the radiation and the screen prevented damage from flying glass.

Foods containing a quantity of salt, such as dairy products and cured and processed meats, retained radiation longer than other types, he said, since the salt became radioactive.

Coburn was introduced by Dr. J. Fraser Jackson, program chairman. James Johnston, president, presided.

An Impulse Grows Into Every Day Job

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Mrs. Jeanne Kunkel, a grandmother and part-time cashier, raises pedigreed cats in a loft.

She has 30 cats being groomed as pets or as show animals. What began as an impulse now takes up a good part of her every day.

On her first visit to a cat exhibition, she fell for a blue persian and bought him for $40 for a pet. A few years later she bought a female blue persian.

Mrs. Kunkel now enters several cats in competition herself. Her current pride is a champion silver persian official dubbed Weequahic Silver Sonata, although he answers to Fatso around the house.

U.S. Blocks Soviets From Berlin Entry

BERLIN (AP)—U.S. authorities today barred four busloads of Soviet military personnel from entering West Berlin at Checkpoint Charlie on the Communist wall dividing the city.

The Soviets were on their way to the Soviet War Memorial in West Berlin for a wreath-laying ceremony on Red Army Day.

A U.S. spokesman said the buses were stopped at the request of British authorities, who had reached an agreement with the Soviets that military personnel going to the memorial would use the Sandkrug Bridge checkpoint in the British Sector.

The British sector checkpoint provides the shortest and most direct route to the memorial near the Brandenburg Gate.

After the four buses turned back, they drove to the Sandkrug Bridge checkpoint and were allowed to pass.

The buses were held up at the American checkpoint for more than an hour while Soviet and U.S. officials negotiated.

4 In Separate Cells In Jail Disturbance

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Four men spent the night in separate cells as alleged ringleaders of a two-hour disturbance at the Warren County Jail.

Sheriff Byron Kennard Sr. said 14 prisoners barred the outer door to their cell block Friday night, banged on bars and tore pieces off their beds in a loud protest about prison food and lack of recreation space.

The four alleged ring leaders are Charles Eugene Roach, 32, no known address; Sammy Stone, 19, Franklin; William Dean Sprague, 29, Cincinnati, and James Ramsey, 19, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Charges Dismissed In Traffic Deaths

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP) — "His carelessness killed his mother and I know of nothing worse a man could have on his conscience."

With those words, Justice of the Peace Francis L. Wilcox dismissed manslaughter charges against Charles Hageman, 29, of Dayton, Ohio.

Hageman appeared before Wilcox Friday on the charge growing out of a traffic accident Feb. 9 in which his mother, Mrs. Margaret E. Hageman, 58, and Jan Arnold Thornton, 28, Traverse City, Mich., were killed.

The Ohioan's car collided head-on with Thornton's on U.S. 41 three miles south of here.

Hikers Blistered, Bruised, Lay Sprawled Over Nob Hill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fifty-mile hikers lay sprawled all over San Francisco's Nob Hill Friday night, wondering if their George Washington's Birthday marathon had been worth it.

Blistered and bruised, they sat, stood, moaned and whispered in little groups. There were about 200 of them—about one-tenth of those who started the hike.

Kids in Bermuda shorts, loafers, sneakers, wild but worn hairdos, blue jeans, with guitars, straw hats and baseball caps mingled with late evening diners and night life patrons.

Mecca for the mostly teenaged crowd was radio station KYA, located on the side of Nob Hill. A KYA disc jockey, Tommy Saunders, had proposed the long walk up the San Francisco Peninsula on his program.

He joined the hiking group and by 10 o'clock Friday night he was in St. Francis Memorial Hospital. Dr. Francis J. Charlton said Saunders was suffering from fatigue.

Police estimated the hiking high schoolers at about 2,000 in all. They started at the gate of Santa Clara University near San Jose at 6 a.m. The more rugged began struggling into San Francisco after dark.

An accompanying proud mother said, "It's 69 miles from the gate to here. Not 50. I know, I clocked it on my car speedometer."

During the day, highway patrolmen said they were getting frantic about the whole idea of the hiking fad. "The congestion is getting unbelievable," one officer said. "The trouble is they walk with the cars."

1 Killed, 3 Injured In Factory Explosion

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three workmen remained in Good Samaritan Hospital today with injuries suffered in a factory explosion that killed Edward A. Meyer, 54, of Newport, Ky.

The explosion Friday was blamed on a leak which allowed hydrogen gas to build up to an explosive concentration in a chemical processing building of Emery Industries, Inc., at nearby St. Bernard.

Robert Lail, 38, Fort Thomas, Ky., was in good condition with head injuries. John Schmidt, 49, Milford, and Thomas Parry, 43, Springdale, were in fair condition. A fourth man was treated and released.

Three walls and part of the roof of the processing building were blown out by the explosion.

Dog Warden Warns Strict Enforcement

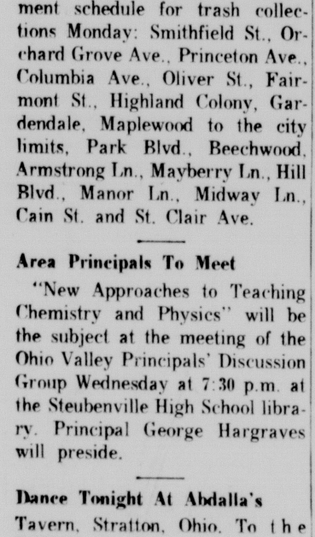

Warning of a strict enforcement of dog regulations was issued today by Robert Croyle, city dog warden.

As a result of a number of complaints of dogs running at large, unlicensed dogs and dogs jumping upon youngsters, Croyle said he was issuing a final warning for owners to control their pets.

Starting next week, Croyle said, there will be a crackdown upon violators.

An Impulse Grows Into Every Day Job

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Mrs. Jeanne Kunkel, a grandmother and part-time cashier, raises pedigreed cats in a loft.

She has 30 cats being groomed as pets or as show animals. What began as an impulse now takes up a good part of her every day.

On her first visit to a cat exhibition, she fell for a blue persian and bought him for $40 for a pet. A few years later she bought a female blue persian.

Mrs. Kunkel now enters several cats in competition herself. Her current pride is a champion silver persian official dubbed Weequahic Silver Sonata, although he answers to Fatso around the house.

U.S. Blocks Soviets From Berlin Entry

BERLIN (AP)—U.S. authorities today barred four busloads of Soviet military personnel from entering West Berlin at Checkpoint Charlie on the Communist wall dividing the city.

The Soviets were on their way to the Soviet War Memorial in West Berlin for a wreath-laying ceremony on Red Army Day.

A U.S. spokesman said the buses were stopped at the request of British authorities, who had reached an agreement with the Soviets that military personnel going to the memorial would use the Sandkrug Bridge checkpoint in the British Sector.

The British sector checkpoint provides the shortest and most direct route to the memorial near the Brandenburg Gate.

After the four buses turned back, they drove to the Sandkrug Bridge checkpoint and were allowed to pass.

They Didn't Know It Was Loaded

This is the 50th anniversary of the ratification of the 16th amendment the one that legalized the federal income tax.

Whether you think the 16th amendment should be repealed outright, modified, or whether you like the federal income tax the way it is and don't even want its rates reduced, you must concede one thing about the consequences of taxing incomes at graduated rates.

Without this authority, the United States never would have been able to inflate its spending rate to the multi-billion proportions now accepted as routine.

In 1910, three years before the 16th amendment was ratified, the federal government was collecting taxes at the rate of $7 per capita. Fifty years later it is collecting taxes at the rate of $450 per capita and even at this accelerated clip is not close to making ends meet.

ONLY THE graduated income tax could have made this rate of spending possible. And surely it is significant that the 50th anniversary of its creation as a revenue device has brought from the President of the United States a warning that its impact on the national economy has been so paralyzing Congress must lighten the blows.

There is no dissent from this view. Yet, so positive are the people who believe spending is a greater danger to the national economy than taxing that they are refusing to support income tax revision until assured of spending revision.

It all began with these few words added to the Constitution in 1913:

"Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever sources derived, without apportionment among the several state, and without regard to any census or enumeration."

THE PRINCIPLE was not new. The federal government had adopted an income tax on July 1, 1862, to finance the Civil War. It called for withholding taxes on dividends and interest paid out by banks, trust companies, railroads, savings institutions and insurance companies. The levy was abandoned in 1872.

The tariff bill of 1894 included an income tax of 2 per cent on incomes over $4,000. This was ruled unconstitutional in 1895. But the idea was taking root. The Democratic party endorsed an income tax amendment in 1908. In 1909 a proposed amendment was approved in the House and Senate. On Feb. 25, 1913, the amendment's ratification by the necessary 36 states was proclaimed.

The principle had become constitutional practice. And how it grew!

IN THE FIRST year of the new income tax a married taxpayer with an annual income of $10,000 and two dependents — a citizen of wealth in that era — owed only $60 for federal income tax.

A citizen with the same income today and the same number of dependents would pay $1,372, plus greatly increased state and local taxes. And now, as then, government will spend it all and go into debt besides.

There is no point of satiety in spending. What still remains to be demonstrated in America is whether there is a point of satiety in paying.

President Kennedy says the paying point has been reached but refuses to concede that the spending point has been reached.

Curbing Pollution

Another effort to further reduce the serious problem of stream pollution by coal mines has been started by the federal government and the coal industry committee of the Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission.

The U.S. Bureau of Mines this week announced initial field work in a program to keep acid polluted water from mines out of streams will be done at a site near Kittanning, Pa.

The first step, according to the bureau, will be to determine the flow of mine water and its acidity, then to develop methods to reduce both by diversion of flow and mine sealing. This project will supplement work already done by the Mellon Institute of Pittsburgh.

Since clean water and coal are two key economic foundations of the Ohio Valley, it is imperative that this joint endeavor by government, industry and other interested groups continue, assuring the region of adequate resources for future development.

Start On The Right Foot

If some of the key figures in the Kennedy administration get together with some of the key figures in news-gathering media next April to discuss their points of disagreement, they should get off on the right foot.

They should agree on this one point at the outset — that the elements of disagreement between them are fixed and immutable.

They should avoid any thought of being able to get along without friction.

They should reject all dreams about lying down together in shaded dells and whiling away pleasant months, years and eras in murmuring harmony.

They should accept the fact that people who gather and process information about government are the natural enemies of all people in government who sooner or later will try to conceal information the newsgatherers want.

Above all, they should come to a mutual understanding on the reason the First Amendment to the Constitution makes freedom of the press immune to legislating. And if they go the rest of the way toward mature understanding of their mutual problems, they should agree that it would have been a good idea to make the press immune to executive action, too.

The only thing the Kennedy administration and the news-gathering media can hope to agree on is a set of ground rules for carrying on the battle that is their destiny as politicians and observers of politicians.

It is like the battle between the playwright and the critic, the cat and the mouse, the governors and the governed. It is part of the pattern of force and counter-force that keeps the world in balance.

There should be no nonsense about burying the hatchet, harmony, cooperation and peace that passeth understanding. The friction between sources of public information and the people who dig it out and pass it along is built into representative democracy.

It can be controlled, after a fashion. But under no circumstances can it be eliminated without undermining the people's right to know, which is the basic guarantee of their freedom.

Dear Nephew: Sometimes you presume on our ages up here. Let me explain what I mean.

You ask questions of us that you think we should be able to answer because we are older and presumably wiser. Then when we can't answer, you think to yourself these old coots at the Corners aren't as smart as you thought they were.

You have done this to us again with the question in your latest letter. We have no answer. But we don't want to be shrugged off as a pair of doddering nincompoops. You don't have an answer, either. No one has one.

To whatever extent the old are smarter than the young, it's only because they know there are no answers to many problems that young people try to make up answers for because they can't stand to admit they don't know.

The young try to bowl over everything in their way. The old size obstacles up first, remember what happened on previous occasions and walk around what they know they can't knock down.

We do not know the answer to your question. We have to walk around it.

Do individuals have the right to wipe out the livelihood of other individuals if they wrap themselves in the right cloaks beforehand?

You want us to say no, they don't have this right.

But if we said that we'd be going against the experience of our lifetimes.

Individuals always have tried to wipe out other individuals. They wrapped themselves in a cloak called the divine right of kings. They wrapped themselves in the vestments of religion.

They wrapped themselves in bed sheets in this country. Until we cracked down on them, they wrapped themselves in claw hammer coats and plug hats.

They have wrapped themselves in the flag. We can agree now that they are wrapping themselves in labor legislation.

They do not have a "right" to do this, but the point is that they are not proscribed from doing it. They claim they have a right in the absence of any proof they do not have it.

They are operating "within the law." If the operation is shady," if it is open to challenge, if it offends private and public morals — no matter how often it is challenged — they are taking advantage of the people's failure to defend themselves.

Eventually, if given any chance at all, the people will defend themselves. But it always takes time. It took generations before working people could defend themselves against any new set of indignities?

We two old parties don't expect to be around long enough to see everything put in balance. We've been around long enough to know it never works that way. Whenever one set of indignities can be written off as cured, another set always comes along.

This doesn't answer your question? Of course it doesn't. What did you expect? Solomon? Give your regards to the family.

This and That

The bedspring is only a little more than a hundred years old. It was invented in 1853 by James E. Lidding, a blacksmith of Watertown, N.Y., who acquired the idea from the bounce of his buggy springs.

By far, the most popular single leisure-time occupation of Americans, according to the results of a recent poll, is the working of crossword puzzles. The runnersup in this poll were checkers, bingo and poker.

The word "muscle" has a rather humorous origin. The ancient Romans noticed that the action of a muscle beneath the skin resembled the scampering of a mouse, so they bestowed the name "musculus," or "little mouse," on that part of the human anatomy.

The first execution in America was that of John Billington, who came over on the "Mayflower." He was hanged at Plymouth, Massachusetts, on Sept. 30, 1630, for the murder of one John Newcomen.

Kennedy Plan Called Medical Handicap

David Lawrence

It's going to be harder to get a doctor when you are sick, harder to get into a hospital, and harder to take care of the young as well as the old who became ill in the future — if the federal government intervene in the field of medical care as just recommended to Congress by President Kennedy.

Time was when, if you were sick, you could get a doctor to come to your home. Today most patients have to go to the doctor's office except when gravely ill.

There simply aren't enough doctors now. This is primarily because medical aid is covered in part by private insurance plans that make it less costly. Persons who used to take care of minor ailments themselves often seek medical aid nowadays.

The insurance idea itself is a good one. But until the shortage of doctors produced by the existing plans is overcome, the proposed intervention by the federal government with free medical care for certain age groups will only intensify the problem for almost everybody.

Elderly persons require individual care and continuous observation, but if there is a shortage of physicians, these patients will be neglected no matter how much of the bill the government is willing to pay.

It's good politics, of course, for any president to champion social-welfare legislation, but free medical attention for millions of citizens will constitute in the field of welfare benefits the biggest single expense imposed on all the people.

TAXES ARE to be raised to finance the medical plan proposed by the President. Not only will everybody's Social Security rates go up, but the tax will be imposed on the first $5,200 of salary instead of the current figure of $4,800 a year.

The purpose, of course, is to collect about $10 billion more over the next five years. Just what this does to the administration program for a "tax cut" is not readily calculated but it is another example of how the much-talked-about "tax cut" is rapidly turning into a tax rise.

With the objective of the President's plan — to provide medical care for the aged — there will be little dissent. The question really is whether those families which can afford to take care of their own aged members shall be required to pay taxes to support a plan in which their own relatives — though able to afford the medical care — would get it at government expense.

The "medical care" agitation will, moreover, raise false hopes. The proposed plan doesn't cover medical treatment but mostly the charges for hospitalization and related services. The political value, however, of proclaiming "medical care for the aged" will continue to be there, and it's politics that's really back of the whole crusade.

THE VAST majority of doctors are vehemently opposed to the new plan. They feel it will demoralize the whole system of medical care in America, and they ought to know.

They constitute a dedicated profession. They are on call in serious cases at the hospitals or at private homes day and night. They must be precise in their findings because errors can be fatal.

The members of the profession are men and women who know medical conditions in this country and are familiar also with what "socialized medicine" has meant in various other countries.

They fear that the new plan someday will result in "socialized medicine" — a scheme in which the government runs the medical-care program, pays the fees of doctors and standardizes their incomes.

The administration denies that its plan will ever bring "socialized medicine," but the doctors know that, if the medical profession is overwhelmed with cases due to the free service programs provided by the government, the demand on the time of all doctors will be so great that the government will have to step in to try to bring order out of the chaos that will ensue.

NOBODY OBJECTS to better medical care for the aged, as well as for everybody else, but there are serious differences of opinion as to whether those who seek to make political capital out of the issue will produce frustration in the medical profession and a lowering of the high standards of medical care which have long prevailed in America.

Arkansas Unions Push Vote Campaign

By VICTOR RIESEL

There is something in Arkansas labor you don't find often — a horseshoers' local. Over at Hot Springs, of course. Where the track is. But I'm about to report on another kind of race—a political heat and not one of horseflesh.

Victor Riesel

That's the one in which Sen. McClellan must run in a few years. It appears to be a long way off, but the Little Rock labor leaders here are taking no chances. They're preparing now for an attempt to drive him from the Senate. There is, among other emotions, strong teamsters sentiment here.

There is no great enthusiasm over the senator's recent probings. There is sharp anger provoked by his introduction of anti-strike legislation and the senator's intention to outlaw stoppages in transportation, on the missile bases and right inside the big defense plants.

THIS HITS at the machinists union, and there are many machinists in Arkansas. It also affects the influential railway brotherhoods.

This hits at the building unions —and there are many construction union locals in Arkansas. They are, in fact, the power in a state which observers seldom think of as a labor center.

And they are organizing now for round-the-clock political work. They want to be ready for the 1966 primaries.

They will fight inside the Democratic contest itself, for they have not the slightest intention of tying up with the Republican party. Arkansas labor leaders have developed a simple political arithmetic. Incidentally it includes a formula for a fight on Gov. Faubus as well.

In the 1960 presidential election, the Democrats polled a total of 244,001. Of this 215,049 went to John Kennedy. Another 28,952 balloted for Faubus (National Rights party). Dick Nixon drew 184,508.

THE LABOR politicos believe they have a chance to beat Sen. McClellan. They base this hope on their total membership of more than 72,000 unionists. To most of these they add a wife or a husband. This brings them up to about 139,000.

Then they reckon they can get each to influence others. One of the union documents says, "Each union member has at least two relatives, close friends or neighbors who could be influenced to vote with organized labor, these totaling more than 144,000."

So they figure their potential vote at "283,000." Those are their figures. If the labor reasoning is justified, they have a chance to defeat McClellan, a mighty popular figure here who ran heavily ahead of Kennedy in '60.

The senator polled 377,036. So the labor analysts say they have a strong proportion of the McClellan vote.

They do — if they can get their people registered. They estimate that only 30 per cent are. Registration means paying the dollar poll tax. So the drive is on now to get them into the habit.

AT LEAST on paper, I haven't run into a better organized campaign in a long time. It is rare for labor in a southern state. If it succeeds, they'll carry the technique over into other parts of Dixie, such as Mississippi.

One of the earliest decisions was to rule that no man should be elected or be seated as a delegate to any convention or conference if he has not paid his poll tax.

In addition there is being built a most intricate card file system. All unions have been asked to submit their membership lists to a central office. A card is made for every one of their members. Each card has a secret code notation to conceal the name of the union to which the man or woman belongs.

After the cards are assembled in central headquarters, they'll be checked against the county poll tax records. Then the special "WAD" — the Women's Activities Department of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education will swing into action. They'll set up phone teams, house-to-house canvassing, socials, etc.

Special poll tax receipt books will be issued. These will be used to collect the poll tax when the union member comes to pay his dues. Then the tax money will be sent over to the county tax collector's office.

THERE ARE more gimmicks than a polyhedron has angles. There will, for example, be door prizes at union meetings. But no winner can take his booty if he has not paid his poll tax and if he does not vote when the time comes.

It may all have a square dance quality. But if it works, massive labor politics will have established itself in the South. It will have broken the line. It could well become the balance of power in states below as well as above Mason-Dixon.

It's just beginning. It's worth watching in a new era when elections, local, state and national are being won by a handful of votes — by margins so close they can't even be accurately counted for months.

Foreign Loans To U.S.

By Gaston Coblentz

PARIS

Almost unnoticed, the United States has been borrowing money abroad as a means of bolstering the stability of the dollar.

The bare facts of these unaccustomed operations have been disclosed in recent financial statements by the U.S. Treasury, which has failed, however, to stress the broader significance of the move.

The recorded borrowings from Europe, mainly from Germany, Switzerland and Italy, have so far amounted to more than $350 million.

They have provided the United States with new supplies of hard European currencies. In return, the United States has issued bonds and notes denominated in the same foreign moneys and paying the European lenders interest rates between roughly 2.80 per cent and 3.20 per cent. When the loans expire 15 months to 5 years hence, the U.S. will be obliged to replay in the identical European currencies rather than in dollars.

EUROPEAN financial commentators have begun to scrutinize this practice very closely and have reached the conclusion that they mark a turning point in the Kennedy administration's technical maneuvers to protect the dollar.

It is considered as a new device by Washington to supplement the increasingly controversial two-way "currency-swap" deals in which the United States has been engaged with foreign monetary agencies.

The use of these various measures has arisen from the persistent deficit in the U.S. balance-of-payments—that is, from the fact that the United States is spending more abroad than it is receiving in revenues from abroad.

The United States failure to eliminate the deficit has provoked recurrent uneasiness abroad about the stability of the dollar. It has led to massive withdrawals of gold from the United States.

The recent U.S. borrowings abroad are intended to provide the U.S. with supplies of European currencies with which to intervene in the foreign exchange markets and support the dollar when it runs into trouble.

In other words, when dollars are being sold by foreign quarters, the U.S. can use the European moneys at its disposal to buy up dollars and steady the market.

Previously, the tactic was pursued primarily with the use of European moneys obtained in the "swap" transactions, which differed from the recent direct foreign borrowings by the United States in the following important respect.

IN A "SWAP" deal, the United States wrote, for example, a credit of $50 million on its books for Belgium. The Belgian National Bank, in turn, wrote a credit of the equivalent sum in Belgian francs on its books for use by the United States.

Because this mechanism had the makings of a perpetual engine of international inflation, as well as for other reasons, it began to arouse resistance on the part of some of the European governments involved in "swap" arrangements of various size.

The British were the first to contract out of one of "swaps". The French and others indicated that they were not prepared to travel much further along that road, either.

In other words, the U.S. "swap" strategy began to fall under a cloud in the last few months of 1962. This was a little noticed but very considerable setback for the U.S. in the technical sector of the international monetary arena.

Something had to be done, however, to assure that the U.S. would have more hard European currencies at its disposal for deployment on the foreign exchange markets. This was the origin of the borrowing scheme.

They Didn't Know It Was Loaded

This is the 50th anniversary of the ratification of the 16th amendment the one that legalized the federal income tax.

Whether you think the 16th amendment should be repealed outright, modified, or whether you like the federal income tax the way it is and don't even want its rates reduced, you must concede one thing about the consequences of taxing incomes at graduated rates.

Without this authority, the United States never would have been able to inflate its spending rate to the multi-billion proportions now accepted as routine.

In 1910, three years before the 16th amendment was ratified, the federal government was collecting taxes at the rate of $7 per capita. Fifty years later it is collecting taxes at the rate of $450 per capita and even at this accelerated clip is not close to making ends meet.

ONLY THE graduated income tax could have made this rate of spending possible. And surely it is significant that the 50th anniversary of its creation as a revenue device has brought from the President of the United States a warning that its impact on the national economy has been so paralyzing Congress must lighten the blows.

There is no dissent from this view. Yet, so positive are the people who believe spending is a greater danger to the national economy than taxing that they are refusing to support income tax revision until assured of spending revision.

It all began with these few words added to the Constitution in 1913:

"Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever sources derived, without apportionment among the several state, and without regard to any census or enumeration."

THE PRINCIPLE was not new. The federal government had adopted an income tax on July 1, 1862, to finance the Civil War. It called for withholding taxes on dividends and interest paid out by banks, trust companies, railroads, savings institutions and insurance companies. The levy was abandoned in 1872.

The tariff bill of 1894 included an income tax of 2 per cent on incomes over $4,000. This was ruled unconstitutional in 1895. But the idea was taking root. The Democratic party endorsed an income tax amendment in 1908. In 1909 a proposed amendment was approved in the House and Senate. On Feb. 25, 1913, the amendment's ratification by the necessary 36 states was proclaimed.

The principle had become constitutional practice. And how it grew!

IN THE FIRST year of the new income tax a married taxpayer with an annual income of $10,000 and two dependents — a citizen of wealth in that era — owed only $60 for federal income tax.

A citizen with the same income today and the same number of dependents would pay $1,372, plus greatly increased state and local taxes. And now, as then, government will spend it all and go into debt besides.

There is no point of satiety in spending. What still remains to be demonstrated in America is whether there is a point of satiety in paying.

President Kennedy says the paying point has been reached but refuses to concede that the spending point has been reached.

The members of the profession are men and women who know medical conditions in this country and are familiar also with what "socialized medicine" has meant in various other countries.

They fear that the new plan someday will result in "socialized medicine" — a scheme in which the government runs the medical-care program, pays the fees of doctors and standardizes their incomes.

The administration denies that its plan will ever bring "socialized medicine," but the doctors know that, if the medical profession is overwhelmed with cases due to the free service programs provided by the government, the demand on the time of all doctors will be so great that the government will have to step in to try to bring order out of the chaos that will ensue.

NOBODY OBJECTS to better medical care for the aged, as well as for everybody else, but there are serious differences of opinion as to whether those who seek to make political capital out of the issue will produce frustration in the medical profession and a lowering of the high standards of medical care which have long prevailed in America.

Arkansas Unions Push Vote Campaign

By VICTOR RIESEL

There is something in Arkansas labor you don't find often — a horseshoers' local. Over at Hot Springs, of course. Where the track is. But I'm about to report on another kind of race—a political heat and not one of horseflesh.

Victor Riesel

That's the one in which Sen. McClellan must run in a few years. It appears to be a long way off, but the Little Rock labor leaders here are taking no chances. They're preparing now for an attempt to drive him from the Senate. There is, among other emotions, strong teamsters sentiment here.

There is no great enthusiasm over the senator's recent probings. There is sharp anger provoked by his introduction of anti-strike legislation and the senator's intention to outlaw stoppages in transportation, on the missile bases and right inside the big defense plants.

THIS HITS at the machinists union, and there are many machinists in Arkansas. It also affects the influential railway brotherhoods.

This hits at the building unions —and there are many construction union locals in Arkansas. They are, in fact, the power in a state which observers seldom think of as a labor center.

And they are organizing now for round-the-clock political work. They want to be ready for the 1966 primaries.

They will fight inside the Democratic contest itself, for they have not the slightest intention of tying up with the Republican party. Arkansas labor leaders have developed a simple political arithmetic. Incidentally it includes a formula for a fight on Gov. Faubus as well.

In the 1960 presidential election, the Democrats polled a total of 244,001. Of this 215,049 went to John Kennedy. Another 28,952 balloted for Faubus (National Rights party). Dick Nixon drew 184,508.

THE LABOR politicos believe they have a chance to beat Sen. McClellan. They base this hope on their total membership of more than 72,000 unionists. To most of these they add a wife or a husband. This brings them up to about 139,000.

Then they reckon they can get each to influence others. One of the union documents says, "Each union member has at least two relatives, close friends or neighbors who could be influenced to vote with organized labor, these totaling more than 144,000."

So they figure their potential vote at "283,000." Those are their figures. If the labor reasoning is justified, they have a chance to defeat McClellan, a mighty popular figure here who ran heavily ahead of Kennedy in '60.

The senator polled 377,036. So the labor analysts say they have a strong proportion of the McClellan vote.

They do — if they can get their people registered. They estimate that only 30 per cent are. Registration means paying the dollar poll tax. So the drive is on now to get them into the habit.

AT LEAST on paper, I haven't run into a better organized campaign in a long time. It is rare for labor in a southern state. If it succeeds, they'll carry the technique over into other parts of Dixie, such as Mississippi.

One of the earliest decisions was to rule that no man should be elected or be seated as a delegate to any convention or conference if he has not paid his poll tax.

In addition there is being built a most intricate card file system. All unions have been asked to submit their membership lists to a central office. A card is made for every one of their members. Each card has a secret code notation to conceal the name of the union to which the man or woman belongs.

After the cards are assembled in central headquarters, they'll be checked against the county poll tax records. Then the special "WAD" — the Women's Activities Department of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education will swing into action. They'll set up phone teams, house-to-house canvassing, socials, etc.

Special poll tax receipt books will be issued. These will be used to collect the poll tax when the union member comes to pay his dues. Then the tax money will be sent over to the county tax collector's office.

THERE ARE more gimmicks than a polyhedron has angles. There will, for example, be door prizes at union meetings. But no winner can take his booty if he has not paid his poll tax and if he does not vote when the time comes.

It may all have a square dance quality. But if it works, massive labor politics will have established itself in the South. It will have broken the line. It could well become the balance of power in states below as well as above Mason-Dixon.

It's just beginning. It's worth watching in a new era when elections, local, state and national are being won by a handful of votes — by margins so close they can't even be accurately counted for months.

Foreign Loans To U.S.

By Gaston Coblentz

PARIS

Almost unnoticed, the United States has been borrowing money abroad as a means of bolstering the stability of the dollar.

The bare facts of these unaccustomed operations have been disclosed in recent financial statements by the U.S. Treasury, which has failed, however, to stress the broader significance of the move.

The recorded borrowings from Europe, mainly from Germany, Switzerland and Italy, have so far amounted to more than $350 million.

They have provided the United States with new supplies of hard European currencies. In return, the United States has issued bonds and notes denominated in the same foreign moneys and paying the European lenders interest rates between roughly 2.80 per cent and 3.20 per cent. When the loans expire 15 months to 5 years hence, the U.S. will be obliged to replay in the identical European currencies rather than in dollars.

EUROPEAN financial commentators have begun to scrutinize this practice very closely and have reached the conclusion that they mark a turning point in the Kennedy administration's technical maneuvers to protect the dollar.

It is considered as a new device by Washington to supplement the increasingly controversial two-way "currency-swap" deals in which the United States has been engaged with foreign monetary agencies.

The use of these various measures has arisen from the persistent deficit in the U.S. balance-of-payments—that is, from the fact that the United States is spending more abroad than it is receiving in revenues from abroad.

The United States failure to eliminate the deficit has provoked recurrent uneasiness abroad about the stability of the dollar. It has led to massive withdrawals of gold from the United States.

The recent U.S. borrowings abroad are intended to provide the U.S. with supplies of European currencies with which to intervene in the foreign exchange markets and support the dollar when it runs into trouble.

In other words, when dollars are being sold by foreign quarters, the U.S. can use the European moneys at its disposal to buy up dollars and steady the market.

Previously, the tactic was pursued primarily with the use of European moneys obtained in the "swap" transactions, which differed from the recent direct foreign borrowings by the United States in the following important respect.

IN A "SWAP" deal, the United States wrote, for example, a credit of $50 million on its books for Belgium. The Belgian National Bank, in turn, wrote a credit of the equivalent sum in Belgian francs on its books for use by the United States.

Because this mechanism had the makings of a perpetual engine of international inflation, as well as for other reasons, it began to arouse resistance on the part of some of the European governments involved in "swap" arrangements of various size.

The British were the first to contract out of one of "swaps". The French and others indicated that they were not prepared to travel much further along that road, either.

In other words, the U.S. "swap" strategy began to fall under a cloud in the last few months of 1962. This was a little noticed but very considerable setback for the U.S. in the technical sector of the international monetary arena.

Something had to be done, however, to assure that the U.S. would have more hard European currencies at its disposal for deployment on the foreign exchange markets. This was the origin of the borrowing scheme.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

In last week's paper, a woman was telling how bad the sidewalks are. She should consider herself fortunate to have a sidewalk to walk on.

On Shadyside Ave. the children have the pleasure of walking the road or curb. I have two girls going to school at Westgate. The cars go by and splash them trying to miss the holes in the road. We've had lots of promises of the road being fixed, but what do you have to do to get it done?

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO—D. C. Sutton was installed as noble grand of Clarke Odd Fellows Lodge 447 of Newell.

Alex Della Valle, supervisor of physical education in the Midland public schools, was named chairman of the physical education group of the midwestern division of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association.

"What the Republican Party Stands For" was the topic used by Atty. Raymond Buzzard when he addressed a meeting of the Phalanz Club at the YMCA.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Matthew Curry, East Liverpool probation officer, spoke at a meeting of the Chester United Presbyterian Church.

Patrick J. O'Farrell of W. 4th St. succeeded Paul L. Courtney as secretary of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce.

TEN YEARS AGO — Wilbur Forrester and Vincent Maola were named to the entertainment committee of the Fraternal Order of Police Association.

Mrs. James T. Fortiner served as auctioneer for the white elephant sale of the Dia Konia Class of the First Presbyterian Church.

Seamen Carl L. Reed of Chester, Kenneth J. Ward of East Liverpool and William L. White Jr. of New Cumberland served together aboard the Battleship Missouri in Korean waters.

The changing American way of life is reflected in the 1960 census figures, which show that children are going to school at an earlier age and staying in school longer than ever before. Median school years completed in each state ranged in 1960 from a high of 12.2 in Utah to a low of 8.7 in Kentucky and South Carolina.

Wellsville Historical Group Plans Morgan Raid Contests

Two projects to promote interest in the re-enactment of Gen. John Morgan's Civil War Raid in Columbiana County of July 1863 were mapped at a meeting of the Wellsville Historical Society Thursday night in Carnegie Library.

The group announced the opening of two contests in connection with commemoration of Morgan's raid in Wellsville — one for designing a wooden nickle, another for designing a cachet.

Anyone may participate, and entries are to be sent to the Wellsville Historical Society, Box 101, Wellsville, by the deadline April 15.

The specifications for the wooden nickle contest provide that one side is to be Confederate and must contain a design of Gen. Morgan and the "General," famous train stolen by the Union forces. The reverse is for the Union side, showing the Whittaker House and Morgan's Monument, and anything else appropriate.

Designs for the wooden nickle are limited to 2¼ by 4 inches. The Whittaker House, now the site of the Wellsville branch of the Potters Bank & Trust Co., was where Gen. Morgan was detained overnight after his capture.

Designes for the cachet must be no larger than 2½ inches square and must feature an outline of the State of Ohio and have a Wellsville connection. Contestants may send entries for either contest or both.

In other business, trustees were elected. They are Ed Pugh, Edgar Davidson, Myron Weis, Edwin James, Hugh Nile, Obert Knepper, and Mrs. Elizabeth Pugh. Clarence Bell, first vice president, presided. Atty. Delmar T. O'Hara is president. Next meeting is March 21.

Theater Ends Segregation In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—"The movie wasn't very good, but it really doesn't matter," a Negro coed said as she came out of the Northwood Theater.

The theater—scene of six days of mass demonstrations and mass arrests—quietly opened its doors to Negroes Friday.

Twenty-three well-dressed Morgan State College students bought tickets to see "In Search of the Castaways" and walked unimpeded through the carpeted lobby.

Only two days before 74 students had been arrested as they tried to do the same thing, as were 339 before them. They had protested the theater's exclusion of Negroes.

Thursday, after 413 students had been charged with trespassing or disorderly conduct and 343 of them had languished in Baltimore City Jail, the theater manager capitulated.

He agreed to end segregation, and the demonstrators agreed to end the demonstrations. The 343 were released from jail as their cumulative $200,000 bail was dropped. The charges stand.

One of the students who saw the movie Friday was Sandra Upshur, 18, president of the Morgan freshman class. She had been arrested twice in the demonstrations.

"It sure is peaceful now," she said as she blinked against the afternoon sun. She moved up a place in line at the box office. "But I'm glad," she added thoughtfully.

Miss Upshur is secretary of the Civic Interest Group, a local civil rights organization responsible for the demonstrations.

Catholic Pastor Claimed At 72

CLEVELAND (AP)—A pontifical requiem mass will be sung Monday for the Rev. Leo A. Warth 72-year - old pastor of St. Clement Catholic Church in suburban Lakewood. He died Friday in the rectory.

Father Warth became pastor of St. Clement in 1956, coming here from his pastorate at Holy Trinity Church in Avon.

Born in Massillon, the clergyman was ordained June 2, 1917. His subsequent assignments were as assistant at St. Peter's Church here, St. Joseph's in Lorain and St. Mary's in Canton. He was pastor of St. Edward's in Ashland for six years before going to Holy Trinity in 1931.

Survivors include a brother, the Rev. George Warth, assistant pastor of St. Patrick Church here, of Barberton.

By The Associated Press

Hobson R. Reynolds, grand exalted ruler of the Negro Elks of the World, says there "are more Negroes in Harlem driving automobiles than all the cars in Russia put together." Interviewed in Atlanta, Ga., Reynolds also said he has traveled in many countries but "the United States is the only country where minority groups can work for rights with the hope of attaining them."

Lord Gladwyn, one-time British delegate to the United Nations, has proposed in Brussels formation of a European political community with Britain and the Common Market nations at its core. Such a community, he said, could have its own nuclear striking force in British and French hands.

John G. Diefenbaker, Canadian prime minister, has left for London and talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on trade problems.

Gen. Francisco Franco will leave for Andalusia next week to tour areas of Spain ravaged by recent floods which left 16,000 persons homeless. About 90,00 farmers lost their crops in the floods. Damage was estimated at $66 million.

Peter Hicks, London fruit and vegetable dealer, has installed an electrifying unit in his auto as an anti-theft device. Anyone touching the vehicle is greeted by a blue flash and an electric shock. Hicks says it may be a coincidence but, since he installed the device, "I haven't had a single parking ticket. Before that, I used to get one almost every day."

Communion Planned All Day On Wednesday

Wellsville Historical Group Plans Morgan Raid Contests

Two projects to promote interest in the re-enactment of Gen. John Morgan's Civil War Raid in Columbiana County of July 1863 were mapped at a meeting of the Wellsville Historical Society Thursday night in Carnegie Library.

The group announced the opening of two contests in connection with commemoration of Morgan's raid in Wellsville — one for designing a wooden nickle, another for designing a cachet.

Anyone may participate, and entries are to be sent to the Wellsville Historical Society, Box 101, Wellsville, by the deadline April 15.

The specifications for the wooden nickle contest provide that one side is to be Confederate and must contain a design of Gen. Morgan and the "General," famous train stolen by the Union forces. The reverse is for the Union side, showing the Whittaker House and Morgan's Monument, and anything else appropriate.

Designs for the wooden nickle are limited to 2¼ by 4 inches. The Whittaker House, now the site of the Wellsville branch of the Potters Bank & Trust Co., was where Gen. Morgan was detained overnight after his capture.

Designes for the cachet must be no larger than 2½ inches square and must feature an outline of the State of Ohio and have a Wellsville connection. Contestants may send entries for either contest or both.

In other business, trustees were elected. They are Ed Pugh, Edgar Davidson, Myron Weis, Edwin James, Hugh Nile, Obert Knepper, and Mrs. Elizabeth Pugh. Clarence Bell, first vice president, presided. Atty. Delmar T. O'Hara is president. Next meeting is March 21.

School Officials Hope Flu Epidemic Eases

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — School officials hope the influenza epidemic will ease off before schools reopen next week.

The absentee rate in 30 schools of this area was 17.2 per cent Friday, up from 13.6 per cent Thursday. Supt. Howard Cromwell said schools will open Monday and added that the epidemic may have hit its peak.

Grange Sees Phone Movie

William Thompson of the Bell Telephone Co. screened a movie on "Direct Distance Dialing" at a meeting of the Hookstown Grange Thursday night in the Grange Hall.

The charter was draped for Mrs. Hester Gallagher and Mrs. Helen Leeper, members who died the past month.

Three new members, Linda Faye Fox, Sandy Reed and Paul McDowell, were obligated in the first and second degrees.

Raymond Searight presided in the absence of William Thompson, master. Use of the Grange Hall was authorized the Burgettstown Saddle Club for a dinner-dance April 20, the Juvenile Grange for a dance March 1, the 4-H Club for a record hop March 8, and Hookstown volunteer firemen for a fish fry March 29.

The Grange will sponsor a public card party March 9. Mr. and Mrs. Dave McCarroll will be honored with a dinner and reception Monday in the Grange Hall. They will observe their 45th wedding anniversary, and Mrs. McCarroll her 80th birthday anniversary. The public may attend the reception at 7:30.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Howard Narry, Mrs. Leland Floyd and Miss Olive Floyd.

4 In DeMolay Get Awards

Three members and an advisor were recognized at a meeting of the Harding Chapter, Order of DeMolay, Thursday night at the Masonic Temple. Roger Hicks, master councilor, presided in the East.

They include Byron O'Neil, Edward Birch and Tom Zook, members, and James Walker, dad. They received the representative DeMolay award and was presented certificates and pins by Samuel Brown.

It was announced that the regional workshop will be held April 6 at the Masonic Temple in Alliance, with Districts 6 through 10 participating. Officers and members and advisors of the local chapter are to turn in registration fees at the meeting March 7, when officers will be elected.

It was voted that the next 6th District meeting will be held in Salem March 30.

The chapter's current project of delivering advertising pamphlets was discussed. Plans for the basketball and rifle team were outlined. William Fletcher was named chairman of the rifle team committee.

Winner Named At Science Fair

LISBON — James Kelm, eighth grader and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelm of W. Lincoln Way, won top honors at the Lincoln Junior High School's second annual Science Fair Thursday evening.

John (Jack) Lewis, principal, said over 450 persons attended the fair, which consisted of over 200 projects of seventh and eighth graders in which blue, red and yellow ribbons were given for first, second and third places. Blue ribbon winners are eligible to enter their project in the Science Fair at the high school in March.

Judges included Edwin Hoopes, high school teacher at East Palestine High School; John R. Ciccarelli, science teacher at Westgate Junior High School in East Liverpool, and C. J. Rutter, engineer at the R. Thomas Co. Division of H. K. Porter Co., Lisbon.

His Birthday Too

CONCORD, N. C. (AP)—George Washington, a Concord truck driver, celebrated his 33rd birthday Friday by eating a piece of cherry pie.

Theater Ends Segregation In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—"The movie wasn't very good, but it really doesn't matter," a Negro coed said as she came out of the Northwood Theater.

The theater—scene of six days of mass demonstrations and mass arrests—quietly opened its doors to Negroes Friday.

Twenty-three well-dressed Morgan State College students bought tickets to see "In Search of the Castaways" and walked unimpeded through the carpeted lobby.

Only two days before 74 students had been arrested as they tried to do the same thing, as were 339 before them. They had protested the theater's exclusion of Negroes.

Thursday, after 413 students had been charged with trespassing or disorderly conduct and 343 of them had languished in Baltimore City Jail, the theater manager capitulated.

He agreed to end segregation, and the demonstrators agreed to end the demonstrations. The 343 were released from jail as their cumulative $200,000 bail was dropped. The charges stand.

One of the students who saw the movie Friday was Sandra Upshur, 18, president of the Morgan freshman class. She had been arrested twice in the demonstrations.

"It sure is peaceful now," she said as she blinked against the afternoon sun. She moved up a place in line at the box office. "But I'm glad," she added thoughtfully.

Miss Upshur is secretary of the Civic Interest Group, a local civil rights organization responsible for the demonstrations.

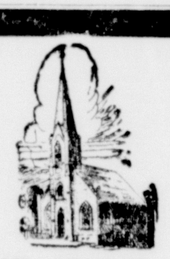

Catholic Pastor Claimed At 72

CLEVELAND (AP)—A pontifical requiem mass will be sung Monday for the Rev. Leo A. Warth 72-year - old pastor of St. Clement Catholic Church in suburban Lakewood. He died Friday in the rectory.

Father Warth became pastor of St. Clement in 1956, coming here from his pastorate at Holy Trinity Church in Avon.

Born in Massillon, the clergyman was ordained June 2, 1917. His subsequent assignments were as assistant at St. Peter's Church here, St. Joseph's in Lorain and St. Mary's in Canton. He was pastor of St. Edward's in Ashland for six years before going to Holy Trinity in 1931.

Survivors include a brother, the Rev. George Warth, assistant pastor of St. Patrick Church here, of Barberton.

Pennsylvanian To Preach Here

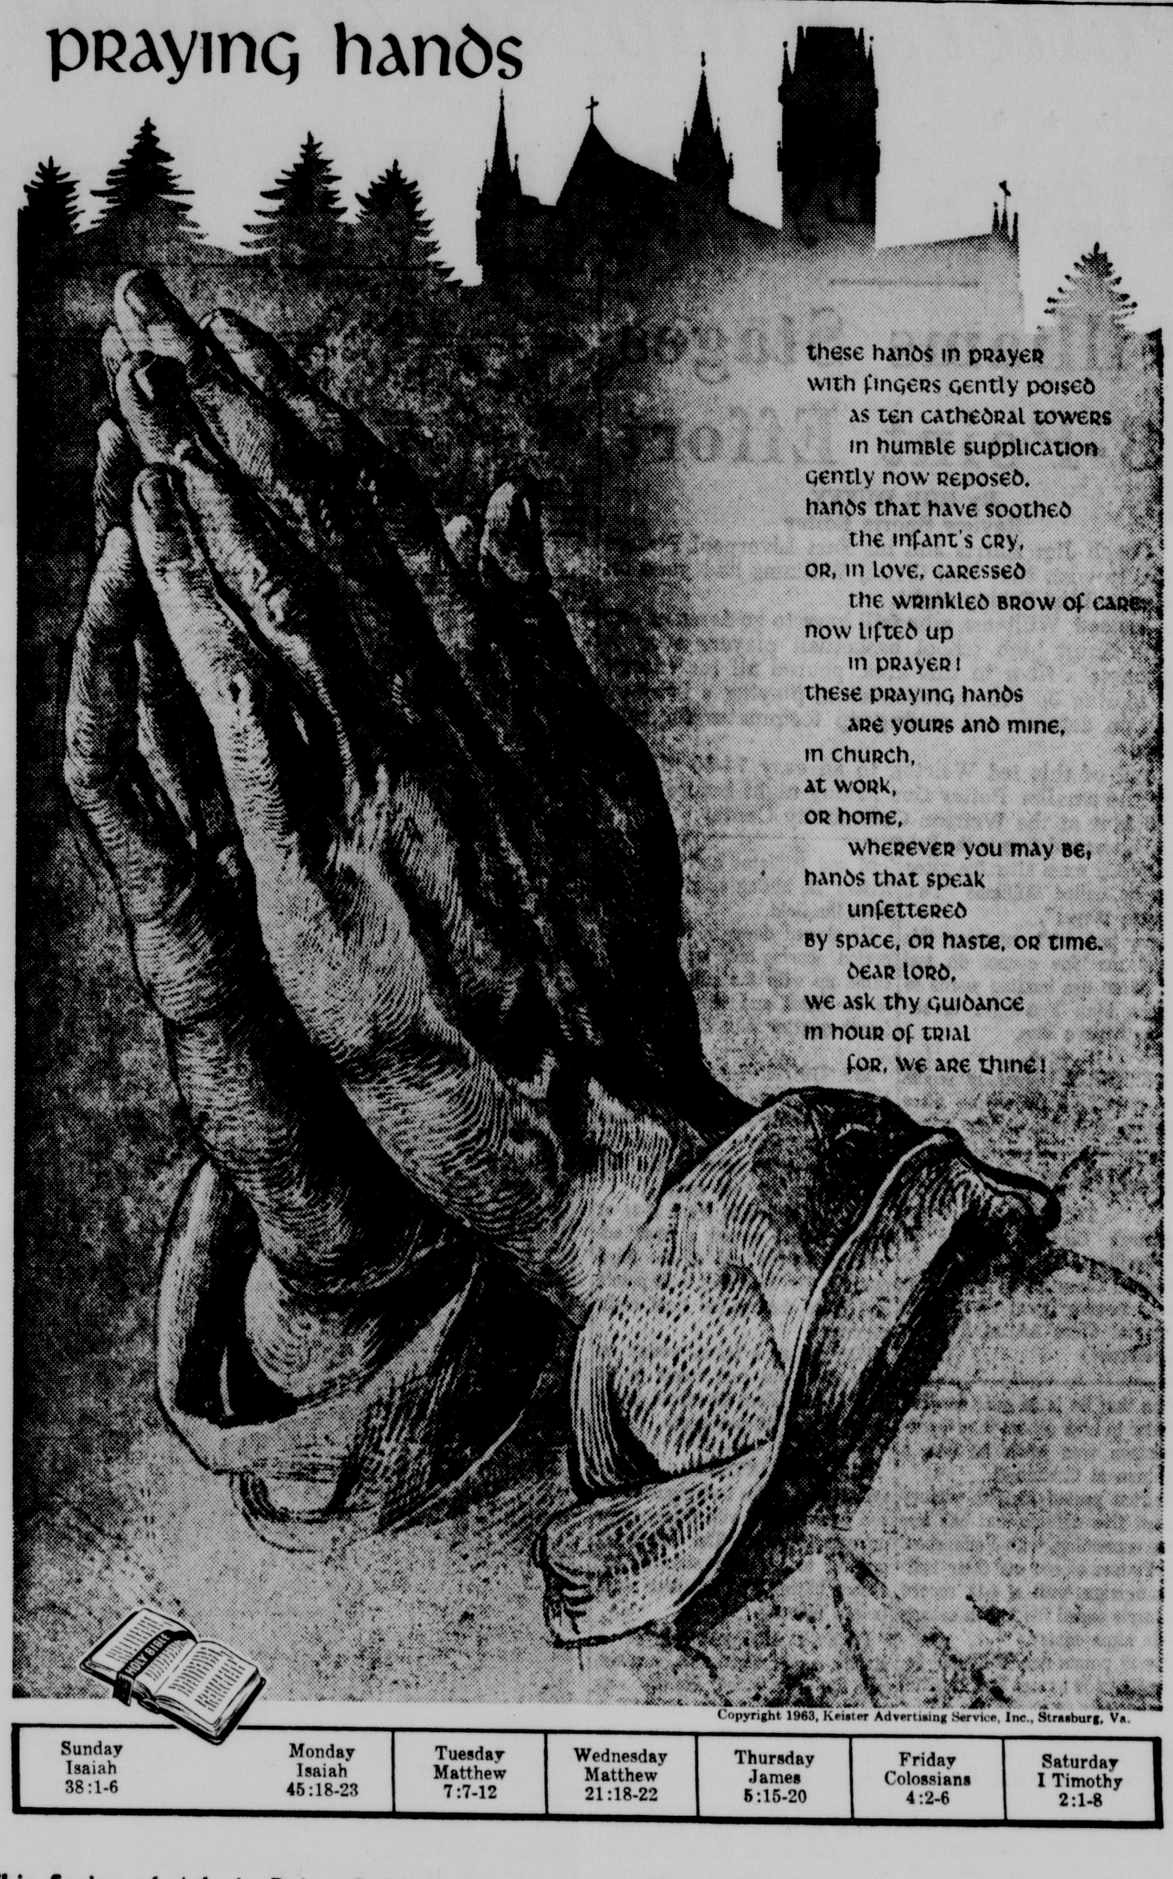

Charles Durbin, minister of the Christian Church at Chewton, Pa., will be guest speaker at the Second Church of Christ in East End at the 10:45 a. m. worship Sunday.

He and W. Earl Shaw, minister, have exchanged pulpits for the day.

Shaw has been conducting revival services at the Chewton church the past week.

Durbin is a former member of the Second Church, where he was ordained a minister as a young man. He has served the church at Chewton for a total of 32 years.

A special musical program will be presented Sunday night at 7:30. It will consist of selections by the choir, quartets and other special music.

A Word of Explanation Concerning Our Service Policy:

All appliances are installed and serviced by Smith & Phillips' factory trained service personnel both in guarantee period and afterward. Because of the many appliances Smith & Phillips has sold in recent years and the limited service personnel, we are sorry we cannot service all makes and products sold by others. By trading in your old appliance you purchase more than a new item—you purchase value, continuing service and a budgeted payment plan. All this for only a few dollars per week. See us today or call for a special evening appointment. If parking or weather is a worry, we will bring you to the store.

Tigers Eye 13th Win Tonight Against Pittsburgh Five

Williams Stages 38-Point Effort

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Coach Jim Harris and his East Liverpool Potters probably wish that Ron (Fritz) Williams had gone on a 50-mile hike Friday night.

. . . . Instead, Williams, who will have to go down as one of the finest high school basketball players ever to step on to a floor in this area, poured all his energy into scoring 38 points, rebounding, playing a bang-up game on defense and setting up teammates for easy scores.

All of this led Weirton to an easy 74-50 victory over the smaller Potter five Friday night before some 1,400 fans at the Weirton Community Center.

Harris summed it up in the Potter dressing room after the game when he called Williams "the complete player".

There just isn't anything this 6-foot-2 machine cannot do and there is no use hunting words to describe him. You have to see him to believe him.

CINCINNATI University scouts were quoted as saying after watching Williams earlier in the season that he is as good now as a junior in high school than Oscar Robertson was when he was a freshman at Cincinnati.

Weirton posted its 14th victory against five defeats and has one game remaining, with Follansbee. The Potters closed out their 1962-63 campaign with a 6-12 record as Harris ended his fourth season at his alma mater.

The 38 points ran Williams' total to 553 in 19 games and kept his average over 30 per game.

FRIDAY night saw East Liverpool's Dean Cline close out a brilliant senior year. An average player last season, Cline made great strides this campaign and wound up scoring 391 points in the 18 contests.

The 6-foot-1 cager hit for 19 against Weirton after a slow start when Williams demonstrated his defensive ability by holding Cline to only four points (two field goals) in the first half.

Cline came back to score 15 in the last two periods. He took 22 shots, but hit only seven while going five for eight at the foul line.

WILLIAMS dominated the first quarter and it seemed to be a personal battle between him and the Potters as he tied ELHS for the first period.

Weirton posted an 18-12 quarter lead and Williams had 12 of the Riders' 18, hitting on six of eight from the field.

He slowed down in the second period, scoring only seven points, came up with the same number in the third and closed out the fourth quarter with 12.

HIS SHOOTING average for the night was 50 per cent on the nose with 16 fielders in 32 attempts and the majority were from outside around the head of the key some 25 and 30 feet away.

Weirton pulled in front 37-24 at halftime and owned a 52-47 advantage at the end of the third quarter. The lead shot to 20 points and more during the final eight minutes.

Weirton, as a team, wound up with a 40 per cent mark on 30 of 74, while East Liverpool made 20 of 57 for 35 per cent.

ROGER LINVILLE, another senior playing his last regular season game along with Cline, came up with 10 points. The 5-10 guard got off to his best start of the season hitting his first three shots before missing.

Frank McComas played a steady and aggressive contest, but like the other Potters was just a victim of too much Ron Williams. McComas, a junior, hit for eight points.

Randy Stover, 6-3 junior, started in place of senior Ed Prentice who is home with flu and didn't make the trip to Weirton. Stover scored six points, all coming in the second period. Bob Forzano the other starter wound up with three.

The Potters now turn their attention to the Sectional tourney which opens at Toronto March 4. Drawings will be held Monday night at Toronto.

Tourney's Draw Slated For Tonight

By ANDY NUZZO

The regular season was ended in fine fashion Friday night for the Midland Leopards when they humbled the Monaca Indians, 55-30, before an enthusiastic crowd on the Leopard hardwood.

Hank Kuzma's dribblers finished with a 20-2 season slate, 13-1 in Section 8 play, and their next foe will be determined tonight when the WPIAL basketball committee meets in Pittsburgh to make the pairings for the 1963 play-offs to be held at the Pitt Field House.

For the first time the championship game, on Tuesday, March 24, will be held in the new Civic Arena.

Tickets for the play-offs will go on sale Monday, at noon, at the high school.

Last night it was the fine play of Bill Sallis and Norman Vanlier and a brilliant zone defense that led the Leopards to victory.

Sallis and Vanlier outscored the entire Monaca team, combining for 34 of Midland's total points. Sallis a 6-2 senior led the way with 21 markers on six field goals and nine free throws. He was the big man on the boards, as usual, for the Leopards, pulling down 17 rebounds. He also copped Section 8 scoring honors with 254 points.

Vanlier threw in five field goals and three of four charity tosses for 13 points and played an outstanding floor game. The 5-8 sophomore also grabbed 10 Leopard rebounds.

Sim Hill, 6-3 sophomore center, scored seven points and chipped in with 10 rebounds for Midland.

Monaca was sparked by junior Jim Lavrusky and sophomore Arnd Herman. Lavrusky 5-10 guard scored eight points and hauled in 10 rebounds.

Herman, a 6-0 sophomore, added seven markers to the Indian attack. He was the only player to depart from the game via the personal foul route, leaving with 2:41 left in the contest.

Midland had a fair night from the field, meshing 18 of 55 attempts for 33 per cent. Monaca did not fare too well in the shooting department. The Indians could only manage 10 baskets in 73 attempts for a meager 14 per cent.

Midland held the lead the entire game. In the first quarter the Leopards jumped out to a quick 8-2 lead. The magnificent 2-1-2 zone of Midland limited Monaca to a mere pair of free throws in the first period.

The Leopard defense caused the Indians trouble all night. Monaca rarely had position for a good shot.

In the second period, Midland added to their lead and took a 22-10 margin to the dressing room at the half.

In the third period, Midland increased its margin to 20 points, 41-21, and coasted home to victory in the final quarter.

Otto Pritchard's Indians finished with an 8-6 record in section play. They ended in a third place tie with Beaver.

This is the second time in three seasons that the Leopards have won the Section 8 toga under the guidance of Kuzma. It is also the 11th section crown for Midland in their 15 years of Class "A" competition.

Last year the only unbeaten team in Midland history was upset in the WPIAL quarter-final round by Ford City.

In the preliminary game, the Midland Jayvees closed their season on a rather dull note, losing to the Monaca subs, 43-36. Monaca won the game at the foul line. Although outscored from the field the Indian subs canned 21 of 26 free throws to grab the win.

Fred Sebastian and Art Shires led Monaca with 18 and 14 points respectively. Jim Miller sparked Midland with nine markers.

The Midland reserves closed their season with a fine 16-4 mark.

Weirton Madonna Is 52-40 Victim

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High makes its final appearance at Beacom Memorial gym tonight with Pittsburgh Central Catholic, boasting a high school All-American and a winning record, serving as the opposition.

The Tigers, who struggled past Weirton Madonna last night, 52-40, before the season's smallest turnout at Wellsville, will gun for their 13th victory against the Pittsburgh quint.

The invading Vikings test an 11-8 record against Wellsville and will flash a rangy lineup led by Fred Steiner, 6-2 guard, named to the Dell Sports All-American squad in a post-season report.

Steiner is averaging 17 points a game and his high of 29 came against North Catholic. Coach Fran Collins' Pittsburghers annexed the Gannon College holiday invitational tournament in December.

BESIDES Steiner, the starters will probably include John Fitzhenry, 6-6, at center; John Kennedy, 5-11, at the other guard, and Pete Pointkowski, 6-1, and John Gage, 6-2, at forwards.

Wellsville, which has lost only five, can present Coach Jack McDevitt with his 72nd victory against 49 defeats by tumbling Pittsburgh tonight. In addition, the regular season scoring championship will be decided.

Steve Baldwin, 6-5 center, leads the Tigers with 217 points, while Ed Nelson, 6-3 forward, is close behind with 202. Baldwin won the honors last season, tossing in 276 in only 16 games.

NINE WELLSVILLE seniors take their final bows on the home boards tonight, and improved performances should be the order. The overall play against Weirton Madonna was shabby in every respect.

Downing the Orange and Black for the final time before the Sectional AA tourney will be Baldwin and Nelson, plus Jim Powell, Forrest Harris, Andy Dash, Milt Martin, Alvin Thompson, Don Welch and Mark Leyda.

Wellsville, a one - point victor over Madonna earlier this season, suffered through one of its worst games of the season in gaining the repeat victory before a turnout of about 400.

THE TIGERS collected only four field goals in 28 shots in the entire first half. They inched ahead to a small lead in the third quarter and finished not near as badly as they started to win by a dozen points.

McDevitt shuffled his lineup consistently but never found a combination that would click. The Tigers, and also Coach Joe Krivak's Blue Dons, just didn't seem in a serious mood.

Alvin Thompson, 5-10 senior guard, came off the bench in the second quarter and stayed in the game until the end, holding Wellsville together long enough to seize the lead and remain in front in the second half.

THOMPSON flipped in 14 points for scoring honors for Wellsville, while Dash, who also helped out considerably in the second half, finished with 11. No others gave what could be called a solid performance. Thompson hustled all the way once he got into the game.

The action was slow from the very beginning. Madonna enjoyed a 9-5 lead after the first quarter and was still in front at halftime, 16-15.

In the third quarter, Wellsville connected on eight of 18 shots to outscore Madonna, 19 points to 9. The Tigers also outscored the Blue Dons in the last period, 18 to 15.

WELLSVILLE seized the lead, 19-17, with 6:20 left in the third quarter when Dash took a feed pass from Baldwin and tallied a layup.

Their shooting improved, and Dash and Thompson each collected three field goals in the quarter, while Powell and southpaw Welch each got one.

The final period found Thompson and Dash again scoring three fielders each, and Welch and Powell again hitting one.

WEIRTON MADONNA was not near as difficult to defeat as the game in January at Weirton. The Blue Dons were in foul trouble early and couldn't hit their shots with but occasional accuracy. Bob Tisch and big center Gene Trosch led Weirton with 11 points each.

Each team fired 32 per cent, but Wellsville attempted quite a few more shots. The Tigers hit 20 of 61 attempts, Madonna 15 of 47.

In the preliminary, Coach Chick McMillan's Wellsville Reserves counted Weirton Madonna as their 14th victim in winning, 62-55, behind a balanced attack.

The young Tigers, who have lost only four, hit 12 of 18 free throws to decide the game. Each squad had 25 field goals.

Tom Betz led Wellsville with 16 points, while pivot Terry Flesch hit 11 and Lester Bennett and Jeff MacLean, guards, made 10 each.

Tonight's reserve game starts at 7.

Follansbee's Late Surge Spills Panthers, 56-42

Chester kept pace for three quarters but watched Follansbee pull away in final eight minutes for a 56-42 victory Friday night on the Panthers' court.

The loss left Chester with a 6-11 record and one game remaining with Newell Tuesday afternoon.

Follansbee, already assured of a winning season, took an 11-8 first period lead but couldn't get far in front of the Panthers and had to settle for a 28-23 halftime edge.

After Follansbee went in front by 10 points in the third quarter, Chester cut the advantage to four, 37-33, by the time the period ended. Follansbee went on to outscore Chester, 19-9 in the final going.

Roger Simpson with 18 points and Bill Ewiusiak's 16 gave the visitors a 1-2 scoring punch.

Bob Myers led Chester with 13 while Jim Tridico added 12 and Kelse Johnson 10.

South Side Defeated In Final Game, 48-44

South Side made a strong effort in the last quarter but fell short in dropping its finale, 48-44, Friday night at McGuffey Joint.

The Rams closed their 1962-63 season with a 4-17 record.

Trailing 24-15 at halftime, South Side closed the gap to 39-34 after three quarters but failed to catch up in the last eight minutes.

Terry McCrerey led McGuffey with 23 points while Jerome Szatkowski poured in 20 for South Side.

United Trips Salineville In Tourney Start, 65-43

STRUTHERS — United passed its first tournament test by eliminating rival Salineville, 65-43, here Friday night in the Sectional Class A firing.

The victory puts Larry Joseph's team against Western Reserve which defeated Sebring last night. United and Western Reserve will meet next Friday at 8:50.

The Eagles took a 17-11 first quarter lead then with Bill McGranahan leading the way were on top 31-20 at halftime and 47-29 at the end of three quarters.

McGranahan had a big night, hitting 22 points to lead all scorers while Ken Votaw added 15 for the winners.

Eleven Salineville players broke into the scoring column with sophomore Mervin Jones leading the way by collecting eight.

United which entered the tourney with a 6-12 mark had defeated Salineville once in regular season play.

Wittenberg And Akron Loom As Top Clubs In Tournament

By The Associated Press

The eight survivors of opening round play in the Ohio Conference basketball tournament head into quarterfinal action tonight with Wittenberg and Akron looming more than ever as the clubs to beat.

Wittenberg, which finished the regular season unblemished in conference play (14-0), takes on Marietta in the southern division tournament at Columbus. Akron's Zips, 65-39 conquerors of Oberlin in Friday's opening round play, tangle with Heidelberg in the northern division at Akron.

The Zips, 12-2 in the league campaign, downed the Student Princes with ease earlier in the season, and Wittenberg, ranked the No. 1 small college quintet in the nation, disposed of Marietta last month with comparative ease.

In other northern division games Friday night, Hiram trounced Mount Union 82-67 and Baldwin-Wallace squeaked by the Wooster Scots 75-72. Marietta defeated Kenyon 68-66 and Denison ousted Muskingum 60-53 at Columbus.

Quarterfinal pairings at Columbus send Wittenberg against Marietta in the first game (7 p.m.) while Ohio Wesleyan meets Denison in the nightcap (10 p.m.) Hiram and Baldwin-Wallace clash in the first game at Akron (8 p.m.) and the Zips and Student Princes get under way at 10 p.m. Heidelberg drew a bye in the first round.

The teams emerging with victories tonight will meet the other survivor of their respective divisions next Friday night. The championship game is slated at Columbus March 2.

University of Cincinnati basketball fans will get their last look at four Bearcats seniors on their home floor tonight as UC plays host to Tulsa.

None of the four—Tony Yates, Tom Thacker, Larry Shingleton and Dale Heidotting—has played in a losing varsity game in Cincinnati's field house. The top-ranked Bearcats have been unbeaten on their home floor since 1957 and are bidding for their third straight NCAA championship. Since the four seniors joined the varsity, UC has won 76 games while losing six.

Funeral To Be Sunday For WVU Athletic Great

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Funeral rites will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. for Ira Errett (Rat) Rodgers, the West Virginia University athletic great who died yesterday.

The service will be at Davidson Funeral Home here. Private burial will be Monday.

Rodgers, 67, who retired from the WVU coaching staff last June after 42 years of service, was the only WVU athlete ever named to the National Football Hall of Fame. He was so honored in 1957.

He was a football All-America selection in 1919, and also starred in basketball and baseball. He had coached football, baseball and golf at the university.

Survivors include his widow and one son.

Williams Stages 38-Point Effort

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Coach Jim Harris and his East Liverpool Potters probably wish that Ron (Fritz) Williams had gone on a 50-mile hike Friday night.

....Instead, Williams, who will have to go down as one of the finest high school basketball players ever to step on to a floor in this area, poured all his energy into scoring 38 points, rebounding, playing a bang-up game on defense and setting up teammates for easy scores.

All of this led Weirton to an easy 74-50 victory over the smaller Potter five Friday night before some 1,400 fans at the Weirton Community Center.

Harris summed it up in the Potter dressing room after the game when he called Williams "the complete player".

There just isn't anything this 6-foot-2 machine cannot do and there is no use hunting words to describe him. You have to see him to believe him.

CINCINNATI University scouts were quoted as saying after watching Williams earlier in the season that he is as good now as a junior in high school than Oscar Robertson was when he was a freshman at Cincinnati.

Weirton posted its 14th victory against five defeats and has one game remaining, with Follansbee. The Potters closed out their 1962-63 campaign with a 6-12 record as Harris ended his fourth season at his alma mater.

The 38 points ran Williams' total to 553 in 19 games and kept his average over 30 per game.

FRIDAY night saw East Liverpool's Dean Cline close out a brilliant senior year. An average player last season, Cline made great strides this campaign and wound up scoring 391 points in the 18 contests.

The 6-foot-1 cager hit for 19 against Weirton after a slow start when Williams demonstrated his defensive ability by holding Cline to only four points (two field goals) in the first half.

Cline came back to score 15 in the last two periods. He took 22 shots, but hit only seven while going five for eight at the foul line.

WILLIAMS dominated the first quarter and it seemed to be a personal battle between him and the Potters as he tied ELHS for the first period.

Weirton posted an 18-12 quarter lead and Williams had 12 of the Riders' 18, hitting on six of eight from the field.

He slowed down in the second period, scoring only seven points, came up with the same number in the third and closed out the fourth quarter with 12.

HIS SHOOTING average for the night was 50 per cent on the nose with 16 fielders in 32 attempts and the majority were from outside around the head of the key some 25 and 30 feet away.

Weirton pulled in front 37-24 at halftime and owned a 52-47 advantage at the end of the third quarter. The lead shot to 20 points and more during the final eight minutes.

Weirton, as a team, wound up with a 40 per cent mark on 30 of 74, while East Liverpool made 20 of 57 for 35 per cent.

ROGER LINVILLE, another senior playing his last regular season game along with Cline, came up with 10 points. The 5-10 guard got off to his best start of the season hitting his first three shots before missing.

Frank McComas played a steady and aggressive contest, but like the other Potters was just a victim of too much Ron Williams. McComas, a junior, hit for eight points.

Randy Stover, 6-3 junior, started in place of senior Ed Prentice who is home with flu and didn't make the trip to Weirton. Stover scored six points, all coming in the second period. Bob Forzano the other starter wound up with three.

Midland Wins Final, 55-30

Tourney's Draw Slated For Tonight

By ANDY NUZZO

The regular season was ended in fine fashion Friday night for the Midland Leopards when they humbled the Monaca Indians, 55-30, before an enthusiastic crowd on the Leopard hardwood.

Hank Kuzma's dribblers finished with a 20-2 season slate, 13-1 in Section 8 play, and their next foe will be determined tonight when the WPIAL basketball committee meets in Pittsburgh to make the pairings for the 1963 play-offs to be held at the Pitt Field House.

For the first time the championship game, on Tuesday, March 24, will be held in the new Civic Arena.

Tickets for the play-offs will go on sale Monday, at noon, at the high school.

Last night it was the fine play of Bill Sallis and Norman Vanlier and a brilliant zone defense that led the Leopards to victory.

Sallis and Vanlier outscored the entire Monaca team, combining for 34 of Midland's total points. Sallis a 6-2 senior led the way with 21 markers on six field goals and nine free throws. He was the big man on the boards, as usual, for the Leopards, pulling down 17 rebounds. He also copped Section 8 scoring honors with 254 points.

Vanlier threw in five field goals and three of four charity tosses for 13 points and played an outstanding floor game. The 5-8 sophomore also grabbed 10 Leopard rebounds.

Sim Hill, 6-3 sophomore center, scored seven points and chipped in with 10 rebounds for Midland.

Monaca was sparked by junior Jim Lavrusky and sophomore Arnd Herman. Lavrusky 5-10 guard scored eight points and hauled in 10 rebounds.

Herman, a 6-0 sophomore, added seven markers to the Indian attack. He was the only player to depart from the game via the personal foul route, leaving with 2:41 left in the contest.

Midland had a fair night from the field, meshing 18 of 55 attempts for 33 per cent. Monaca did not fare too well in the shooting department. The Indians could only manage 10 baskets in 73 attempts for a meager 14 per cent.

Midland held the lead the entire game. In the first quarter the Leopards jumped out to a quick 8-2 lead. The magnificent 2-1-2 zone of Midland limited Monaca to a mere pair of free throws in the first period.

The Leopard defense caused the Indians trouble all night. Monaca rarely had position for a good shot.

In the second period, Midland added to their lead and took a 22-10 margin to the dressing room at the half.

In the third period, Midland increased its margin to 20 points, 41-21, and coasted home to victory in the final quarter.

Otto Pritchard's Indians finished with an 8-6 record in section play. They ended in a third place tie with Beaver.

This is the second time in three seasons that the Leopards have won the Section 8 toga under the guidance of Kuzma. It is also the 11th section crown for Midland in their 15 years of Class "A" competition.

Last year the only unbeaten team in Midland history was upset in the WPIAL quarter-final round by Ford City.

In the preliminary game, the Midland Jayvees closed their season on a rather dull note, losing to the Monaca subs, 43-36. Monaca won the game at the foul line. Although outscored from the field the Indian subs canned 21 of 26 free throws to grab the win.

Fred Sebastian and Art Shires led Monaca with 18 and 14 points respectively. Jim Miller sparked Midland with nine markers.

The Midland reserves closed their season with a fine 16-4 mark.

Weirton Madonna Is 52-40 Victim

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High makes its final appearance at Beacom Memorial gym tonight with Pittsburgh Central Catholic, boasting a high school All-American and a winning record, serving as the opposition.

The Tigers, who struggled past Weirton Madonna last night, 52-40, before the season's smallest turnout at Wellsville, will gun for their 13th victory against the Pittsburgh quint.

The invading Vikings test an 11-8 record against Wellsville and will flash a rangy lineup led by Fred Steiner, 6-2 guard, named to the Dell Sports All-American squad in a post-season report.

Steiner is averaging 17 points a game and his high of 29 came against North Catholic. Coach Fran Collins' Pittsburghers annexed the Gannon College holiday invitational tournament in December.

BESIDES Steiner, the starters will probably include John Fitzhenry, 6-6, at center; John Kennedy, 5-11, at the other guard, and Pete Pointkowski, 6-1, and John Gage, 6-2, at forwards.

Wellsville, which has lost only five, can present Coach Jack McDevitt with his 72nd victory against 49 defeats by tumbling Pittsburgh tonight. In addition, the regular season scoring championship will be decided.

Steve Baldwin, 6-5 center, leads the Tigers with 217 points, while Ed Nelson, 6-3 forward, is close behind with 202. Baldwin won the honors last season, tossing in 276 in only 16 games.

NINE WELLSVILLE seniors take their final bows on the home boards tonight, and improved performances should be the order. The overall play against Weirton Madonna was shabby in every respect.

Downing the Orange and Black for the final time before the Sectional AA tourney will be Baldwin and Nelson, plus Jim Powell, Forrest Harris, Andy Dash, Milt Martin, Alvin Thompson, Don Welch and Mark Leyda.

Wellsville, a one-point victor over Madonna earlier this season, suffered through one of its worst games of the season in gaining the repeat victory before a turnout of about 400.

THE TIGERS collected only four field goals in 28 shots in the entire first half. They inched ahead to a small lead in the third quarter and finished not near as badly as they started to win by a dozen points.

McDevitt shuffled his lineup consistently but never found a combination that would click. The Tigers, and also Coach Joe Krivak's Blue Dons, just didn't seem in a serious mood.

Alvin Thompson, 5-10 senior guard, came off the bench in the second quarter and stayed in the game until the end, holding Wellsville together long enough to seize the lead and remain in front in the second half.

THOMPSON flipped in 14 points for scoring honors for Wellsville, while Dash, who also helped out considerably in the second half, finished with 11. No others gave what could be called a solid performance. Thompson hustled all the way once he got into the game.

The action was slow from the very beginning. Madonna enjoyed a 9-5 lead after the first quarter and was still in front at halftime, 16-15.

In the third quarter, Wellsville connected on eight of 18 shots to outscore Madonna, 19 points to 9. The Tigers also outscored the Blue Dons in the last period, 18 to 15.

WELLSVILLE seized the lead, 19-17, with 6:20 left in the third quarter when Dash took a feed pass from Baldwin and tallied a layup.

Their shooting improved, and Dash and Thompson each collected three field goals in the quarter, while Powell and southpaw Welch each got one.

WEIRTON MADONNA was not near as difficult to defeat as the game in January at Weirton. The Blue Dons were in foul trouble early and couldn't hit their shots with but occasional accuracy. Bob Tisch and big center Gene Trosch led Weirton with 11 points each.

Each team fired 32 per cent, but Wellsville attempted quite a few more shots. The Tigers hit 20 of 61 attempts, Madonna 15 of 47.

In the preliminary, Coach Chick McMillan's Wellsville Reserves counted Weirton Madonna as their 14th victim in winning, 62-55, behind a balanced attack.

The young Tigers, who have lost only four, hit 12 of 18 free throws to decide the game. Each squad had 25 field goals.

Tom Betz led Wellsville with 16 points, while pivot Terry Flesch hit 11 and Lester Bennett and Jeff MacLean, guards, made 10 each.

Tonight's reserve game starts at 7.

Follansbee's Late Surge Spills Panthers, 56-42

Chester kept pace for three quarters but watched Follansbee pull away in final eight minutes for a 56-42 victory Friday night on the Panthers' court.

Follansbee, already assured of a winning season, took an 11-8 first period lead but couldn't get far in front of the Panthers and had to settle for a 28-23 halftime edge.

After Follansbee went in front by 10 points in the third quarter, Chester cut the advantage to four, 37-33, by the time the period ended. Follansbee went on to outscore Chester, 19-9 in the final going.

Roger Simpson with 18 points and Bill Ewiusiak's 16 gave the visitors a 1-2 scoring punch.

Bob Myers led Chester with 13 while Jim Tridico added 12 and Kelse Johnson 10.

South Side Defeated In Final Game, 48-44

South Side made a strong effort in the last quarter but fell short in dropping its finale, 48-44, Friday night at McGuffey Joint.

The Rams closed their 1962-63 season with a 4-17 record.

Trailing 24-15 at halftime, South Side closed the gap to 39-34 after three quarters but failed to catch up in the last eight minutes.

Terry McCrerey led McGuffey with 23 points while Jerome Szatkowski poured in 20 for South Side.

Wittenberg And Akron Loom As Top Clubs In Tournament

By The Associated Press

The eight survivors of opening round play in the Ohio Conference basketball tournament head into quarterfinal action tonight with Wittenberg and Akron looming more than ever as the clubs to beat.

Wittenberg, which finished the regular season unblemished in conference play (14-0), takes on Marietta in the southern division tournament at Columbus. Akron's Zips, 65-39 conquerors of Oberlin in Friday's opening round play, tangle with Heidelberg in the northern division at Akron.

The Zips, 12-2 in the league campaign, downed the Student Princes with ease earlier in the season, and Wittenberg, ranked the No. 1 small college quintet in the nation, disposed of Marietta last month with comparative ease.

In other northern division games Friday night, Hiram trounced Mount Union 82-67 and Baldwin-Wallace squeaked by the Wooster Scots 75-72. Marietta defeated Kenyon 68-66 and Denison ousted Muskingum 60-53 at Columbus.

Quarterfinal pairings at Columbus send Wittenberg against Marietta in the first game (7 p.m.) while Ohio Wesleyan meets Denison in the nightcap (10 p.m.) Hiram and Baldwin-Wallace clash in the first game at Akron (8 p.m.) and the Zips and Student Princes get under way at 10 p.m. Heidelberg drew a bye in the first round.

The teams emerging with victories tonight will meet the other survivor of their respective divisions next Friday night. The championship game is slated at Columbus March 2.

University of Cincinnati basketball fans will get their last look at four Bearcats seniors on their home floor tonight as UC plays host to Tulsa.

None of the four—Tony Yates, Tom Thacker, Larry Shingleton and Dale Heidotting—has played in a losing varsity game in Cincinnati's field house. The top-ranked Bearcats have been unbeaten on their home floor since 1957 and are bidding for their third straight NCAA championship. Since the four seniors joined the varsity, UC has won 76 games while losing six.

McGranahan's 22 Pace Attack

United Trips Salineville In Tourney Start, 65-43

STRUTHERS — United passed its first tournament test by eliminating rival Salineville, 65-43, here Friday night in the Sectional Class A firing.

The victory puts Larry Joseph's team against Western Reserve which defeated Sebring last night. United and Western Reserve will meet next Friday at 8:50.

The Eagles took a 17-11 first quarter lead then with Bill McGranahan leading the way were on top 31-20 at halftime and 47-29 at the end of three quarters.

McGranahan had a big night, hitting 22 points to lead all scorers while Ken Votaw added 15 for the winners.

Eleven Salineville players broke into the scoring column with sophomore Mervin Jones leading the way by collecting eight.

United which entered the tourney with a 6-12 mark had defeated Salineville once in regular season play.

Funeral To Be Sunday For WVU Athletic Great

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Funeral rites will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. for Ira Errett (Rat) Rodgers, the West Virginia University athletic great who died yesterday.

The service will be at Davidson Funeral Home here. Private burial will be Monday.

Rodgers, 67, who retired from the WVU coaching staff last June after 42 years of service, was the only WVU athlete ever named to the National Football Hall of Fame. He was so honored in 1957.

He was a football All-America selection in 1919, and also starred in basketball and baseball. He had coached football, baseball and golf at the university.

Survivors include his widow and one son.

Cagers Bare Attempt In Baylor Game

HOUSTON (AP) — The Southwest Conference, rocked last year by an investigation of alleged game fixing by basketball officials was jarred again today with the report that a Rice University student had been expelled for offering two players a bribe to shave points.

Two Rice basketball players, Herb Steinkamp and Dick Cramer reported the student tried to bribe them to hold the margin down to less than 14 points in the game with Baylor Tuesday night.

The university issued a brief statement Friday night that "a student has been dismissed from Rice University. He attempted to bribe two basketball players into shaving the score on the Baylor game. This was reported immediately by the players to Rice authorities."

Johnny Frankie, Rice basketball coach, said the matter has been referred to the FBI.

Athletic Director Jess Neely said "as far as I know they (the players) were approached Feb. 14 and they reported the bribe attempts to Frankie the next day." That was the day before Rice's game in Dallas with Southern Methodist last Saturday.

Frankie said the players were told:

"The point shaving in the Baylor game depended on whether we won at Dallas. If we beat SMU by 15 to 18 points, then we'd be a big favorite against Baylor here.

"He said he'd bet $40,000 and give my guards $500 apiece to slow down the Baylor game and win by less than 14 points," Frankie said.

Rice lost the SMU game at Dallas, 86-79, and beat Baylor, 74-70.

Steinkamp exceeded his Southwest Conference average of 11.9 points, scoring 22 points against both SMU and Baylor. Cramer scored three points against SMU and six against Baylor. He has been averaging 6.3 points a game as a substitute.

The investigation of alleged game fixing last year in the conference was carried on by a legislative committee.

EL Subs Lose To Weir In Last Seconds

East Liverpool's reserve team was nipped in the final seconds, 51-50, by the Weirton jayvees Friday night.

Trailing 15-7 at the end of the first period, the Potters stormed in front, 27-19, at halftime and took a 40-35 lead into the fourth quarter only to be nipped at the buzzer.

Bill Hall with 13 points and Ron Kinsey's 11 markers topped the Potters scoring while Weirton's Foley took game honors with 17.

Tiger 3-To-1 Favorite To Retain Title

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—World middleweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria battles to keep his boxing crown tonight against the challenge of the dedicated brawler he whipped to win the title—Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah.

"I'm confident I can beat him again," the 33-year-old champion declared before their 15-round nationally televised bout starting at 10 p.m., EST, in the Las Vegas Convention Center.

"If I lose, it will be my last fight," declared Fullmer, who at 31 had not been defeated in 17 fights before tangling with Tiger in San Francisco last Oct. 23. "I feel confident. If I didn't, I would not want to try it."

Odds of 3-1 favoring Tiger make him a stronger favorite than he was in the San Francisco bout when he climbed into the ring a 9-5 choice in the battle for the World Boxing Association version of the 160-pound title.

At that time, Paul Pender of Massachusetts was recognized as the champion in his home state, New York and Europe. But on Nov. 9, he was stripped of the title in all but Massachusetts for failure to defend it. So now Tiger is recognized as champion in all but the one state.

"I think this fight will be tougher than the first one," the champion commented. "Fullmer will be coming all out. He wants the title back as badly as I want to keep it."

After watching movies of the first fight, Fullmer and Marv Jenson, his manager, devised a new strategy for this 15-round bout.

"If we didn't make some changes, Gene would get beaten again," Jenson said.

Although the new plan wasn't disclosed, the ex-champion is expected to carry his hands lower and not rush into the attack as rapidly as he did last time. For it was the solid socking counterpunches from Tiger that spelled defeat before when Fullmer finished with cuts over both eyes and a bloody nose.

"I'll do the same as I did last time," said Tiger who had no movies. "I'll wait and see. If Fulmer does have something new I can meet it."

Dawson Five Takes Lead In 7th Grade

Dawson's slipped into first place in the Little Potters 7th Grade League by coming up with a 26-21 victory over Curran's while Eason's tripped Potters Bank, 23-17, Friday.

The victory gives Dawson's a 7-1 record while Potters Bank stands with a 6-2 mark.

Rick Steffen's nine points paced Dawson's while R. Hughes hit four points for Curran's.

Jackson dropped in eight points and Jones 11 to pace Eason's in its surprise win over Potters Bank. Campbell and Baker tallied six each for Potters.

In another contest, McNutt's Insurance handed First National its eighth straight loss, 27-10, with Low's eight points setting the pace. Walwrath scored five for the losers.

Al Smith, now with Baltimore, led the Chicago White Sox in home runs last season with 16.

Arizona State's Nearing Loop Crown, NCAA Spot

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Arizona State, ranked fourth in the nation and quietly eyeing all the marbles, has stormed past the last major obstacle in its path to the Western Athletic Conference basketball title and a spot in the NCAA western regional tournament.

Coach Ned Wulk's speedy Sun Devils raced past Wyoming 82-72 Friday night and all but nailed down the Conference title and the NCAA spot. The loss eliminated Wyoming from title consideration and left only Brigham Young with an outside chance of catching the team from Tempe.

The victory improved the Sun Devil conference record to 7-1—the only loss a previous upset by Wyoming—with two league games to go. They close out against New Mexico and Arizona, teams the Sun Devils have handled easily earlier this season. A victory in either secures at least a share of the top spot.

The triumph at Tempe took some of the sting out of an 88-81 upset at Wyoming earlier this season and advanced the Sun Devil season record to a sparkling 21-2.

In some of the other major games, Oregon State, an NCAA at large selection, blasted a good Southern California team 76-49 at Corvallis, Ore., homestanding Stanford strengthened its hold on the Big Six lead with a 73-69 overtime victory over UCLA while Penn and Princeton remained tied for the Ivy League lead, each with an 8-3 record. Penn edged Harvard 61-58 at Cambridge, Mass., and Princeton romped over Dartmouth 84-59 at Hanover, N.H.

Seattle pinned a 77-72 loss on Idaho on the Vandals home court while San Jose scored a 49-48 upset of West Coast Athletic Conference leader San Francisco at San Jose.

In other games, Yale whipped Columbia 83-71, Cornell bombed Brown 68-50, St. Bonaventure crushed favored Niagara 87-63, Syracuse rallied and caught Boston College 55-54, Clemson edged Virginia 52-50, Oregon beat Washington State 83-70, the Air Force edged Denver 64-61 in two overtimes and Arizona clipped New Mexico 49-46.

Yogi Berra Reverts To Status Of Rookie

By The Associated Press

Yogi Berra, who has become one of baseball's legends in his 16 seasons as all-star catcher and sometime outfielder with the New York Yankees, has reverted to rookie status.

Yogi is breaking in as first base coach for the Yankees at their spring training layout at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Actually, at $45,000 Berra is expected to do more than direct traffic at first this season.

He'll be carried on the roster as an active player, acting as the Yanks' No. 3 catcher behind Elston Howard and John Blanchard, and also as a reserve outfielder and prime left-handed pinch hitter.

But right now the rotund veteran is concentrating on his new job as coach, pointing toward the Yankees' 30 exhibition games for some handy pre-season seasoning.

"I'll try to make all my mistakes down here, before the season opens," Berra says.

"I have to learn how to help some of our faster men get that extra base on hits to the outfield . . . once I have studied the outfielders on the other clubs and know their arms and their speed in getting to the ball, I can help our guys more."

As a catcher Berra was a nonstop talker, keeping up running conversations with opposing batters, umpires, batboys and anyone else handy. As a coach, that's a habit he won't have to break. He'll always have a built-in captive audience of one—the other club's first baseman.

The Los Angeles Angels are going to try a new training aid gimmick today—instant television. A video tape recording of their workout will be made over a closed circuit and played back immediately.

Manager Bill Rigney says the system could have "intriguing possibilities for analyzing hitting or pitching form and other aspects of the game."

Also on the mechanical front, the Washington Senators stepped up their training Friday with the pitchers practicing bunts against the pitching machines and the catchers going after pop ups fired out of a bazooka-like gun.

Two of last season's most celebrated casualties, outfielder Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers and third baseman Gene Freese of the Cincinnati Reds, have reported to their camps ahead of time.

Kaline, after a run in the chilly winds at Lakeland, Fla., Friday said he felt no ill-effects from the broken collarbone that sidelined him for two months last year.

Freese, who suffered a broken right ankle in spring training a year ago, is giving the ankle a thorough testing at Tampa, Fla.

Lakers Rally To Top Celts

By The Associated Press

Los Angeles' pretenders to the throne humbled the kings from Boston again in the latest clash in the National Basketball Association's hottest vendetta.

Riding a fine shooting performance by Dick Barnett and a late spurt led by Frank Selvy, the Lakers beat the Celtics 113-105 Friday night in a game witnessed by the largest basketball crowd in Los Angeles history—15,106.

It was the Lakers' fifth victory in eight meetings between the two divisional leaders, who have grown into bitter rivals. The proud Bostonians are shooting for their fifth straight NBA championship and the upstart Lakers are convinced they're destined to end the Celts' reign in the title playoffs.

In other NBA action, the St. Louis Hawks clinched at least a tie for second place in the Western Division with a 43-point fourth quarter that gave them a 115-98 decision over the Chicago Zephyrs, the Detroit Pistons took a firmer hold on third place in the West by whipping the Syracuse Nats 126-117, and the New York Knicks zipped by San Francisco 106-93 after outscoring the Warriors 23-2 during a 6-minute span of the last quarter.

Detroit now has a 1½-game edge on San Francisco in their battle for the third and final playoff spot in the Western Division.

Barnett, an artist at the fadeaway jump shot, collected 36 points for the Lakers, while Selvy's scoring highlighted a drive of 10 straight points that won it for Los Angeles.

Crucible Pistol Team Defeated By Ambridge

The Pistol Team of Crucible Steel Co. in Midland was defeated by the Ambridge Police squad, 1,400 to 1,378, in a match Thursday night at the Midland Works range.

The loss evened Crucible's record at 3-3 in the Beaver Valley Police Revolver League.

H. A. Leonard fired 285 for Crucible, followed by J. R. Jordan, 277; W. W. Keck, 276; J. A. Turner, 272; and J. W. Graham, 268.

John Chiaverini fired 290 to lead the winners.

Cagers Bare Attempt In Baylor Game

HOUSTON (AP) — The Southwest Conference, rocked last year by an investigation of alleged game fixing by basketball officials was jarred again today with the report that a Rice University student had been expelled for offering two players a bribe to shave points.

Two Rice basketball players, Herb Steinkamp and Dick Cramer reported the student tried to bribe them to hold the margin down to less than 14 points in the game with Baylor Tuesday night.

The university issued a brief statement Friday night that "a student has been dismissed from Rice University. He attempted to bribe two basketball players into shaving the score on the Baylor game. This was reported immediately by the players to Rice authorities."

Johnny Frankie, Rice basketball coach, said the matter has been referred to the FBI.

Athletic Director Jess Neely said "as far as I know they (the players) were approached Feb. 14 and they reported the bribe attempts to Frankie the next day." That was the day before Rice's game in Dallas with Southern Methodist last Saturday.

Frankie said the players were told:

"The point shaving in the Baylor game depended on whether we won at Dallas. If we beat SMU by 15 to 18 points, then we'd be a big favorite against Baylor here.

"He said he'd bet $40,000 and give my guards $500 apiece to slow down the Baylor game and win by less than 14 points," Frankie said.

Rice lost the SMU game at Dallas, 86-79, and beat Baylor, 74-70.

Steinkamp exceeded his Southwest Conference average of 11.9 points, scoring 22 points against both SMU and Baylor. Cramer scored three points against SMU and six against Baylor. He has been averaging 6.3 points a game as a substitute.

EL Subs Lose To Weir In Last Seconds

East Liverpool's reserve team was nipped in the final seconds, 51-50, by the Weirton jayvees Friday night.

Trailing 15-7 at the end of the first period, the Potters stormed in front, 27-19, at halftime and took a 40-35 lead into the fourth quarter only to be nipped at the buzzer.

Bill Hall with 13 points and Ron Kinsey's 11 markers topped the Potters scoring while Weirton's Foley took game honors with 17.

East Eighth Grade Five Gains Finals

East Junior High advanced to the finals of the Salem Eighth grade tourney but Westgate lost a two-point decision to Salem Friday night and was eliminated.

East defeated St. Paul's of Salem, 33-32, with Jim Gooding hitting for 13 while Phil Talbott had eight and Jim Cooper seven.

The Panthers will meet Salem in the finals tonight at 7:30 with a consolation game between Westgate and St. Pauls at 6:30 at the Salem Junior High School gym.

Tiger 3-To-1 Favorite To Retain Title

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—World middleweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria battles to keep his boxing crown tonight against the challenge of the dedicated brawler he whipped to win the title—Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah.

"I'm confident I can beat him again," the 33-year-old champion declared before their 15-round nationally televised bout starting at 10 p.m., EST, in the Las Vegas Convention Center.

"If I lose, it will be my last fight," declared Fullmer, who at 31 had not been defeated in 17 fights before tangling with Tiger in San Francisco last Oct. 23. "I feel confident. If I didn't, I would not want to try it."

Odds of 3-1 favoring Tiger make him a stronger favorite than he was in the San Francisco bout when he climbed into the ring a 9-5 choice in the battle for the World Boxing Association version of the 160-pound title.

At that time, Paul Pender of Massachusetts was recognized as the champion in his home state, New York and Europe. But on Nov. 9, he was stripped of the title in all but Massachusetts for failure to defend it. So now Tiger is recognized as champion in all but the one state.

"I think this fight will be tougher than the first one," the champion commented. "Fullmer will be coming all out. He wants the title back as badly as I want to keep it."

After watching movies of the first fight, Fullmer and Marv Jenson, his manager, devised a new strategy for this 15-round bout.

"If we didn't make some changes, Gene would get beaten again," Jenson said.

Although the new plan wasn't disclosed, the ex-champion is expected to carry his hands lower and not rush into the attack as rapidly as he did last time. For it was the solid socking counterpunches from Tiger that spelled defeat before when Fullmer finished with cuts over both eyes and a bloody nose.

"I'll do the same as I did last time," said Tiger who had no movies. "I'll wait and see. If Fulmer does have something new I can meet it."

Dawson Five Takes Lead In 7th Grade

Dawson's slipped into first place in the Little Potters 7th Grade League by coming up with a 26-21 victory over Curran's while Eason's tripped Potters Bank, 23-17, Friday.

The victory gives Dawson's a 7-1 record while Potters Bank stands with a 6-2 mark.

Rick Steffen's nine points paced Dawson's while R. Hughes hit four points for Curran's.

Jackson dropped in eight points and Jones 11 to pace Eason's in its surprise win over Potters Bank. Campbell and Baker tallied six each for Potters.

In another contest, McNutt's Insurance handed First National its eighth straight loss, 27-10, with Low's eight points setting the pace. Walwrath scored five for the losers.

Al Smith, now with Baltimore, led the Chicago White Sox in home runs last season with 16.

Arizona State's Nearing Loop Crown, NCAA Spot

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Arizona State, ranked fourth in the nation and quietly eyeing all the marbles, has stormed past the last major obstacle in its path to the Western Athletic Conference basketball title and a spot in the NCAA western regional tournament.

Coach Ned Wulk's speedy Sun Devils raced past Wyoming 82-72 Friday night and all but nailed down the Conference title and the NCAA spot. The loss eliminated Wyoming from title consideration and left only Brigham Young with an outside chance of catching the team from Tempe.

The victory improved the Sun Devil conference record to 7-1—the only loss a previous upset by Wyoming—with two league games to go. They close out against New Mexico and Arizona, teams the Sun Devils have handled easily earlier this season. A victory in either secures at least a share of the top spot.

The triumph at Tempe took some of the sting out of an 88-81 upset at Wyoming earlier this season and advanced the Sun Devil season record to a sparkling 21-2.

In some of the other major games, Oregon State, an NCAA at large selection, blasted a good Southern California team 76-49 at Corvallis, Ore., homestanding Stanford strengthened its hold on the Big Six lead with a 73-69 overtime victory over UCLA while Penn and Princeton remained tied for the Ivy League lead, each with an 8-3 record. Penn edged Harvard 61-58 at Cambridge, Mass., and Princeton romped over Dartmouth 84-59 at Hanover, N.H.

Seattle pinned a 77-72 loss on Idaho on the Vandals home court while San Jose scored a 49-48 upset of West Coast Athletic Conference leader San Francisco at San Jose.

In other games, Yale whipped Columbia 83-71, Cornell bombed Brown 68-50, St. Bonaventure crushed favored Niagara 87-63, Syracuse rallied and caught Boston College 55-54, Clemson edged Virginia 52-50, Oregon beat Washington State 83-70, the Air Force edged Denver 64-61 in two overtimes and Arizona clipped New Mexico 49-46.

Yogi Berra Reverts To Status Of Rookie

By The Associated Press

Yogi Berra, who has become one of baseball's legends in his 16 seasons as all-star catcher and sometime outfielder with the New York Yankees, has reverted to rookie status.

Yogi is breaking in as first base coach for the Yankees at their spring training layout at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Actually, at $45,000 Berra is expected to do more than direct traffic at first this season.

He'll be carried on the roster as an active player, acting as the Yanks' No. 3 catcher behind Elston Howard and John Blanchard, and also as a reserve outfielder and prime left-handed pinch hitter.

But right now the rotund veteran is concentrating on his new job as coach, pointing toward the Yankees' 30 exhibition games for some handy pre-season seasoning.

"I'll try to make all my mistakes down here, before the season opens," Berra says.

"I have to learn how to help some of our faster men get that extra base on hits to the outfield . . . once I have studied the outfielders on the other clubs and know their arms and their speed in getting to the ball, I can help our guys more."

As a catcher Berra was a nonstop talker, keeping up running conversations with opposing batters, umpires, batboys and anyone else handy. As a coach, that's a habit he won't have to break. He'll always have a built-in captive audience of one—the other club's first baseman.

The Los Angeles Angels are going to try a new training aid gimmick today—instant television. A video tape recording of their workout will be made over a closed circuit and played back immediately.

Manager Bill Rigney says the system could have "intriguing possibilities for analyzing hitting or pitching form and other aspects of the game."

Also on the mechanical front, the Washington Senators stepped up their training Friday with the pitchers practicing bunts against the pitching machines and the catchers going after pop ups fired out of a bazooka-like gun.

Two of last season's most celebrated casualties, outfielder Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers and third baseman Gene Freese of the Cincinnati Reds, have reported to their camps ahead of time.

Kaline, after a run in the chilly winds at Lakeland, Fla., Friday said he felt no ill-effects from the broken collarbone that sidelined him for two months last year.

Freese, who suffered a broken right ankle in spring training a year ago, is giving the ankle a thorough testing at Tampa, Fla.

Crucible Pistol Team Defeated By Ambridge

The Pistol Team of Crucible Steel Co. in Midland was defeated by the Ambridge Police squad, 1,400 to 1,378, in a match Thursday night at the Midland Works range.

The loss evened Crucible's record at 3-3 in the Beaver Valley Police Revolver League.

H. A. Leonard fired 285 for Crucible, followed by J. R. Jordan, 277; W. W. Keck, 276; J. A. Turner, 272; and J. W. Graham, 268.

John Chiaverini fired 290 to lead the winners.

Lakers Rally To Top Celts

By The Associated Press

Los Angeles' pretenders to the throne humbled the kings from Boston again in the latest clash in the National Basketball Association's hottest vendetta.

Riding a fine shooting performance by Dick Barnett and a late spurt led by Frank Selvy, the Lakers beat the Celtics 113-105 Friday night in a game witnessed by the largest basketball crowd in Los Angeles history—15,106.

It was the Lakers' fifth victory in eight meetings between the two divisional leaders, who have grown into bitter rivals. The proud Bostonians are shooting for their fifth straight NBA championship and the upstart Lakers are convinced they're destined to end the Celts' reign in the title playoffs.

In other NBA action, the St. Louis Hawks clinched at least a tie for second place in the Western Division with a 43-point fourth quarter that gave them a 115-98 decision over the Chicago Zephyrs, the Detroit Pistons took a firmer hold on third place in the West by whipping the Syracuse Nats 126-117, and the New York Knicks zipped by San Francisco 106-93 after outscoring the Warriors 23-2 during a 6-minute span of the last quarter.

Detroit now has a 1½-game edge on San Francisco in their battle for the third and final playoff spot in the Western Division.

Barnett, an artist at the fadeaway jump shot, collected 36 points for the Lakers, while Selvy's scoring highlighted a drive of 10 straight points that won it for Los Angeles.

Schools' Tax Power Plan Facing Committee Battle

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
By Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Backers of a beleagured proposal to give school districts authority to levy income taxes may have to decide in the next week whether to fix it or forget it.

Opposition voiced before the Ohio House Taxation Committee is so strong that the two Republicans steering the bill are ready to take another look at it.

Neither Rep. Gail Porterfield, R-Knox, sponsor of the bill, nor House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, wants to give up. But whether they will sail further into the storm of protest or sound the order to abandon ship is open to conjecture.

Insists He Wants Bill Out

Despite a lot of off-the-record talk to the contrary by House members of both parties, Porterfield says he still wants to get the bill out of committee. One Democrat on the committee ventured that if the bill dies in committee it will be Republicans who kill it.

This member believes the 9 Democrats on the 23-member committee would help vote the bill out just to embarrass the majority in a floor fight which he thinks could end in a Republican split and defeat of the bill.

Both Porterfield and Cloud agree that the mechanics of the bill need some work.

But as much as Cloud likes the bill (he made an unusual appearance before the committee to support it), he is a man in a hurry and the time factor may play a part in the decision to fix or forget.

Hopes To Decide Soon

"I'm not in favor of letting (hearings) go on forever and ever," said Cloud. "In the next week we'll make a decision if we want to bring it out of committee."

However, Cloud says he isn't having any real second thoughts about the bill.

"My convictions are just as strong as they were last week, two years ago, six years ago," he said.

As now written, the bill would permit school districts to submit to the voters an income tax proposal up to 1 per cent.

According to Cloud and others interested in the measure, the idea is to shift the burden of school costs, not from the state to local government but from one local source to another.

Longsworth Luke Warm

Rep. Robert H. Longsworth, R-Carroll, head of the House Education Committee, has endorsed the bill in principle, but, like Gov. James A. Rhodes, doesn't embrace it with Cloud's enthusiasm boundaries.

Longsworth thinks the best feature of the bill is that it would benefit the so-called "bedroom community" school districts unable to share in the property tax wealth of industry outside their

But in Carroll County, said Longsworth, "a tax like this might cost more to administer than it would be worth."

What About Schools?

Do school districts want the income tax authority?

If testimony before Porterfield's taxation committee is any indication, it would seem they don't.

School representatives from many sections of Ohio have come out loud and strong against the proposal. The main objection appears to be that it fails to equalize the financial ability of districts to pay for quality education — the idea behind the state school foundation program.

But Cloud rejects as "sheer bunk" charges that the state is dodging its responsibility with this proposal.

"It has absolutely nothing to do with the foundation program," he asserted.

School and city officials also argue that a district's entrance into the income tax field, especially where cities already are levying such a tax, would touch off crippling dollar competition.

Opponents say enactment of a school income tax might cause voters to ignore a city's need for an income tax boost and reject new property tax proposals.

Cloud believes some opponents, such as the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and the Ohio Education Association, have other motives in fighting the bill.

"Mainly my judgment is that these people who organize to oppose this want a state income tax on a highly graduated basis and don't want to jeopardize their chances," he said.

As alternatives to the school income tax, the Farm Bureau has suggested an extension of the cigarette tax for capital expansion of education facilities and a one-half per cent boost in the 3 per cent sales tax for four years.

New World Marks Eyed In AAU Meet

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The burning question of just how high is up in the pole vault may be answered tonight when world record holder Pentti Nikula of Finland takes on four other 16-footers in the highlight of the National AAU indoor track and field championships in Madison Square Garden.

But if Nikula falters any of a half-dozen other stars could steal the spotlight.

They include Jim Beatty, who set the indoor record of 3:58.6 for the mile just a week ago, Valery Brumel of Russia, out to make amends for his only high jump loss to John Thomas two weeks ago, Gary Gubner of New York University, who hopes to improve on his 64-11¾ shot put record, Igor Ter-Ovanesyan of Russia, who set the indoor broad jump record of 26-10 three weeks ago; Lt. Jack Yerman of the U.S. Army, who is after the 600 record of 1:09.3, and Bill Crothers of the University of Toronto who has been planning an assault on the 2:06 1,000-yard record of Peter Snell.

Nikula, who soared 16-8¾ three weeks ago in Finland—more than five inches better than any other vaulter in history—predicts he'll go at least 16-6 and maybe hit the magic 17-foot mark.

Dave Tork of West Virginia, Rolando Cruz of Villanova, John Belitza of Maryland and Ron Morris of the Southern California Striders, 16-footers all, will argue it out with Nikula.

Pitchers Must Earn Jobs, Tebbetts Says

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts has warned the Cleveland Indian pitchers they'll have to earn their jobs this year.

"Everyone but (Dick) Donovan has to prove he can pitch," said Tebbets while watching his pitchers go through their paces Friday.

"Donovan is one guy who definitely will start. There's no problem with Dick. But after him, I'm not making any plans."

Donovan, 20-10 last season, was rated one of the top pitchers in the American League. Jim Perry picked up 12 victories, Gary Bell was 10-9, Pedro Ramos 10-12, Barry Latman 8-13 and Jim Grant 7-10.

Illinois Team Rolls 2,989 For ABC Lead

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The regular team division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament had another leader today as the 72-day tournament completed its first week.

The Homestead Restaurant team of Blue Island, Ill., soared into first with a 2,989 series Friday night, while the V. Loria & Sons team of the Bronx, N.Y., took second with 2,980.

Arco-Rex Amusement, Trenton, N.J., first on Thursday with 2,956, dropped to third.

Harry Schwarts, 44, AL Umpire, Claimed

CLEVELAND (AP) — Harry Schwarts, who rose from sandlot umpire to the American League, is dead of cancer at 44.

He died Friday in Lutheran Hospital. At his bedside was his wife, Della, who once went to work so Schwarts could spend more time learning about baseball.

A conscientous student of the game, he earned a reputation as a good umpire in the Cleveland industrial leagues. He later worked in the Sally and International leagues before moving up to the majors, a life-long ambition that he accomplished in 1960.

Boy Found Hanging In Bedroom Of Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — Michael Flachbart, 14, was found hanging Friday night from the upper bunk of a twin bunk bed in his home, police reported.

Detectives said the teen-ager's parents found their son with a tie around his neck after he failed to come to supper.

The parents were quoted as saying they sent Michael to his room after he was reprimanded about breaking his younger brother's glasses while both were wrestling.

The coroner is to rule on the cause of death.

Supporters' Decision Due

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
By Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Backers of a beleagured proposal to give school districts authority to levy income taxes may have to decide in the next week whether to fix it or forget it.

Opposition voiced before the Ohio House Taxation Committee is so strong that the two Republicans steering the bill are ready to take another look at it.

Neither Rep. Gail Porterfield, R-Knox, sponsor of the bill, nor House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, wants to give up. But whether they will sail further into the storm of protest or sound the order to abandon ship is open to conjecture.

Insists He Wants Bill Out

Despite a lot of off-the-record talk to the contrary by House members of both parties, Porterfield says he still wants to get the bill out of committee. One Democrat on the committee ventured that if the bill dies in committee it will be Republicans who kill it.

This member believes the 9 Democrats on the 23-member committee would help vote the bill out just to embarrass the majority in a floor fight which he thinks could end in a Republican split and defeat of the bill.

Both Porterfield and Cloud agree that the mechanics of the bill need some work.

But as much as Cloud likes the bill (he made an unusual appearance before the committee to support it), he is a man in a hurry and the time factor may play a part in the decision to fix or forget.

Hopes To Decide Soon

"I'm not in favor of letting (hearings) go on forever and ever," said Cloud. "In the next week we'll make a decision if we want to bring it out of committee."

However, Cloud says he isn't having any real second thoughts about the bill.

"My convictions are just as strong as they were last week, two years ago, six years ago," he said.

As now written, the bill would permit school districts to submit to the voters an income tax proposal up to 1 per cent.

According to Cloud and others interested in the measure, the idea is to shift the burden of school costs, not from the state to local government but from one local source to another.

Longsworth Luke Warm

Rep. Robert H. Longsworth, R-Carroll, head of the House Education Committee, has endorsed the bill in principle, but, like Gov. James A. Rhodes, doesn't embrace it with Cloud's enthusiasm boundaries.

Longsworth thinks the best feature of the bill is that it would benefit the so-called "bedroom community" school districts unable to share in the property tax wealth of industry outside their

But in Carroll County, said Longsworth, "a tax like this might cost more to administer than it would be worth."

What About Schools?

Do school districts want the income tax authority?

If testimony before Porterfield's taxation committee is any indication, it would seem they don't.

School representatives from many sections of Ohio have come out loud and strong against the proposal. The main objection appears to be that it fails to equalize the financial ability of districts to pay for quality education — the idea behind the state school foundation program.

But Cloud rejects as "sheer bunk" charges that the state is dodging its responsibility with this proposal.

"It has absolutely nothing to do with the foundation program," he asserted.

School and city officials also argue that a district's entrance into the income tax field, especially where cities already are levying such a tax, would touch off crippling dollar competition.

Opponents say enactment of a school income tax might cause voters to ignore a city's need for an income tax boost and reject new property tax proposals.

Cloud believes some opponents, such as the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and the Ohio Education Association, have other motives in fighting the bill.

"Mainly my judgment is that these people who organize to oppose this want a state income tax on a highly graduated basis and don't want to jeopardize their chances," he said.

As alternatives to the school income tax, the Farm Bureau has suggested an extension of the cigarette tax for capital expansion of education facilities and a one-half per cent boost in the 3 per cent sales tax for four years.

New World Marks Eyed In AAU Meet

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The burning question of just how high is up in the pole vault may be answered tonight when world record holder Pentti Nikula of Finland takes on four other 16-footers in the highlight of the National AAU indoor track and field championships in Madison Square Garden.

But if Nikula falters any of a half-dozen other stars could steal the spotlight.

They include Jim Beatty, who set the indoor record of 3:58.6 for the mile just a week ago, Valery Brumel of Russia, out to make amends for his only high jump loss to John Thomas two weeks ago, Gary Gubner of New York University, who hopes to improve on his 64-11¾ shot put record, Igor Ter-Ovanesyan of Russia, who set the indoor broad jump record of 26-10 three weeks ago; Lt. Jack Yerman of the U.S. Army, who is after the 600 record of 1:09.3, and Bill Crothers of the University of Toronto who has been planning an assault on the 2:06 1,000-yard record of Peter Snell.

Nikula, who soared 16-8¾ three weeks ago in Finland—more than five inches better than any other vaulter in history—predicts he'll go at least 16-6 and maybe hit the magic 17-foot mark.

Dave Tork of West Virginia, Rolando Cruz of Villanova, John Belitza of Maryland and Ron Morris of the Southern California Striders, 16-footers all, will argue it out with Nikula.

Pitchers Must Earn Jobs, Tebbetts Says

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts has warned the Cleveland Indian pitchers they'll have to earn their jobs this year.

"Everyone but (Dick) Donovan has to prove he can pitch," said Tebbets while watching his pitchers go through their paces Friday.

"Donovan is one guy who definitely will start. There's no problem with Dick. But after him, I'm not making any plans."

Donovan, 20-10 last season, was rated one of the top pitchers in the American League. Jim Perry picked up 12 victories. Gary Bell was 10-9; Pedro Ramos 10-12; Barry Latman 8-13 and Jim Grant 7-10.

Illinois Team Rolls 2,989 For ABC Lead

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The regular team division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament had another leader today as the 72-day tournament completed its first week.

The Homestead Restaurant team of Blue Island, Ill., soared into first with a 2,989 series Friday night, while the V. Loria & Sons team of the Bronx, N.Y., took second with 2,980.

Arco-Rex Amusement, Trenton, N.J., first on Thursday with 2,956, dropped to third.

Harry Schwarts, 44, AL Umpire, Claimed

CLEVELAND (AP) — Harry Schwarts, who rose from sandlot umpire to the American League, is dead of cancer at 44.

He died Friday in Lutheran Hospital. At his bedside was his wife, Della, who once went to work so Schwarts could spend more time learning about baseball.

A conscientous student of the game, he earned a reputation as a good umpire in the Cleveland industrial leagues. He later worked in the Sally and International leagues before moving up to the majors, a life-long ambition that he accomplished in 1960.

Boy Found Hanging In Bedroom Of Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — Michael Flachbart, 14, was found hanging Friday night from the upper bunk of a twin bunk bed in his home, police reported.

Detectives said the teen-ager's parents found their son with a tie around his neck after he failed to come to supper.

The parents were quoted as saying they sent Michael to his room after he was reprimanded about breaking his younger brother's glasses while both were wrestling.

The coroner is to rule on the cause of death.

"Hello, super? My wife thinks our apartment is a little chilly, but ha, ha - - you know how women are!"

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do when I have inadvertently ironed nylon or some other such synthetic fabric at a too-high temperature, and some of the material has melted onto my iron?

A. You can remove these deposits from the sole plate of your iron with a paste of glycerin and scouring powder. Apply the paste to the iron while it is operating at its highest setting, then remove with a soft damp cloth. Be careful not to burn yourself!

Q. How can I give some of my cloth rugs a good, general, brightening-up treatment?

A. You can do this by sprinkling some salt over the rug, letting this stand for an hour or two, then vacuuming it.

Q. How can I prevent the annoyance of discolored skin caused by my costume jewelry and bracelets?

A. By simply coating the contacting surfaces of your jewelry with some colorless fingernail polish.

Q. How can I avoid the tarnishing of some of my brass articles?

A. You can prevent danger of tarnish with a coat of clear metal lacquer. Be sure the surface is clean and free of polish before applying the lacquer. A second coat will provide even greater insurance.

Q. Is there anything at all I can do about an electric clock that has begun to buzz or whir?

A. Try turning it upside down for several hours, and this treatment often proves a good silencer.

Q. How can I remove some stubborn marks from linoleum, such as those caused by table and chair legs, rubber heels, or rust spots?

A. Make a jelly out of mild soap, and rub this carefully over the spots with a dry piece of fine steel wool. Then wipe up the soap, and rewax the spot. Or, first try wiping away the marks with some liquid floor wax.

Junior Editors Quiz on 4-H CLUBS

QUESTION: Why were 4-H clubs organized and for what do they stand?

ANSWER: "I pledge my head to clearer thinking, my heart to greater loyalty, my hands to larger service, my health to better living, for my club, my community and my country." This is the pledge 4-H members make when they join. The motto of this organization, open to both boys and girls, is "Make the Best Better." The pledge and the motto make clear what 4-H stands for.

Members learn about things by doing them and they are always trying to improve what they are doing and themselves as well. Of particular interest to 4-H members are activities which center about the home and farm. Our picture shows a few 4-H projects, but there are a great many more. Each local group or club meets at least once a month. Expert leaders help members with their various projects. Clubs hold picnics, go on hikes, organize musical groups and so on. 4-H members compete for awards in both county and state programs. The movement started through the organization of agricultural groups for boys and girls about 1900. In 1914, the Smith-Lever Act gave Federal backing to the organization. Now the idea has spread to many parts of the world.

FOR YOU TO DO: There are many 4-H projects for boys and girls who live in cities and towns as well as in country locations. You can find out more about 4-H activities by contacting your County Extension Service.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, Feb. 23, the 54th day of 1963. There are 311 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1847, Gen Zachary Taylor and his invading American army were attacked by Mexican Gen. Santa Anna in a pass 30 miles north of Saltillo. Outnumbered 3-1, Taylor's force held the pass until nightfall. Both sides claimed victory — Santa Anna exhibited captured U.S. banners, but Taylor became a national hero for making the superior Mexican force withdraw.

On this day:

In 1784, the Rhode Island General Assembly authorized the emancipation of slaves.

In 1827, Sir Walter Scott disclosed himself as the author of the Waverley Novels.

In 1905, the original Rotary Club was founded in Chicago by an attorney, Paul Harris.

In 1945, United States Marines raised the nation's flag on Mount Suribachi, Iwo Jima.

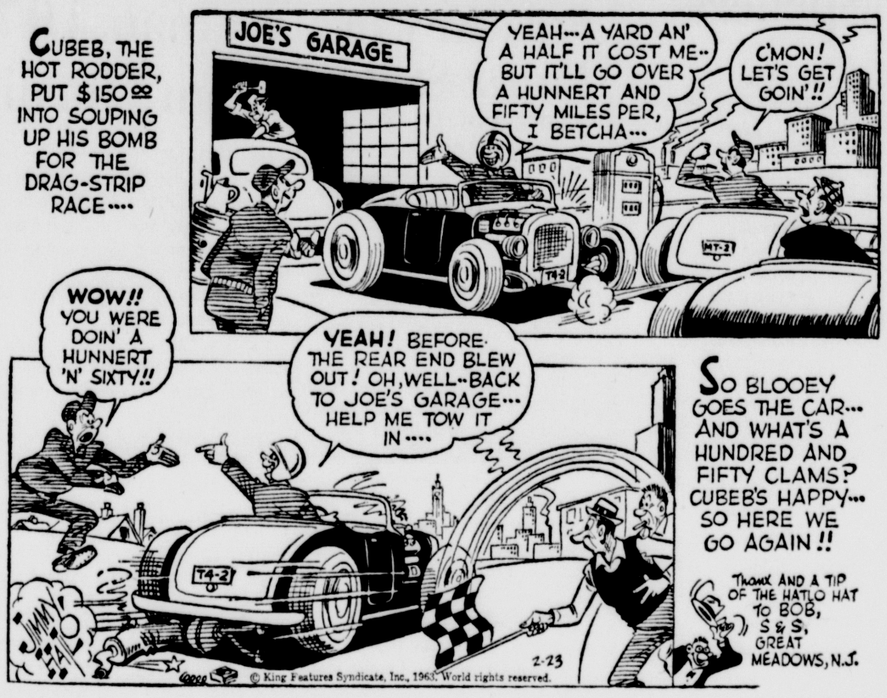

Today's birthdays:

Stage star Isabel Bigley is 35. Fashoin designer Sally Victor is 58.

Mayor Due Decision In Paper Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner has promised a decision today on his next step he will take in trying to end the 78-day blackout of the city's nine major newspapers.

A City Hall spokesman said Friday the mayor would announce his plans in the next 24 hours.

One possible course open to him is to go along with the suggestion of several non-striking newspaper unions. They urged the mayor to assume the role of impartial umpire and recommend a peace formula.

The suggestion was along the lines proposed earlier by President Kennedy, who urged all parties involved "to submit their differences to independent determination of some kind. . . ."

New York City publishers quickly accepted Kennedy's umpire idea.

But the striking printers—Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union—held back approval. They were fearful the proposal might mean compulsory arbitration, which they long have opposed.

Three non-striking unions—the New York Newspaper Guild, the Paper Handlers and the Deliverers unions—all asked Wagner to recommend a settlement, with the AFL-CIO Guild proposing next Thursday as the deadline for doing so.

In Cleveland, Ohio, where five striking unions have forced that city's two newspapers to shut down for 86 days, one of the five came to terms with publishers. Members of the Cleveland Newspaper Guild ratified new contracts Friday with the Plain Dealer and the Press & News.

But with the AFL-CIO printers, machinists and mailers still on strike, along with the independent Teamsters Union, there was no sign of immediate resumption of publication that would put 3,000 newspaper people back to work.

Guild leaders estimated the value of the wage package in the new contracts at from $9.25 to $10.40 per week over a two-year period.

Weather Chilly For Kennedys' Florida Weekend

Colder temperatures moved into the area late Friday and there was a chance of showers today.

The President plans to return to the capital Sunday night.

Kennedy Friday issued an executive order calling for annual presentation of the Medal of Freedom, highest Civil award the president can give in peacetime.

Now to be known as the Presidential Medal of Freedom, it will be given for "exceptionally meritorius contributions to the security or national interests of the United States, to world peace, or to cultural or other significant or private endeavors."

Kennedy set July 4, Independence Day, as the approximate date for announcing the annual winner.

Wichita Accepts Bid In 26th NIT Classic

NEW YORK (AP)—The prize Wichita's Wheatshockers wanted for upsetting top-ranked Cincinnati has been offered and accepted —a berth in the 26th National Invitation basketball tournament.

Wichita was named to the NIT Friday, becoming the sixth entry for the 12-team tournament which will be staged in Madison Square Garden March 14-23.

The Wheatshockers, ranked seventh nationally, pulled one of the stunners of the season last Saturday night at Wichita when they nipped Cincinnati 65-64, snapping the Bearcats' winning string at 37 games. Wichita currently has a 16-6 record with four games to play.

Ohio Science Students Get Lesson From Prize Winner

The teacher was Dr. William Shockley of Palo Alto, Calif., one of three co-winners of the 1956 Nobel Prize in physics for his role in the development of the transistor.

The students were Ohio's science scholars, from more than 200 high schools, who are attending a two-day seminar sponsored by the Ohio Science Education Association.

Shockley spoke of the transistor's development in terms of chemical bonds, insulator, energy levels and amplification.

He also made a bid for creativity in science, suggesting, in effect, you play your hunch. He said that in developing the transistor, a minute electronic amplifying device, "by studying what didn't work, we made progress toward what finally did work."

Shockley presently is head of the transistor division laboratory of the Clevite Corp., a Cleveland firm.

At a dinner honoring the students and their teachers, Sen. Stephen M. Young, D—Ohio, told the teen-agers they are a part of the generation "with the greatest opportunity for participating in space and satellite pioneering."

He said it was their generation "which has the responsibility for realizing our national objectives. Today, one of the major ways in which a nation's strength is measured is by the level of its science and technology."

Representing Ohio's scientific community was Wilbert E. Chope, president of Industrial Nucleonics and a member of the Ohio Research and Development Foundation.

Chope said Ohio is behind in science technology and "it is not a position for us to be in. Ohio needs you in science and engineering." He said too many promising scientists leave Ohio for advanced study at universities in other states. Too many do not return here, he said.

Certificates of excellence were presented to all the students.

Scheduled for today are talks by Dr. George Wharton of the Ohio State University Department of Zoology and Entomology, Dr. Rollin J. McCrory of Battelle Memorial Institute and Capt. Joseph W. Kittinger of Aero-Space Medical Research Laboratories at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton.

Train-Truck Wreck Causes Arkansas Town Evacuation

NORPHLET, Ark. (AP)—"The truck driver was beating out the fire around our house and kept saying, 'I pray to God I didn't kill anyone'."

Mrs. Grover Whitt shivered in the biting cold that enveloped this southern Arkansas oil town Friday.

"The roar of the fire was like it could spread all over you. You couldn't see the train for the fire and the yellow and black smoke pouring out of the boxcar. People were yelling and sirens were going everywhere," she said.

The scene she described was the truck-train wreck that caused the five-hour evacuation of Norphlet's 700 residents early Friday. Fifteen cars of the 74-car Missouri Pacific freight train derailed, including one box car carrying an explosive load of bulk ammonium nitrate.

The freight sliced through the truck-trailer rig, showering its load of 5,600 gallons of tractor fuel over the derailed cars. They immediately burst into flames.

"The heat was so intense," said Mrs. Whitt, whose home is just across the street from the wreck, "that the thermometer on our porch registered 60 degrees."

The true temperature at the time was 19.

The truck driver, C. J. Kassinger, 52, of El Dorado, suffered back injuries and shock. Two trainmen were injured slightly.

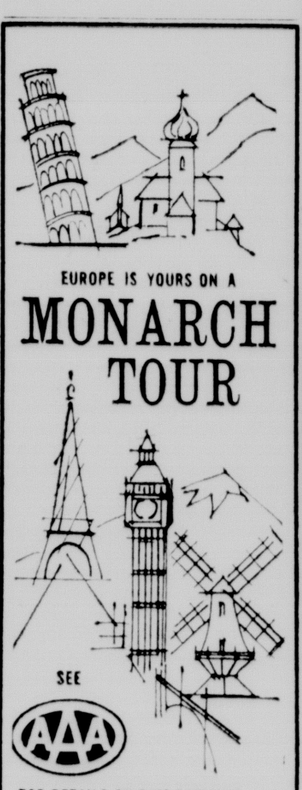

Civil Defense officials and firefighters began a door to door evacuation alert shortly after the crash.

An official of the chemical company where the box car was loaded said if the ammonium nitrate had exploded, it could have leveled everything within a half mile.

Fifty firefighters and CD men raced from house to house spreading the alarm. Somehow they overlooked the home of Mrs. Katie Loper, a 60-year-old widow, just a block and a half from the wreck.

Later Mrs. Loper went down to see what the commotion was about. She said she wasn't worried until she found the post office locked and the town deserted.

Mrs. Loper returned to her home, where she learned of the danger.

Printer Union Seen Key In Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—A management spokesman said today the Printers' Union is considered the key to resumption of publication now that the Newspaper Guild has agreed to terms.

The Guild became the first of five striking unions to end its walkout against the city's newspapers when members ratified a new contract Friday.

"We're still $10 to $12 apart with the Printers and it's hard to say how much longer this will last unless they change their position," the management spokesman said.

Talks with the Printers were to resume today. Negotiations were scheduled also with the Mailers, who are affiliated with the Printers' Union.

The management source said any settlement with the printers could set the pattern for the mailers.

In separate unit meetings Friday, Guildsmen voted to ratify contracts with the Plain Dealer and the Press and News, strike-bound for 86 days.

Guild leaders estimated the weekly wage package in the new two-year contract at $9.25 on the Press and News and $10.40 on the Plain Dealer. Pay increases over the two years total $10 for employes earning $145 a week or more; $4.50 in each year for those earning up to $70.

The new top minimum for newsmen goes to $150.25 in the first year of the contract and to $155 in the second year.

The Guild contract is retroactive to Nov. 1 and has provisions on job and union security. Part of the settlement was a letter from the publishers guaranteeing no reprisals against striking Guildsmen.

County Gets $333,278 From Railroad Taxes

Railroads paid $333,278 in property taxes to Columbiana County in 1962, it was reported today by Joseph C. Kauffman, chairman of the Railroad Community Service Committee of Cleveland.

Schools received $242,240 of these taxes and the remainder went toward the support of local governments.

In the entire state of Ohio, railroad property taxes amounted to $24,263,213 an increase of $683,972 compared with 1961. In addition, the state's rail carriers paid excise and poor relief taxes of $2,716,038 and $42,311 for the support of the Public Utilities Commission, bringing the total tax bill in Ohio to $27,021,522.

Counts Hours, Marks Days

Woman, 107 Today, Busy From Morning Till Night

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — To some outsiders, it is but a place to wait in comfort for the end—a place where life slips past unnoticed except for the counting of hours and the marking of days.

To Mrs. Josephine Werner, it is none of these things.

To Mrs. Werner, the A. Holly Patterson Home for the Aged here on Long Island is a home vibrant with life.

Today, Mrs. Werner observes her 107th birthday anniversary.

"I'm ready to go," she confesses, "but I hope I can remain as long as I can take care of myself."

She will probably be around for some time to come.

Aside from impaired hearing which has been partly corrected by a hearing aid, Mrs. Werner gets along better than many people in their 70s.

A Long Island native and childless widow, Mrs. Werner has been at the home since she turned a spry 99. Her daily routine has been altered little.

Although she feels it is unnecessary fussing, she abides by the home regulation that she take breakfast in bed. From then to bedtime, however, Mrs. Werner is on the go.

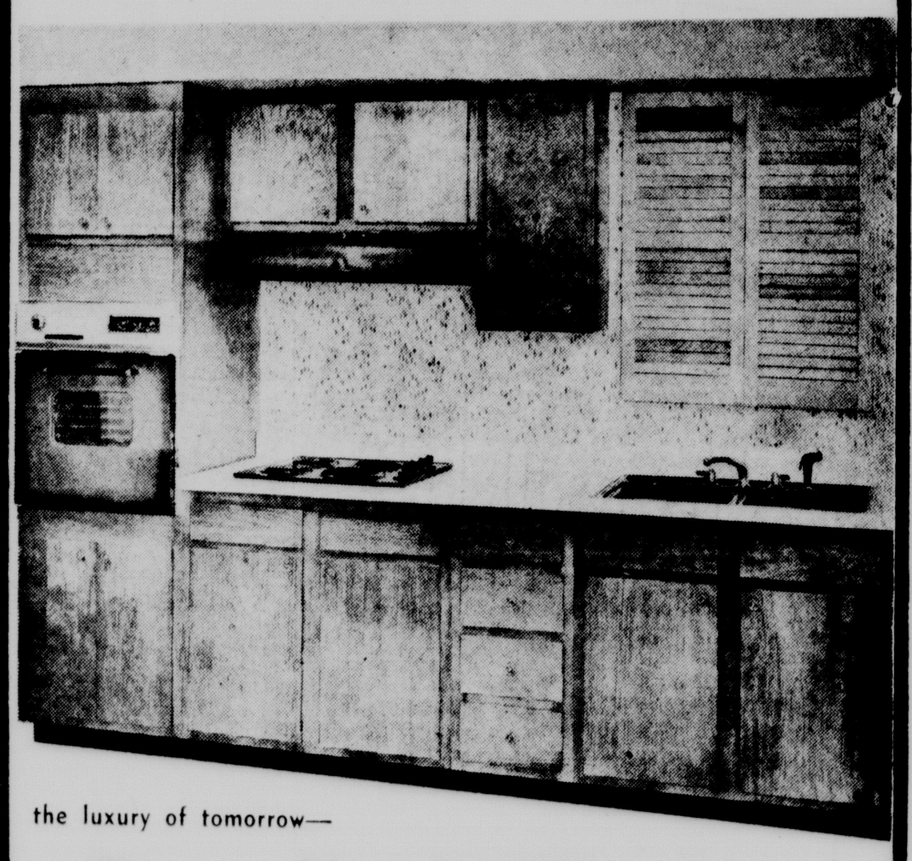

She likes to play rummy, wields a mean crochet needle and wins her share of bingo games in the home's recreation hall. Television holds little interest because "There are too many cowboy shows."

"But when it comes to news, she is right on top of it," said Edith Barrett, admitting office receptionist. "She can discuss the Cuban situation as well as anyone and she reads the papers religiously and without eyeglasses."

In World War II, Viscount Bernard Law Montgomery commanded the British Eighth Army which stopped Rommel's Afrika Corps.

Mayor Due Decision In Paper Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner has promised a decision today on his next step he will take in trying to end the 78-day blackout of the city's nine major newspapers.

A City Hall spokesman said Friday the mayor would announce his plans in the next 24 hours.

One possible course open to him is to go along with the suggestion of several non-striking newspaper unions. They urged the mayor to assume the role of impartial umpire and recommend a peace formula.

The suggestion was along the lines proposed earlier by President Kennedy, who urged all parties involved "to submit their differences to independent determination of some kind. . . ."

New York City publishers quickly accepted Kennedy's umpire idea.

But the striking printers—Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union—held back approval. They were fearful the proposal might mean compulsory arbitration, which they long have opposed.

Three non-striking unions—the New York Newspaper Guild, the Paper Handlers and the Deliverers unions—all asked Wagner to recommend a settlement, with the AFL-CIO Guild proposing next Thursday as the deadline for doing so.

In Cleveland, Ohio, where five striking unions have forced that city's two newspapers to shut down for 86 days, one of the five came to terms with publishers. Members of the Cleveland Newspaper Guild ratified new contracts Friday with the Plain Dealer and the Press & News.

But with the AFL-CIO printers, machinists and mailers still on strike, along with the independent Teamsters Union, there was no sign of immediate resumption of publication that would put 3,000 newspaper people back to work.

Guild leaders estimated the value of the wage package in the new contracts at from $9.25 to $10.40 per week over a two-year period.

Weather Chilly For Kennedys' Florida Weekend

Colder temperatures moved into the area late Friday and there was a chance of showers today.

The President plans to return to the capital Sunday night.

Kennedy Friday issued an executive order calling for annual presentation of the Medal of Freedom, highest Civil award the president can give in peacetime.

Now to be known as the Presidential Medal of Freedom, it will be given for "exceptionally meritorius contributions to the security or national interests of the United States, to world peace, or to cultural or other significant or private endeavors."

Kennedy set July 4, Independence Day, as the approximate date for announcing the annual winner.

Wichita Accepts Bid In 26th NIT Classic

NEW YORK (AP)—The prize Wichita's Wheatshockers wanted for upsetting top-ranked Cincinnati has been offered and accepted —a berth in the 26th National Invitation basketball tournament.

Wichita was named to the NIT Friday, becoming the sixth entry for the 12-team tournament which will be staged in Madison Square Garden March 14-23.

The Wheatshockers, ranked seventh nationally, pulled one of the stunners of the season last Saturday night at Wichita when they nipped Cincinnati 65-64, snapping the Bearcats' winning string at 37 games. Wichita currently has a 16-6 record with four games to play.

Ohio Science Students Get Lesson From Prize Winner

The teacher was Dr. William Shockley of Palo Alto, Calif., one of three co-winners of the 1956 Nobel Prize in physics for his role in the development of the transistor.

The students were Ohio's science scholars, from more than 200 high schools, who are attending a two-day seminar sponsored by the Ohio Science Education Association.

Shockley spoke of the transistor's development in terms of chemical bonds, insulator, energy levels and amplification.

He also made a bid for creativity in science, suggesting, in effect, you play your hunch. He said that in developing the transistor, a minute electronic amplifying device, "by studying what didn't work, we made progress toward what finally did work."

Shockley presently is head of the transistor division laboratory of the Clevite Corp., a Cleveland firm.

At a dinner honoring the students and their teachers, Sen. Stephen M. Young, D—Ohio, told the teen-agers they are a part of the generation "with the greatest opportunity for participating in space and satellite pioneering."

He said it was their generation "which has the responsibility for realizing our national objectives. Today, one of the major ways in which a nation's strength is measured is by the level of its science and technology."

Representing Ohio's scientific community was Wilbert E. Chope, president of Industrial Nucleonics and a member of the Ohio Research and Development Foundation.

Chope said Ohio is behind in science technology and "it is not a position for us to be in. Ohio needs you in science and engineering." He said too many promising scientists leave Ohio for advanced study at universities in other states. Too many do not return here, he said.

Certificates of excellence were presented to all the students.

Scheduled for today are talks by Dr. George Wharton of the Ohio State University Department of Zoology and Entomology, Dr. Rollin J. McCrory of Battelle Memorial Institute and Capt. Joseph W. Kittinger of Aero-Space Medical Research Laboratories at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton.

Train-Truck Wreck Causes Arkansas Town Evacuation

NORPHLET, Ark. (AP)—"The truck driver was beating out the fire around our house and kept saying, 'I pray to God I didn't kill anyone'."

Mrs. Grover Whitt shivered in the biting cold that enveloped this southern Arkansas oil town Friday.

"The roar of the fire was like it could spread all over you. You couldn't see the train for the fire and the yellow and black smoke pouring out of the boxcar. People were yelling and sirens were going everywhere," she said.

The scene she described was the truck-train wreck that caused the five-hour evacuation of Norphlet's 700 residents early Friday. Fifteen cars of the 74-car Missouri Pacific freight train derailed, including one box car carrying an explosive load of bulk ammonium nitrate.

The Night Churchill Almost Gave Up the War

Here is the little-known story of how "the greatest speech since the Gettysburg Address" grew out of deep despair

At breakfast—maybe our last as free men —I was glum, but Churchill ate heartily.

By STANLEY LOVELL

I have heard many fascinating stories about Sir Winston Churchill, but none is more moving than the one that was told me 20 years ago by a distinguished soldier who was closely associated with Churchill in Britain's darkest days.

At the time, I was Director of Research and Development for America's Office of Strategic Services (OSS), and the occasion was an intimate birthday luncheon for Sir John G. Dill, Chief of the British Imperial General Staff.

After liqueurs, someone said: "Sir John, I think you owe us a story. What has been the most unforgettable day of your career?"

"That is easy to select," he answered—and then went on to tell the following story.

MY CAREER appeared ended when I publicly opposed the remilitarization of the Rhineland and Chamberlain's appeasement at Munich. Then, in May, 1940, Winston Churchill came to power and picked me to head up our armed forces.

Barely three weeks later he phoned me to fly to France with him and General Ismay. We knew things were in poor shape over there. In Paris we met with the French leaders, Marshal Petain, General Weygand, and Premier Paul Reynaud. They threw the bad news at us.

Churchill asked: "Aren't you going to resist in the South of France?"

"No. It's impossible."

"But you'll keep the African colonies and fight from there, won't you?"

"No. We surrender them."

"But the fleet. Darlan will put to sea and deliver it to us—that will be saved?"

"No. It's complete surrender to Hitler. After the way you British abandoned us by running home at Dunkirk, you left us no other choice."

"So France is deserting us completely!" Churchill exclaimed.

"Just as you did to us," answered Petain.

The Prime Minister rose. We were driven to our plane and flown back to London. Not a single word was spoken on the return flight, and I was too deeply upset to care much if our escort of Hurricanes showed up or not.

"I'm all alone tonight," Churchill said to me. "Come keep me company at 10 Downing Street." It was late, and we washed a sandwich down with some brandy and soda.

"Sir John," he said as he walked about the room, "I have no choice but to address Parliament in the morning. I'll have to tell them and the nation that France has gone over to Hitler, lock, stock, and barrel. You and I know it's impossible to defend this island against the full force of the Nazis. It's Napoleon all over again, but Napoleon never had the German air force, and we have few guns and less ammunition. This may be the last night of the British Empire—it may be."

I could have wept for him and for Britain. At last he said: "There are two things we can do, Sir John. Write the speech that will actually ask Hitler for terms of surrender—or go to bed and sleep on it. I propose to sleep. Good night, Sir John. My man will show you to your bedroom. See you at breakfast."

He may have slept—he took a part bottle of brandy with him—but I know I didn't. The end of the British Empire was coming tomorrow!

AT BREAKFAST—perhaps our last as a free people—I was sober and glum. Winston Churchill ate everything set before him. Finally, he pushed his chair away at an angle and said:

"Sir John, I have to tell Parliament the bad news—I can't avoid that, but I do not have to suggest negotiating with those Nazi madmen. Yes, France has fallen, and the U. S. is pacifist and won't help us, but, all alone, we'll fight 'em on the beaches, we'll fight 'em at the hedgerows, we'll fight 'em on our village greens!" He paused. "By heaven, that's good, Sir John."

He pulled a pad of paper out of his breakfast jacket pocket and started writing down the greatest speech since the Gettysburg Address. That, gentlemen, was my most unforgettable day—a day on which the freedom of mankind had balanced on one man's courage.

Scrambled Shops By Clarence Biers

Answers:

1. Candy; 2. toys; 3. dance studio; 4. furniture; 5. gifts; 6. music; 7. tailor; 8. barber; 9. florist.

Riddle

What is the longest word in the English language?

Answer: The one following the statement, "And now a word from our sponsor."

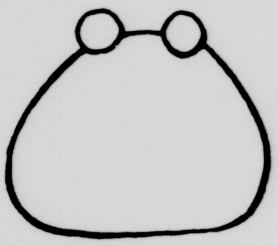

"Whoever's There, Come on Over!"

By Bill Barton

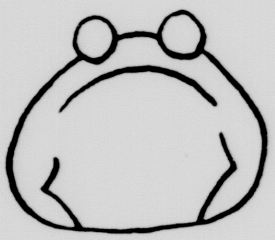

Here is a new way to play Blind-Man's Buff. The blindfolded Blind Man stands in the middle of the room or yard. He holds out his hand with the palm down and calls, "Whoever's there, come on over!" The players then steal forward and tag his palm with an index finger. If the Blind Man closes his hand around a finger, that player is caught and becomes the next Blind Man—if the first Blind Man, by feeling his face, can guess his name!

My Effervescent Adolescent

I can still recall my ecstatic "ah!"
The first time she smiled and called me "Ma."
I clearly hear how, at two or three,
She used to say "Mommy Dear" to me,
And many's the time—I remember them well—
When she'd hug me and say, "Gee, Mom, you're swell!"
But now it's all changed, and somehow or other
The best I rate these days is just, "REALLY, MOTHER!"

—Gerry Richelson

A young doctor had built up a lucrative practice in one of those balmy Southern settlements especially constructed for the elderly. Part of his success was his enthusiasm, which was amply evident as he described to a white-haired lady a new remedy he had.

"This treatment," he said, "is wonderful! You'll feel like you did long ago—and you'll look 10 years younger."

For a moment the elderly lady brightened, but then a worried look crossed her face. "Oh, dear," she moaned, "it won't affect my pension, will it?"

"Oh," he explained, flicking it back on again, "I didn't want to miss anything!"

An Expert in Psychology Tells:

What I'm Teaching My Children About Marriage

Youngsters should learn about the joys and pitfalls of marriage from the people who love them most—their parents

By ROBERT D. WEITZ, Ph.D.

Consulting psychologist in private practice; former Chief Psychologist, U. S. Public Health Service, Midwestern Medical Center, St. Louis

as told to Lester and Irene David

ARE YOU GIVING your children vital lessons in marriage?

Well, you should be. After 23 years as a consulting psychologist and marriage counselor, I can say this: there would be far fewer divorces if parents devoted as much time and attention to marital instruction for their children as they do to piano and dancing lessons.

In our house, my wife and I have given marital training a high priority in the raising of our three children. We regard it as crucial to the development of a young person as cultural or career guidance. After all, a good marriage makes the difference between a happy, fruitful life and a barren, perhaps even a miserable, one.

In the storybooks, the prince and princess marry and live happily ever after. In real life, however, one cannot take that "happily-ever-after" part for granted. I have explained to my children that:

"In the first place, you must find the right prince or princess, or the applecart is upset right there.

"And secondly, happy marriages don't just happen. They must be worked at all the time."

Those two statements are the heart of my "home-marriage course." They are so significant that I hope you will go back and read them once more. Now, before I go into the all-important specifics, I should make a few general things clear.

Marriage instruction, of course, cannot—and certainly should not—be as formal as violin lessons or speech therapy. We don't really hold classes at our house! We simply talk casually at odd hours about the basic elements in boy-girl and man-woman relationships, about emotions, self-understanding, life goals, and the very practical, sensible things that make up a successful marriage.

The dinner table is an ideal place for these discussions and so is the living room when the family gathers in the evening. If you do this in your home, I can predict that the questions will fly so fast that the youngsters will forget all about tv.

At what age should parents begin to train their children for marriage? It's never too early to start; some of the principles can be instilled at any age. But talks about dating and choosing a mate should wait until the young people are old enough to be interested in them.

What, exactly, am I teaching my children about marriage? Here are the main points my wife and I stress in our informal conversations with our daughter Betty, 15, and our two sons, Steven, 13, and William, 17:

Shop carefully for a wife or husband

I put it to Betty this way: "You wouldn't dream of buying the first dress you saw on a rack that appealed to you. You would look over the selection carefully to see if there was something even better. If nothing turned up, you would have no hesitation trying elsewhere. Is it wise to be less particular when choosing a life partner?"

And yet countless girls and boys settle for the first person they are attracted to. If they are lucky, the partner will turn out well. More often, however, that "first item on the rack" isn't any special bargain at all.

"To select a mate wisely," I tell Betty and the and this time slowly relax, letting the forehead muscles go negative for a few minutes. Now lift the eyebrows again, just enough to feel slight tension across the forehead. Hold it, then slowly relax the tension completely, continuing to let go for 10 or 15 minutes.

Next, frown strongly by drawing your eyebrows together (Fig. 6) and note the tension between and around your brows. Quickly relax! Frown again, fairly strongly, and then slowly relax the tension. Frown again, but merely enough to feel the tension slightly. Relax, go to zero, and remain negative for 10 to 15 minutes.

Finally, close your eyes tightly and continue to squeeze them together for a moment (Fig. 7), noting tension in both lids and around the eyes. Quickly relax! Repeat the movement but with somewhat less tension, then slowly relax. Next, with eyes still shut, merely imagine that you are closing the lids tightly, and feel the very slight tensions in the same places as during harder contraction. Then relax completely for 15 to 25 minutes. Total time: 45 to 60 minutes.

3rd DAY: Several sets of muscles move your eyes or hold them in a steady gaze. They work every waking moment unless you deliberately relax. Today you will learn to relax them. First, with both eyes closed, imagine looking as far to the right as you can. Then imagine looking to the far left. Repeat this right and left movement twice more (in your imagination). As you "look" right and left, note any tension felt to the right or to the left of each eyeball. Next, with your eyes wide open, look to the right (Fig. 8), then to the left (Fig. 9), and repeat the movement both ways twice more. Again, did you detect the slight tension at the sides of your eyeballs as muscles pulled them in the direction you were looking? Such tensions occur thousands of times each day. Finally, let your gaze return to front-and-center and, looking at nothing in particular, relax all your eye muscles to negative.

Next, close the eyes and imagine looking up at the ceiling, then down at the ground. Repeat twice. You are now using different muscles. One set pulls the eyes up, another pulls them down. As muscles pull, they shorten, becoming tense. Note this tenseness, then let your gaze return to a central point, and relax.

Finally, with the eyes closed, imagine that you are looking straight across the room at a picture on the wall. As you "look" at the picture, try to note tensions present in the eye muscles that are focusing on that scene, then relax your eyes. Repeat the same procedure: "see" the picture in your imagination, then relax and go to zero. Total time: 45 to 60 minutes.

4th DAY: Today, read these instructions, then begin with closed eyes. Start by imagining that you are on a porch. The house across the street has a flagpole at its roof peak and a big front window. Imagine that you look down the street to the right and see a man approaching (Fig. 10). Watch him as he passes before you and goes to the left until he is out of sight. Can you feel the same tensions as when you turned your open eyes from right to left? They are there!

Next, imagine seeing a sparrow in the street before you. Suddenly, it flies to the top of the flagpole on the house opposite. "Watch" it alight for a moment, then glide back down to the street at your feet. Again your eyes will have corresponding tensions, first in the upper, then in the lower eye muscles. Relax them! Stay at zero for a few minutes.

Finally, imagine seeing a little girl in the window of the house opposite. Note the very slight tensions around your eyeballs as you focus on her. Suddenly, stop watching and let your eyes go to zero. See if you note a tiny difference. Repeat several times. When you learn to relax your eye muscles (this may take long practice), all mental pictures tend to fade out for short intervals, and you may fall asleep. Total time: 45 to 60 minutes.

5th DAY: Today you locate tensions in your cheeks, lips, and jaws; these are some of the tensions that help you to speak. First, smile broadly (Fig. 12). You should notice tension all over the cheeks, especially above the cheekbones. Quickly relax! Now half-smile with half as much tension.

Slowly relax. Next, faintly smile so as to create the slightest possible tension in your cheeks. Relax again. Continue to zero for a few minutes.

Next, pucker the lips strongly as if preparing to whistle. Note the pronounced tension in them (Fig. 13). Quickly relax! Pucker again with less tension and slowly relax. Now imagine you are whistling, and try to note the slight tension in your lips. Relax to zero again and remain negative for a short time.

Finally, close your jaws very firmly until you feel tension in the muscles at the angles of the jaw in front of each ear lobe. Quickly relax! Now close them a bit less vigorously and slowly relax. Next, close them with only enough pressure to develop a slight tension. Then quickly relax to zero and remain there to the end of the period. Time: 45 to 60 minutes.

6th DAY: This lesson introduces the principal muscles used in speaking. With head comfortably erect, eyes closed, push your tongue forward against your front teeth (Fig. 14) and note tension in the tongue muscle. Quickly relax! Repeat and relax slowly, going to zero for several minutes. Next, pull or roll your tongue back in the mouth (Fig. 15) and note tension at the base of the tongue and floor of the mouth. Quickly relax and continue at zero for several minutes.

Second, count aloud slowly and distinctly from one to ten, noting the various tensions that come and go in your tongue, lips, cheeks, and jaw. Slowly say, "One," noting the ebb and flow of tensions required for that single word. Quickly relax! Say, "Two," then relax. Say, "Thu-ree, fo-wer, fi-vuh," and on up through "tennnn," relaxing after each word.

Tensions are also to be felt where muscles contract in the throat and larynx, breathing muscles, chest, and abdomen, all of which may be used in speech. Wherever you feel contractions—and search for them diligently—relax them, letting them go to zero. When you perfect this skill, you may be able to rid yourself of persistent tunes or jingles that run through your head, or banish the internal talk that runs interminably through the minds of most persons. This may be done just by relaxing the speech muscles, the lips, and the tongue.

SUMMARY: Excessive tension is a habit. Your goal is to substitute another habit, that of relaxing. You can do this if you practice. You have learned 12 sets of instructions. You should practice each set for one week, one hour a day. Break the hour up into 15-minute sessions if necessary. Every time you practice, it helps.

On the 3rd and 6th day of your practice week, instead of tensing and relaxing, sit down and immediately let your entire body go to zero. Stay there, without any voluntary tension, for 30 minutes or longer.

At first, as you sit, your mind will wander, fuss, and fume, and perhaps suggest that you are wasting your time. Sit it out. Tension is doing, which involves the contraction of a muscle. Relaxation is not doing, which involves the lengthening of a muscle. By not doing, your muscles learn to relax; thus the nervous system relaxes, too, and nature takes over to heal and invigorate.

You now know the scientific fundamentals of relaxation. The method is easy. Use it to erect a bulwark against personal illness and inefficiency. The cost is a fragment of time and a jot of your will power.

On the 3rd and 6th day of your practice week, instead of tensing and relaxing, sit down and immediately let your entire body go to zero. Stay there, without any voluntary tension, for 30 minutes or longer.

At first, as you sit, your mind will wander, fuss, and fume, and perhaps suggest that you are wasting your time. Sit it out. Tension is doing, which involves the contraction of a muscle. Relaxation is not doing, which involves the lengthening of a muscle. By not doing, your muscles learn to relax; thus the nervous system relaxes, too, and nature takes over to heal and invigorate.

You now know the scientific fundamentals of relaxation. The method is easy. Use it to erect a bulwark against personal illness and inefficiency. The cost is a fragment of time and a jot of your will power.

The reward can be beyond description.

HOW TO RELAX EVEN WHEN YOU'RE BUSY

In this second part of our two-week course in tension control, you'll learn how to get more done—by taking it easier

By CURTIS MITCHELL

President of the Association for Control of Tension

THE THOUGHT is preposterous, even revolutionary. How in the world can you do more by doing less?

The science of the body provides the answer. By relaxing, you unlock tensions that inhibit and hamper. By relaxing, you work better and play happier. And you feel like a million. So take it easier, science says, and get more done.

You can relax in two ways. You can relax your entire body all at once during your day's quiet time, according to principles taught in the first part of our two-week course (FAMILY WEEKLY, Feb. 17, 1963). Or you can relax a part of your body at any time, using the same principles of locating a tightness in a muscle and releasing it. We call this last method Differential Relaxation, and busy people love it. It has two goals.

First, it seeks to eliminate tension in muscles that are not really required to do the job you are undertaking.

Second, it seeks to reduce tension in muscles that must be used in your work.

Science has proved that you can work and relax at the same time. In one famous experiment, a group of girls sat on stools, legs hanging free, as they read magazines. Electrical instruments measured the amount of agitation they developed in their leg muscles. Later, after they had been taught to relax differentially, they were subjected to the same experiment. This time, the instruments measured a much lower degree of tension. The girls were saving energy they had wasted before; they were using only enough energy to do the job of reading.

Moving your eyes along a line of print employs certain eye muscles. No need to twist your legs about a chair, to frown, or to gasp. You can learn to eliminate such tensions.

Train yourself and save yourself. Do this during your working day, and you will be fresher at night, readier to eat a good meal, and able to sleep more soundly.

These rules will help:

1. As you tackle a job, tell yourself, "I'm going to use only the muscles I must use."

2. Tell yourself, "I'm going to use only enough strength (contraction) to do what I must do."

3. After you have started, let your mind "scan" your body to see if muscles, besides those you need, have tightened. After a few trials, you will be able to do this in a split second. Typical lurking places for contraband tensions are the neck and shoulders, jaw and abdomen. If you discover unneeded contractions, do away with them. And get on with your work.

4. Ask yourself if your working muscles are tighter or harder than need be. If so, taper off; seek a balance between whatever expenditure of energy is essential to get the job done and the least amount that you must apply to it.

TRY THESE RULES for a few weeks and note the results. Most students of relaxing slip into the habit of scanning their bodies at various times during the day, noting tensions that exist in muscles that are not needed and relaxing them. At first, this makes some persons uncomfortable, so accustomed have they grown to burning up energy. But when they learn to throttle back, they discover they are working faster, with better control, and enjoying it more.

It seems preposterous that you can take it easier and get more done. But every day of their lives, thousands of persons are demonstrating that this is true and using it to build successful careers and homes. Differential Relaxation really works—in the kitchen or at the movies, behind the wheel or behind a desk.

Try it and be invigorated.

Instructions for Practice Sessions

SECOND WEEK—

General and Every Day: Last week you were taught to relax several important muscle groups. This week you will learn to relax other groups until you can detect and release tensions in the 15 most important segments of your body.

Happily, relaxation spreads from one muscle to another. Relax the abdominal wall, and it spreads to the stomach and other internal organs. Relax any muscle, and others nearby relax.

1st DAY: Your assignment is to locate normal tensions to find unsuspected useless or extreme tensions, then to relax them. In every lesson, keep the eyes closed except when you must read instructions.

Today you study neck muscles. Take the basic position, sitting in your chair so that your back is supported, feet either flat or resting on heels. Close the eyes, rest forearms on the arms of your chair, and drop the head forward (Fig. 1). Rest quietly for five minutes, estimating the time.

Now raise the head slowly until it is erect and in the position it usually occupies when you work (Fig. 2). As you raise it, you should feel a tightening of muscles in the back of the neck. Quickly relax and let the head fall forward again. Allow the back-of-the-neck muscles to go to zero.

Next, raise the head slightly till it is only half-erect and note the tension in the back of the neck. Quickly relax and go to zero.

Finally, with head drooping, imagine that you are pulling it upright and holding it there for a moment; then relax as before. Did you feel the very slight tension and relaxation of muscles at the back of your neck? Continue to relax for 10 or 15 minutes.

Next, start with the head erect and follow the same procedure while bending the head to the right (Fig. 3). The first bending movement is vigorous, the second slight, and the third imaginary. Bending to the right, you should note tensions in the right side of the neck as those muscles contract. Relax them and go to zero. Then bend the head to the left (Fig. 4) and repeat.

Finally, let the head droop forward and relax the whole body, with all neck muscles at zero, for at least 10 minutes. Time: 45 to 60 minutes.

FIG. 5

2nd DAY: Today's subjects are the muscles of your forehead and eyelids. Many persons use these muscles so much that they waste energy and distort their features. Take the basic position and rest for five minutes, guessing at the time.

Now raise your eyebrows as high as you can (Fig. 5) so that the forehead is wrinkled. Notice the tension all across the forehead. Quickly relax. Lift the eyebrows again, noting the tension, boys, "it's essential to have a broad social experience in your early years. Get to know many other boys and girls—and study and compare them."

Keep yourself mobile romantically

In my marriage counseling, I have discovered a significant fact about steady dating: it's not the "big wheel" at school—the successful student or athlete—who generally goes steady. Far more often, the regular dater turns out to be an insecure youngster who ties up with a similar person.

I believe this is most revealing. Young people who don't think they are as good as the others are afraid of facing the possibility of datelessness. But more assured boys and girls are confident of their ability to attract a date when one is needed.

There is an important lesson here to be learned by parents. Instill as much confidence as you can in a youngster. Praise him often so that he'll get the idea he's pretty good. Encourage him to become important in some area where his talents can stand out.

Boys—learn to cook

The man who acquires a few household skills makes a better husband. Unlike too many men, he won't make the mistake of underestimating a wife's job at home. He'll never say those fighting words: "But what do you do all day long?" He'll know.

The attitude that care of the home and children is solely a wife's job can trigger serious problems. A man who feels this way overburdens his wife, who is apt to become unhappy and even bitter, especially if she sees other husbands pitching in.

Girls—learn arithmetic

Bury forever the notion that a wife who "simply has no head for figures" is cute. In these days of complex budgeting and marketing, a wife must be accurate in her mathematics. Few things irritate a man more than a scatterbrain who goes shopping with a $20 bill and returns with the wrong change!

I also advise my daughter to learn as much science as she can, and not merely so she can understand the space age. She will need it—and I am perfectly serious—to cope with the complicated appliances now on the market and the many kinds of synthetic fabrics which must be washed and dried according to instructions or they can be ruined. And, of course, she also must know the scientific aspects of nutrition.

Don't delay marriage because you're having too much fun

Girls, especially, must be aware of this pitfall. "Oh," they may say, "I don't want to tie myself down. Life's too exciting." Getting married too soon can be a great mistake—but I've also seen many lovely girls who kept on having fun until the parade passed them by. They ended up as attractive but lonely spinsters.

"You must be aware of the right time to wed," I tell Betty, "as well as the wrong time."

Make sure your personality traits mesh

One evening, the talk turned to the kinds of people with whom we can best get along. I stressed that since marriage means living with another human being day in and year out, it's crucial to pay the closest attention to the types of behavior or personal characteristics that irritate you and would make a marriage unendurable.

I made these points:

If both of you like to talk and neither likes to listen, trouble almost surely will develop. A talker needs a listener, at least some of the time.

If you are unhappy unless you are with lots of people all the time and going places, while the other person likes nothing better than to spend quiet evenings at home listening to the hi-fi—think twice.

If you are quick and bright, and he or she likes to absorb ideas more slowly, ask yourself: are you impatient with people who aren't as sharp? Do they irritate you, and do you tend to belittle them? If so, you'll be smart to pick someone whose plodding mind won't annoy you.

An engagement is not a marriage—break it if you must

Many young people, and parents, too, seem to feel that a broken engagement is some sort of disgrace. It's not. An engagement is neither final nor binding, and a broken one merely means that the parties involved have decided, upon the basis of a trial period, that a marriage would not work.

"Never feel that you must go ahead with a marriage if you discover something that will make a successful union impossible," I tell my children.

Naturally, this does not mean that you should enter into an engagement lightly or break one for trivial reasons. Furthermore, if a girl has a string of broken engagements in her past, it's an indication that something in her personality needs straightening out.

She may have been so indulged by her parents that she isn't ready to accept a relationship in which she must give as well as receive. She needs counseling before she can hope to have a truly successful married life.

Don't feel you have to "tell all" to your mate

At home we haven't gone into this except in briefest form, but if the question ever should arise, I would say this:

There needn't be any "confessions" to your wife, husband, or engagement partner. Whatever has happened before you met doesn't concern him or her. It's your business and yours alone! But if your secret can affect your marriage or children, you should tell. This would include any serious chronic ailments, a suspected tendency toward certain diseases, a prior marriage, or large debts.

What is most important, however, is not what lies in your past but what you are now and what you will become as a wife, husband, or parent.

Don't let your husband outgrow you

This is a serious danger to a woman. A man, by leaving home daily to go to work, almost automatically grows. He meets people, sees the world in action, and develops socially and intellectually. His wife, however, is left home with the babies, and her horizons may not expand. If all she learns is the latest neighborhood gossip, then there is a good chance she will be shut out of her husband's expanding world.

To prevent this drifting apart, a wife should participate in community activities. She should take adult-education courses at night while her husband

IS THERE SUCH A THING AS A SPECIAL LAXATIVE FOR WOMEN?

So many women are asking this important question.

The answer is—yes. A remarkable new medical discovery called Dioctyl Sodium Sulfosuccinate has now made possible a special new laxative for a woman's sensitive system. We call it Correctol®.

Correctol works two ways. First, its miracle ingredient takes advantage of the natural moisture in your system. Second, its mild laxative acts gently but most effectively. Working together, Correctol's two active ingredients give a woman more natural relief than any ordinary laxative can.

Marriage

minds the house. She should make it her business to read, maintain a high level of interest in her husband's business life, and encourage him to invite his friends to the house.

No time for all this? It's hard, of course, but it's important to try. The alternative is to watch a husband forge ahead and leave you behind.

After you're married, look as nice as though you weren't

"Never forget," I tell my children, "that you will be picked for marriage because you will appeal to a man or woman. You must make it your business to remain just as appealing after you say 'I do.'"

Soon after the ceremony, many pretty girls turn into unappetizing creatures at home. They don't think it's necessary to spruce up any more. Well, it is. Remember what I said about working at a marriage all the time? This is part of it. If a girl walks around the house in a frumpy housecoat and with her hair a mess, her husband soon may find himself reacting favorably to the girl in the office who is neat and sweet—just as his wife was before they were married.

Learn the three magic words that can prevent marriage-wrecking quarrels

These are almost as momentous as "I love you," and yet so few couples use them. They are: "Maybe you're right."

The wife and husband who can say these words show they are willing to see the other person's side of the story, that they will not stubbornly insist upon having their way, that they are prepared to make compromises.

Bitter quarrels leave scars. So when an argument shows signs of developing, always think back to the three magic words that can stop a dispute from escalating into a bitter fight. You will be grateful you did.

Is there anything else you should include in your home marriage curriculum? Indeed yes, and it's perhaps the most important part:

Let your children see by your example how a marriage should be conducted

The attitudes of parents on the things that count filter down to their youngsters. By the lives we lead, the values we have, the examples we set, we teach our children what a good marriage should be.

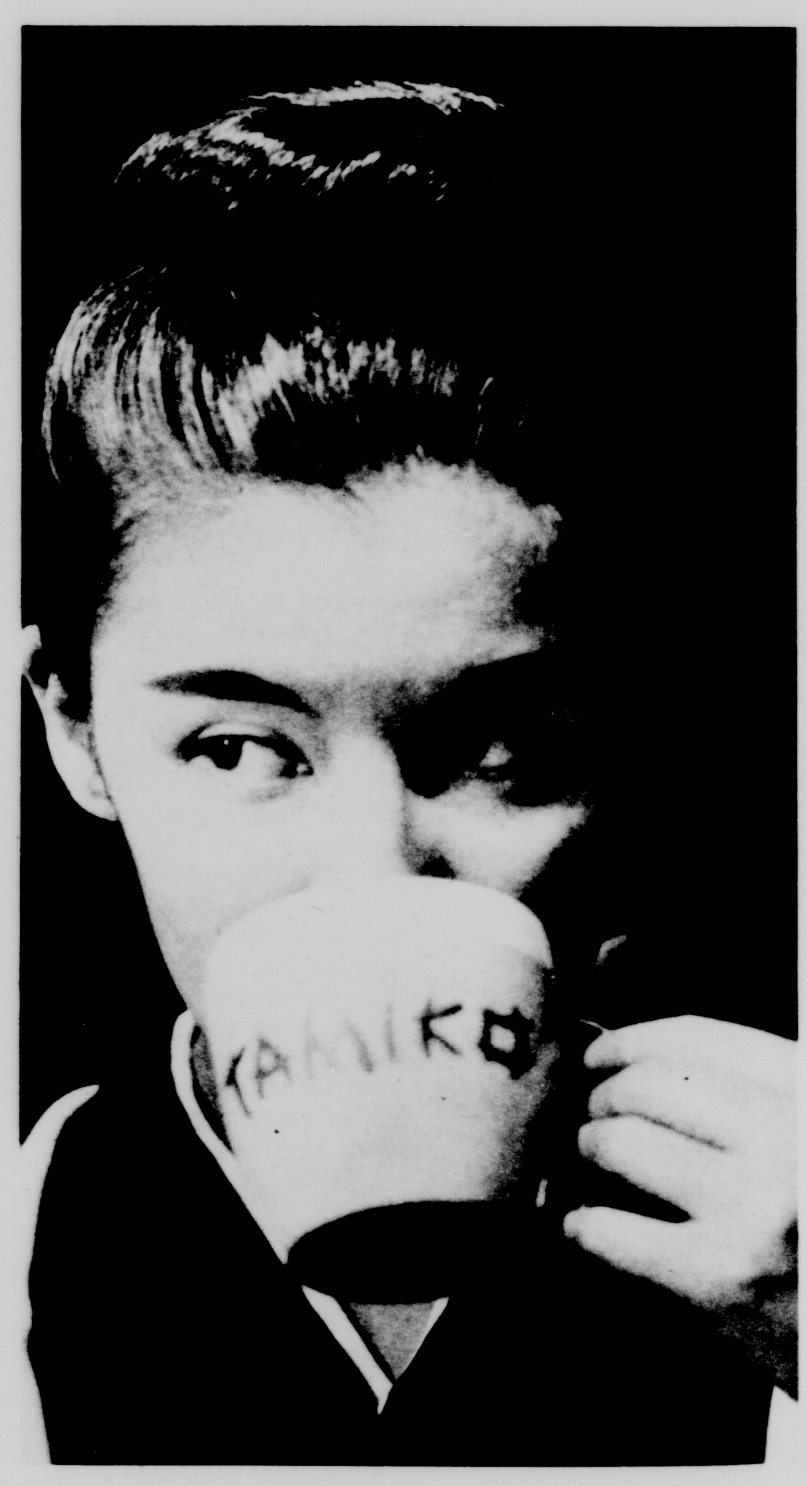

We cannot talk honestly to them and not be honest. We cannot insist upon good behavior and not behave well. We cannot convince them of the importance of religion in their lives and not practice religion ourselves.

There is one thing more we must get across. Marriage is essentially a sharing. From their earliest years, young persons must learn that there is a sharing of responsibility for the family welfare and a division of labor. We cannot possibly impress them with the need for sharing unless we show them how we ourselves do it.

Young people won't take any more important steps in a lifetime than the ones toward the altar. They must be prepared for what lies beyond.

What better place is there for them to learn than at home—from teachers who love them very much?

IS THERE SUCH A THING AS A SPECIAL LAXATIVE FOR WOMEN?

So many women are asking this important question.

The answer is—yes. A remarkable new medical discovery called Dioctyl Sodium Sulfosuccinate has now made possible a special new laxative for a woman's sensitive system. We call it Correctol®.

Correctol works two ways. First, its miracle ingredient takes advantage of the natural moisture in your system. Second, its mild laxative acts gently but most effectively. Working together, Correctol's two active ingredients give a woman more natural relief than any ordinary laxative can.

Correctol is recommended any time in a woman's life, even during and after pregnancy.

d-CON® MOUSE-PRUFE is so clean, so easy to use. You just pull tab, and bait feeds automatically. You never touch a messy, "germy" trap. Best of all, MOUSE-PRUFE, used as directed, is safe to use around children and household pets, yet is guaranteed to keep your place mouse-free —or your money back! Mice hungrily eat MOUSE-PRUFE—can't resist the special, patented-process formula, eat themselves to death —painlessly. Get d-CON MOUSE-PRUFE!

minds the house. She should make it her business to read, maintain a high level of interest in her husband's business life, and encourage him to invite his friends to the house.

No time for all this? It's hard, of course, but it's important to try. The alternative is to watch a husband forge ahead and leave you behind.

After you're married, look as nice as though you weren't

"Never forget," I tell my children, "that you will be picked for marriage because you will appeal to a man or woman. You must make it your business to remain just as appealing after you say 'I do.'"

Soon after the ceremony, many pretty girls turn into unappetizing creatures at home. They don't think it's necessary to spruce up any more. Well, it is. Remember what I said about working at a marriage all the time? This is part of it. If a girl walks around the house in a frumpy housecoat and with her hair a mess, her husband soon may find himself reacting favorably to the girl in the office who is neat and sweet—just as his wife was before they were married.

Learn the three magic words that can prevent marriage-wrecking quarrels

These are almost as momentous as "I love you," and yet so few couples use them. They are: "Maybe you're right."

The wife and husband who can say these words show they are willing to see the other person's side of the story, that they will not stubbornly insist upon having their way, that they are prepared to make compromises.

Bitter quarrels leave scars. So when an argument shows signs of developing, always think back to the three magic words that can stop a dispute from escalating into a bitter fight. You will be grateful you did.

Is there anything else you should include in your home marriage curriculum? Indeed yes, and it's perhaps the most important part:

Let your children see by your example how a marriage should be conducted

The attitudes of parents on the things that count filter down to their youngsters. By the lives we lead, the values we have, the examples we set, we teach our children what a good marriage should be.

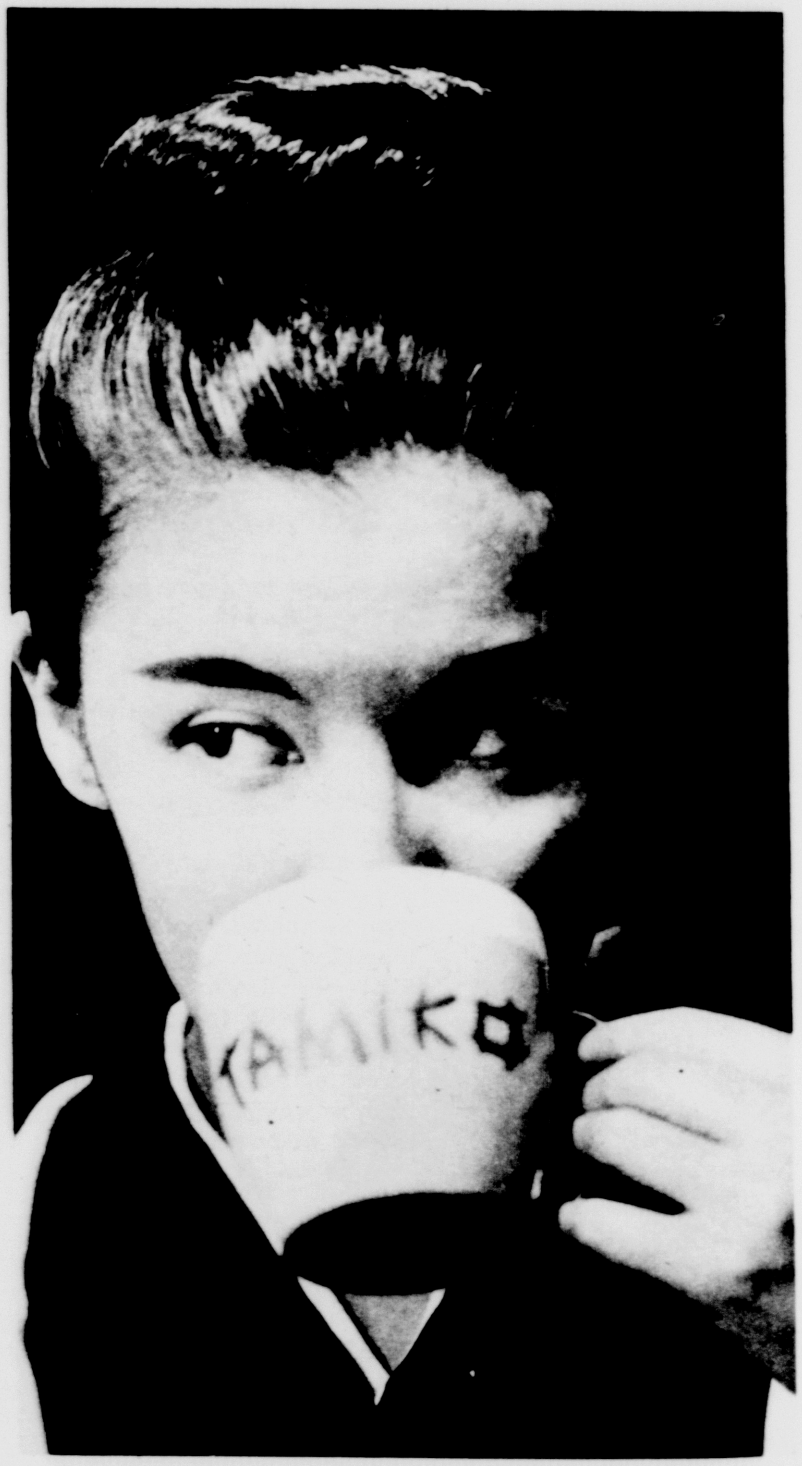

We cannot talk honestly to them and not be honest. We cannot insist upon good behavior and not behave well. We cannot convince them of the importance of religion in their lives and not practice religion ourselves.

There is one thing more we must get across. Marriage is essentially a sharing. From their earliest years, young persons must learn that there is a sharing of responsibility for the family welfare and a division of labor. We cannot possibly impress them with the need for sharing unless we show them how we ourselves do it.

Young people won't take any more important steps in a lifetime than the ones toward the altar. They must be prepared for what lies beyond.

What better place is there for them to learn than at home—from teachers who love them very much?

FRANCE NUYEN'S STRANGE SEARCH

FOR HERSELF

Movie-goers remember France Nuyen from "South Pacific" (left), but she also won fame as a sultry temptress in Broadway's "The World of Suzie Wong." Her career took a dip not long ago, but France is on the rise again, playing the title role in the new film, "A Girl Named Tamiko" (right).

THE GIRL who leaned against the pump at a gas station on the island of Oahu looked exhausted and unkempt. She wore shorts, a shirt that looked slept in, and sneakers. She was munching a papaya she had picked from a tree earlier that morning.

An old car, packed with a family of Hawaiian sugarcane workers, pulled alongside her. As they waited for the attendant to fill the tank, they glanced curiously at the forlorn girl.

Shyly, one of the children waved to her, and the girl waved back. The wife took pity and walked over.

"Do you have any money?" she asked.

"Less than a dollar," the girl answered.

"Had any breakfast yet?"

The girl shook her head. "No."

"Would you like to come along to our house for a bite?" Gratefully, the girl accepted and squeezed into the back of the car with the children.

A few minutes later they arrived at a weather-beaten shack, where the girl gobbled down the breakfast the Hawaiian family shared with her.

When she said good-bye, they gave her a big straw hat to protect her from the sun. "Take care," the young wife called after her.

There were tears in the girl's eyes as she left. "I will," she promised.

It would have come as a shock to the family had they known that the girl they assisted was really France Nuyen, one of Hollywood's most promising young actresses, who had just completed starring parts in two important pictures, "A Girl Named Tamiko," opposite Laurence Harvey, and "Diamond Head," opposite Charlton Heston.

FRANCE LATER told me about her trek around the eastern tip of Oahu.

"I walked for six and a half days, 180 miles in all, with only $1 in my pocket. The only possessions I carried were a blanket and the clothes I wore. Thanks to people along the way, I never went hungry, and three nights out of six I was invited into homes to spend the night. The rest of the time I slept on the beach. No one ever asked me for an explanation; no one tried to take advantage of me."

Asked why she attempted this strange journey in the first place, France insisted: "I wanted to find out whether people would like me if I were just another girl. I found out they did. This gave me a peace of mind and a feeling of security that I had never known before."

In the past, France had been obsessed with two ideas: people were nice to her only because she was a movie star, and almost everyone wanted to take advantage of her.

Her state of mind sprang from her childhood. She was born in Marseilles 23 years ago of a Chinese father she seldom saw and a French mother who taught her to be distrustful of everyone.

When she was barely 17, she came to America with her mother. Having been a model in France, she decided to enroll at the Conover School in New York City. She never got a job out of it because she was always too small, but one of the pictures Mrs. Conover sent to 20th Century-Fox attracted director Joshua Logan and led to the part of Liat in "South Pacific."

France's suspiciousness increased with fame. By the time she played the title role in "The World of Suzie Wong" on Broadway, she had earned the reputation of being the season's most antisocial actress in the theater.

"SHYNESS and fear on my part were taken for snobbishness," France explains. "It wasn't until people got to know me better that they felt differently about me."

Yet her own misgivings, particularly in her personal life, proved a constant stumbling block to lasting relationships. When she was working as a photographer's model in France, she was engaged to a boy in her home town. She returned to him as soon as she had finished "South Pacific," eager for a reunion and marriage. Instead, she ended up breaking their engagement.

"Because I had made one picture, he expected me to act, talk, dress, and make up like a star. I wanted to be myself, just as I was before. I wore pedal pushers, no make-up, no frills. He didn't appreciate that. Obviously he wanted to marry a movie star. So he wasn't the right man for me."

But France now believes that she has at last overcome her apprehensions—and she has a man to prove it.

A few weeks ago, a girl friend arranged a blind date for her with a handsome, 30-year-old New York jewelry manufacturer, Ralph Destino. When he picked her up for their second date, he proposed even before saying "hello." France accepted, and they plan to marry this spring.

It seems that France's six-and-a-half-day trek around the island of Oahu has convinced her that she could be liked—and loved—for herself alone.

Alone and almost penniless, this lovely star trekked 180 miles on foot—to find out if her dark suspicions about human nature were true By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

In 15 dramatic minutes, a boy loses his baby locks—and enters on the long road to manhood

HIS MOTHER hated to admit it, but, at 18 months, Gregory Troy was no longer a baby—and that pretty, long, blond hair would have to go. Gregory hated to admit it, too, and struggled to the very door of Joseph Pagano's barbershop in Kew Garden Hills, N. Y.

In the chair, Gregory was at first apprehensive, then indignant, and finally forlornly resigned with big tears coursing down his rosy cheeks. Such dramatic talent may be inherited; his mother is singer-actress Georgia Kennedy, one of the Ray Charles Singers. Gregory's dad, Bill Troy, a free-lance photographer, took these pictures of his son's first haircut.

NATIONAL PRIZE-WINNING RECIPES

Even recipes as distinguished as these can do no more than hint at the creative skills of FAMILY WEEKLY readers coast to coast! Three of them, national Bake-Off winners, kindly sent us other of their favorite recipes. Our readers bake, our readers prepare family meals, and they do it in a manner to inspire us all.

Family Weekly Cookbook
MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

Banana Split Layer Cake, 'Tato-Flake Cheese Buns, and Lemon Luscious Pie were three of the senior prize winners in a 1962 national Bake-Off.

Banana Split Layer Cake

Mrs. Theodore J. Albertowicz
Richland, Washington

2½ cups sifted flour
1½ cups sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup milk
½ cup butter
¼ cup vanilla caramel sauce
3 unbeaten eggs
1 teaspoon banana or vanilla extract
Old-Fashioned Butter Filling (see recipe)
Chocolate Frosting (see recipe)

1. Sift flour and next four ingredients into a large bowl. Add milk, butter, and sauce. Beat 1½ min. (With electric mixer, blend at lowest speed, then beat at a low speed. Or beat 225 strokes with a spoon.) Add eggs and extract. Beat 1½ min.

2. Turn into two 9-in. round cake pans, greased and floured on bottoms.

3. Bake at 350°F for 25 to 30 min.

4. Cool; fill and frost. One 9-in. layer cake

Old-Fashioned Butter Filling—Combine in a small saucepan ¾ cup powdered sugar and ¼ cup flour. Gradually add ½ cup milk, stirring to form a smooth mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is very thick. Place in mixing bowl. Chill 1 hr. Add 6 tablespoons butter, a tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition, using high speed on electric mixer. Fold in 2 medium-sized bananas, sliced, and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Chocolate Frosting—Combine in a saucepan 1 cup (6-oz. pkg.) semisweet chocolate pieces, ½ cup vanilla caramel sauce, and 2 tablespoons butter. Cook over low heat until chocolate melts. Blend in 1¼ cups sifted powdered sugar and 1 teaspoon banana or vanilla extract. If necessary, thin with a few drops milk.

Lemon Luscious Pie

Mrs. Helen Gorsuch
Santa Ana, California

1 9-in. baked pastry shell (see recipe)
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup butter
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
¼ cup lemon juice
3 unbeaten egg yolks
1 cup milk
1 cup sour cream

1. Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Add butter, lemon rind, lemon juice and egg yolks. Stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring until thick. Cool. Fold in sour cream.

2. Spoon into baked shell. Chill at least 2 hrs. Serve with whipped cream and 2 tablespoons chopped walnuts. One 9-in. pie

Pastry Shell—Sift 1 cup sifted flour and ½ teaspoon salt into a mixing bowl. Cut in ⅓ cup shortening until particles are fine. Sprinkle 3 to 4 tablespoons cold water over mixture while stirring with a fork until dough is moist enough to hold together. Form into a ball. Flatten to ½ in.; smooth edges. Roll out on floured surface to a circle 1½ in. larger than inverted 9-in. pie pan. Fit into pan; flute edge. Prick. Bake at 450°F for 10 to 12 min., or until golden. Cool.

'Tato-Flake Cheese Buns

Mrs. Frank B. Propst
Tuscaloosa, Alabama

1 packet active dry yeast (or 1 cake yeast)
¼ cup warm water
½ cup instant mashed potato flakes
¼ cup shortening
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper
¾ cup boiling water
¾ cup evaporated milk or half and half cream
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1 unbeaten egg
3 to 3¼ cups flour
¼ cup melted butter
½ cup shredded caraway or Cheddar cheese

1. Soften yeast in warm water. Combine in a large mixing bowl potato flakes, shortening, sugar, salt, cayenne pepper, and boiling water. Cool to lukewarm by adding evaporated milk. Blend in Cheddar cheese, egg, and the softened yeast.

2. Gradually add flour to form a soft dough, beating well after each addition. (For first additions of flour, use mixer on medium speed.) Cover. Let rise in warm place (85° to 90°F) until light, 1 to 1½ hrs.

3. Beat down dough using 30 to 40 strokes. Fill 24 well-greased muffin cups half full.* Cover. Let rise in warm place until light, 45 to 60 min. Combine butter and caraway cheese and spoon over the rolls.

4. Bake at 375°F for 20 to 25 min., or until golden brown. Serve warm. 2 doz. buns

Note: The dough may be baked in two 9-in. square pans for 25 to 30 min., if desired. Cut into squares and serve warm.

Baked Beans

Mrs. Helen Gorsuch
Santa Ana, California

1 lb. white great northern beans or navy (pea) beans, washed and sorted
2½ lbs. beef brisket, trimmed of fat and cut in cubes
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup maple sirup
1 medium-sized onion

1. Soak the beans in cold water for 3 hrs.

2. Drain beans, transfer to a large saucepan, and add enough cold water to cover. Add meat, salt, and pepper. Cover; simmer until meat is tender, about 1 hr.

3. Drain, reserving cooking liquid. Turn beans and meat into a bean pot or casserole with a tight-fitting cover. Pour a mixture of the next three ingredients over the top.

4. Place the onion in the center of the mixture. Pour enough of the cooking liquid over beans and meat to cover. Cover and set in a 300°F oven for 3 hrs., or until beans are tender; stir occasionally and add more cooking liquid and water as needed. 6 to 8 servings

Tropical Paradise Pie

Mrs. Theodore J. Albertowicz
Richland, Washington

1 9-in. baked pastry shell
4 tablespoons lemon-flavored gelatin
¼ cup boiling water
3 egg yolks
¼ cup sugar
2 8½-oz. cans crushed pineapple
½ cup whipping cream, whipped
3 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar

1. Add gelatin to the boiling water and stir until dissolved. Set aside.

2. Beat the egg yolks and ¼ cup sugar together in the top of a double boiler until thick and lemon colored. Add the contents of one can of pineapple. Set over simmering water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and coats a spoon. Stir in the gelatin mixture and cook 1 min. longer. Cool.

3. Chill until mixture begins to gel (becomes slightly thicker). If chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally; if chilled over ice and water, stir gelatin frequently.

4. Fold the whipped cream into the slightly thickened gelatin mixture.

5. Beat egg whites and salt until foamy. Add the ½ cup sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Continue beating until rounded peaks are formed (peaks turn over slightly when beater is slowly lifted upright). Fold into the gelatin mixture.

6. Turn into pastry shell and chill until firm. Drain the remaining pineapple and use to decorate around edge of pie. One 9-in. pie

Southern Oven Barbecued Chicken

Mrs. Frank B. Propst
Tuscaloosa, Alabama

¼ cup white vinegar
½ cup water
2 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
¼ cup butter
¼ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 thick lemon slice
½ cup catsup
¼ cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 2- to 2½-lb. broiler-fryer chickens, split in halves
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour

1. Combine first nine ingredients in a saucepan and simmer 15 min., stirring occasionally. Blend in catsup, chili sauce, and Worcestershire sauce; bring to boiling. Remove from heat.

2. Place chicken halves flat in a roasting pan, skin side up. Spoon half of the sauce over chicken, cover pan and set in a 350°F oven for 30 min.

3. Remove cover, spoon additional sauce over chicken, and cook, uncovered, 30 to 45 min., adding more sauce and basting several times until chicken is tender.

4. Transfer chicken to a heated serving platter. Heat the 2 tablespoons butter in a small saucepan; stir in the flour and heat until mixture bubbles. Blend butter-flour mixture into the sauce remaining in roaster. Cook over low heat until sauce thickens, stirring constantly. Spoon over chicken and serve immediately. 4 servings

In 15 dramatic minutes, a boy loses his baby locks—and enters on the long road to manhood

HIS MOTHER hated to admit it, but, at 18 months, Gregory Troy was no longer a baby—and that pretty, long, blond hair would have to go. Gregory hated to admit it, too, and struggled to the very door of Joseph Pagano's barbershop in Kew Garden Hills, N. Y.

In the chair, Gregory was at first apprehensive, then indignant, and finally forlornly resigned with big tears coursing down his rosy cheeks. Such dramatic talent may be inherited; his mother is singer-actress Georgia Kennedy, one of the Ray Charles Singers. Gregory's dad, Bill Troy, a free-lance photographer, took these pictures of his son's first haircut.

Banana Split Layer Cake

Mrs. Theodore J. Albertowicz
Richland, Washington

- 2½ cups sifted flour
- 1½ cups sugar
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup milk
- ½ cup butter
- ¼ cup vanilla caramel sauce
- 3 unbeaten eggs
- 1 teaspoon banana or vanilla extract
- Old-Fashioned Butter Filling (see recipe)
- Chocolate Frosting (see recipe)

1. Sift flour and next four ingredients into a large bowl. Add milk, butter, and sauce. Beat 1½ min. (With electric mixer, blend at lowest speed, then beat at a low speed. Or beat 225 strokes with a spoon.) Add eggs and extract. Beat 1½ min.

2. Turn into two 9-in. round cake pans, greased and floured on bottoms.

3. Bake at 350°F for 25 to 30 min.

4. Cool; fill and frost. One 9-in. layer cake

Old-Fashioned Butter Filling—Combine in a small saucepan ¾ cup powdered sugar and ¼ cup flour. Gradually add ½ cup milk, stirring to form a smooth mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is very thick. Place in mixing bowl. Chill 1 hr. Add 6 tablespoons butter, a tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition, using high speed on electric mixer. Fold in 2 medium-sized bananas, sliced, and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Chocolate Frosting—Combine in a saucepan 1 cup (6-oz. pkg.) semisweet chocolate pieces, ½ cup vanilla caramel sauce, and 2 tablespoons butter. Cook over low heat until chocolate melts. Blend in 1¼ cups sifted powdered sugar and 1 teaspoon banana or vanilla extract. If necessary, thin with a few drops milk.

Lemon Luscious Pie

Mrs. Helen Gorsuch
Santa Ana, California

- 1 9-in. baked pastry shell (see recipe)
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- ¼ cup butter
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 3 unbeaten egg yolks
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup sour cream

1. Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Add butter, lemon rind, lemon juice and egg yolks. Stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring until thick. Cool. Fold in sour cream.

2. Spoon into baked shell. Chill at least 2 hrs. Serve with whipped cream and 2 tablespoons chopped walnuts. One 9-in. pie

Pastry Shell—Sift 1 cup sifted flour and ½ teaspoon salt into a mixing bowl. Cut in ⅓ cup shortening until particles are fine. Sprinkle 3 to 4 tablespoons cold water over mixture while stirring with a fork until dough is moist enough to hold together. Form into a ball. Flatten to ½ in.; smooth edges. Roll out on floured surface to a circle 1½ in. larger than inverted 9-in. pie pan. Fit into pan; flute edge. Prick. Bake at 450°F for 10 to 12 min., or until golden. Cool.

'Tato-Flake Cheese Buns

Mrs. Frank B. Propst
Tuscaloosa, Alabama

- 1 packet active dry yeast (or 1 cake yeast)
- ¼ cup warm water
- ½ cup instant mashed potato flakes
- ¼ cup shortening
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper
- ¾ cup boiling water
- ¾ cup evaporated milk or half and half cream
- 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1 unbeaten egg
- 3 to 3¼ cups flour
- ¼ cup melted butter
- ½ cup shredded caraway or Cheddar cheese

1. Soften yeast in warm water. Combine in a large mixing bowl potato flakes, shortening, sugar, salt, cayenne pepper, and boiling water. Cool to lukewarm by adding evaporated milk. Blend in Cheddar cheese, egg, and the softened yeast.

2. Gradually add flour to form a soft dough, beating well after each addition. (For first additions of flour, use mixer on medium speed.) Cover. Let rise in warm place (85° to 90°F) until light, 1 to 1½ hrs.

3. Beat down dough using 30 to 40 strokes. Fill 24 well-greased muffin cups half full.* Cover. Let rise in warm place until light, 45 to 60 min. Combine butter and caraway cheese and spoon over the rolls.

4. Bake at 375°F for 20 to 25 min., or until golden brown. Serve warm. 2 doz. buns

Note: The dough may be baked in two 9-in. square pans for 25 to 30 min., if desired. Cut into squares and serve warm.
